...Ruby's Lawyers Rake Witness

Dallas (UPI)—Jack Ruby's lawyers bitterly raked over a witness and the self-appointed executioner of accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald glared angrily at him Wednesday night to cap a day of heated court quarrel over Ruby's chances of a fair trial in Dallas.

The defense said it felt "things are going pretty good" for a transfer to another city.

Twelve hours after it began, the third day of the hearing to determine whether the Ruby murder trial should be transferred to another city ended with the total witness count running 26 for transfer, 13 for keeping it in Dallas and 2 undecided. The trial is scheduled to start Monday in Dallas.

Judge Joe B. Brown called another session for Thursday morning. Chief defense attorney Melvin Belli said the change of venue hearing should end by mid-day.

The defense recruited at least two witnesses at the courthouse. One, television news director Robert Walker, was subpoenaed. The other, law student James L. Buchanan II, was contacted by the defense in the court corridor.

Walker said he thought Ruby could get a fair trial Buchanan, a descendant of President James Buchanan, said he doubted it.

Ruby, chatty and smiling, was brought back into court for the unusual evening session in Judge Joe B. Brown's criminal district court. The killer of Oswald sat apparently fascinated as Belli crossed with Carl Fruend, a reporter for the Dallas Morning News.

Belli referred to a Fruend story that said Ruby's recent neuro-psychiatric examinations showed no damage to his brain. That story "is false, isn't it? asked Belli.

"If you have evidence it is false, I will be glad to write a story in the morning." Fruend shot back

Duckshoot

The flamboyant defense counsel charged that the entire hearing had turned into a "duckshoot" with attorneys jumping up and down. He did some leaping to his feet himself as he protested prosecution tactics during the day.

At one point Belli said there was a "conspiracy" and he wanted to get to the bottom of it. But he did not pursue this line.

Fruend said he believed an impartial jury could be found in Dallas

Ruby glared at Fruend in the witness stand. It was the first display of emotion the self-appointed executioner has shown toward any of the witnesses He had blessed and thanked those witnesses Tuesday who supported the defense contention that he could not be tried impartially in Dallas.

Both Scored

Both defense and prosecution scored during the lengthy proceedings.

Belli forced admission of records from an advertising-public relations agency which is aiding the court.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade struck back when U.S. Atty. Barefoot Sanders testified he believed Ruby could get a fair trial in Dallas — with the "reservation" that the jurors would have to be properly examined and selected.

The defense leaned heavily on Dallas lawyers in getting witness support for its argument that the trial should be held in another Texas City.

Luedtke To Run For Legislature

. . . WILL QUIT COUNTY POST

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln attorney Roland A. Luedtke will resign as Lancaster County Republican chairman to seek election to the 28th District seat in the Legislature. The Star learned Wednesday.

Luedtke

Luedtke declined to comment on the report, but said he is attempting to schedule a special meeting of the GOP county executive committee for Saturday to discuss "a very important subject."

Luedtke, 40, is a former deputy secretary of state (1953-59) and has been county chairman since 1962.

Two In Race

Two candidates — Lawrence E. Murphy and T. O. Haas — are already in the race for nomination to the 28th District seat.

The county GOP organization is expected to name its two vice chairmen — Arlen Beam and Mrs Richard W. Smith — as acting co-chairmen until the county convention May 28.

A new chairman would be elevated to a full two-year term at the county conclave.

Six names have already been mentioned as possible choices for the chairman's post:

—Donn Davis, attorney, the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce's outstanding young man of 1963.

—State Sen. Marvin E. Stromer, two-term lawmaker and former executive secretary of the GOP state central committee.

—Duane Acklie, attorney, former state chairman of the Young Republicans.

—Arlen Beam, former state chairman of the Young Republicans

—Hal Hasselbalch, attorney.

—L. H. Fairchild, feed manufacturing executive.

Luedtke won the chairmanship in a 73-59 victory over Lincoln attorney Edward F. Carter Jr., the first contest for the post since 1954.

Graduate of NU

A graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law, Luedtke is elections counsel to Secretary of State Frank Marsh.

Active in GOP affairs since 1945, he was junior president of 1958 Founders Day and served as general chairman of the GOP Go-Day rally in Lincoln last month.

Luedtke's announcement is expected within the next week.

WATCH DORMITORY WALL TUMBLE

A crying, blanket clad student at Columbia College, in Columbia, S.C., is consoled by a friend as they watch their dormitory burn to the ground Wednesday. One wall of the dorm gives way, upper left, and starts to collapse during the blaze. The early morning fire also destroyed the main administration building. Some 350 coeds were evacuated safely.

Kidnaper Fails In Escape Try

North Hollywood, Calif. (AP) —A young gunman held actor-auto dealer Leon Ames, his wife and two others at gunpoint for four hours Wednesday, then was captured as he fled with a hostage and $50,000.

Mrs. Ames was taken along as hostage in a futile seven-block escape bid.

Lynn Wayne Benner, 21, a La Mirada mechanic, was arrested by North Hollywood police and booked on suspicion of kidnaping and robbery.

She Drove

Mrs. Christine Ames, forced to chauffeur Benner in his getaway attempt, was unharmed.

Also arrested was Benner's wife, Patricia Louise, 25, who sat parked in a car four blocks from the Ames home with their 3-year-old daughter, Terri Lynn. Mrs. Benner was not immediately charged.

Police said Benner went to the Ames home about 8:30 a.m. and forced his way in, brandishing a cocked .22 caliber revolver, while Mr. and Mrs. Ames were still in their pajamas and housecoats.

Choice?

"This is a kidnaping or a murder — whichever you want," police quoted Benner as saying to Ames.

Then, police said:

Benner demanded $50,000. When Ames said he didn't have it, Benner said, "How about getting in touch with your partner, Ralph Williams?"

Mrs. Ames phoned Williams, business manager of Ames' auto agency, and told him to come over for an urgent business conference. He arrived about 9 a.m.

Meanwhile, house guest Herbert F. Baumgarteker, 50, of Sky Forest, Calif., was still asleep upstairs. At Benner's demand Mrs Ames went to the stairway and called "Herbie, can you come down here please?"

Waited

He did, and the four sat under Benner's cocked pistol until the 10 a.m. opening of the Studio City branch of the Bank of America.

The couple described Benner as not the hoodlum type, but said he seemed "cold-blooded and spoke in crisp, businesslike language."

Keep It Clean

As Williams left for the bank Mrs. Ames jokingly remarked, "Ralph, get that money and keep it clean."

Benner told Williams: "Bring it here by noon or I'll kill all three of these people."

At the bank Williams told bank manager J. A. Perches the situation. Perches didn't have that much on hand but quickly phoned downtown to the main office for it and then alerted police.

Williams returned to the Ames home at 12:15 p.m. by which time a police helicopter hovered overhead and police cars surrounded the area.

Bound Men

Benner had Williams bind Ames' mouth, ankles and wrists with tape. Then he locked Williams and Baumgarteker in the trunk of Ames' car and ordered Mrs. Ames to drive him away in Williams' car.

They got only seven blocks away when Mrs. Ames stopped for a red light. Seven police cars with 25 officers converged on the car, one officer aimed a shotgun at Benner's head and he surrendered without a struggle, although he had a gun in his waistband.

Billy Rose's Take Nearly $9,000 Hourly

New York (UPI) — Showman Billy Rose, who has made almost $9,000 an hour in the past four months, said Wednesday he expected "marriage proposals from a lot of strange females around the country" when the word got out.

Rose said he had made $4 million dollars in the stock market since Oct. 15, 1963.

Rose discussed his finances after he was asked whether it was true, as his press agent reported, that he had made $10,000 an hour each hour the New York Stock Exchange had operated since that date.

Reds Blame U.S. For Engineer's Defection

Geneva (UPI) — The Soviet Union angrily implied Wednesday that agents of the United States engineered the defection of Russian security officer Yuri Nossenko. The Soviets hinted that he had been kidnaped and demanded his immediate return.

The Soviets also charged that Switzerland aided "provocative foreign agents" in arranging Nossenko's defection.

The Swiss government promptly rejected the Soviet charge, which cast a pall over the future of Soviet-American relations and the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Sought Asylum

The U.S. State Department reported Monday that the 36-year-old Nossenko, believed to be carrying top-secret information on Soviet nuclear weapons and defenses, asked for asylum in the United States a week ago. He disappeared from the Soviet delegation to the disarmament conference on Feb. 4.

Wednesday's charge by chief Soviet disarmament negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin was the first official Soviet comment on Nossenko.

"If it be true that Nossenko is really in the hands of the United States authorities, this can only mean that Swiss authorities not only do not provide delegates to international conferences with sufficient protection, elementary security and guarantees, but also allow the provocative activities on their soil of foreign agents," he said.

Blew Top

Swiss Foreign Minister Frederick T. Wahlen was said to have "blown his top" when informed of the Soviet charge.

Wahlen called Soviet Ambassador Alexander I. Lochtchakov to his office and delivered a note which called the allegations untrue and incorrect. "Their nature is incompatible with normal diplomatic relations," he said.

The Swiss Justice and Police Ministry in an official statement, said that the Soviets had not requested special protection for Nossenko.

"It must be pointed out that you cannot protect anyone against himself and his own decisions," the ministry said. "We are a country of freedom," said Swiss Finance Minister Hans Schaffner. "We cannot shadow everybody."

Tsarapkin read his 264-word charge quickly in Russian at a rare news conference and ended by snapping, in English, "I have nothing more to add. Goodbye."

Sen. Douglas To Visit NU Next Monday

Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois will visit the University of Nebraska campus Monday to participate in a news forum at 10:30 a.m. in the Nebraska Union ballroom.

The Democratic lawmaker will be accompanied by three Washington correspondents.

Douglas serves on the Senate Finance Committee.

Newsmen accompanying the senator will be Neal Stanford of the Christian Science Monitor, Lucian Warren of the Buffalo Courier-Express and John Metcalfe, a syndicated columnist.

Douglas will lunch with Chancellor Clifford Hardin, Gov. Frank Morrison and their wives following the news forum.

4 Lads Prevent Train Crash

. . . DEFUSE 45 STICKS OF DYNAMITE

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP)—Four boys walking along a Florida East Coast main line railroad track Wednesday night discovered 45 sticks of dynamite hooked to the track and dismantled the wires just minutes before a freight train passed over.

Criminal Agent Leif Larson of the Brevard County sheriff's office reported the dynamite was electrically wired to the track and would have exploded if the engine had contacted the wire.

"If the boys had not taken their quick action, somebody might have been killed," he reported.

It was the latest incident during a year-long strike against the railroad.

Larson said the dynamite was placed on the main railroad track about five miles north of Titusville and about 1.5 miles from where the FEC tracks join with a spur track leading into the Merritt Island launch area of Cape Kennedy where facilities are being built to launch astronauts to the moon.

Cape Kennedy and Merritt Island were picketed earlier this week by railroad pickets protesting movement of the line's freight trains into Merritt Island with construction materials.

Construction activity has slowly returned to normal following a federal court order which temporarily barred strikers from picketing.

Workers In State Paid Less Than Law Allows

Nebraska workers in investigated establishments were paid $738,981 less than required under the minimum wage and overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act in 1963, the U.S. Labor Department reported Wednesday.

Of the total, $138,719 was unpaid overtime found to be due 2,492 employes and $300,262 due 2,388 workers who had been paid less than the minimum wage.

Floyd L. Wilson, supervisor of the department's wage-hour field office in Omaha, said that 97 minors were found employed in violation of the child labor provisions of the federal statute.

Wilson pointed out that the legal minimum wage for employees engaged in interstate commerce or the production of goods for interstate commerce rose to $1.25 an hour on Sept. 3, 1963, except for newly covered establishments.

Snobbery Helps Quitters

. . . EX-SMOKER FROWNS ON FRAIL FRIENDS

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles in which a Star staff member who has quit smoking tries to look at the matter lightly.)

By NANCY RAY
Star Staff Writer

You've heard the old joke about: "It's easy to quit smoking. I've done it hundreds of times."

The hard part of quitting is not starting again. And it takes a lot of help to keep a healthy human being from giving in to a three-inch piece of punk.

Here are three dandy rules compiled from a comprehensive survey of ex-smokers in the Lincoln Star news departments. There are other hints (some of them not printable) which pop up elsewhere in this erudite treatise, but these are the main crutches upon which all the ex-smokers agree.

Get rid of the evidence. That means ash trays, matches, half-smoked packs of (I still shiver when I use the word) cigarettes. Where practical, remove stains, burns and ashes left by long-dead pleasures.

Spartan School

There is one Spartan School of Quitting which calls for giving up coffee, liquor or any other essential segment of your life closely associated with cigarettes. We at The Star, with regret, decline to agree. After all, we are quitting cigarettes, not joining a monastery.

Don't "try to forget it" as so many of your non-smoking friends will advise. First of all, putting effort into forgetting defeats the whole purpose. Forgetting is something that just has to happen.

For neophyte quitters, embroiled in the first throes of the struggle, we submit this time schedule: By the 3rd to 5th day, you suddenly awake to the realization that you have gone for 15 to 20 minutes without thinking about wanting a cigarette.

By the 8th or 9th day, the hunger and hallucinations are gone, and all that remains is the gaping hole in your day which was previously filled with taking out, lighting up, puffing on and snuffing out cigarettes.

Be a snob. Raise high your banner of righteousness. Frown mightily on the frail friends who cling to their habit. Encourage beginning quitters with a pat on the back, but do so with a lifted eyebrow of doubt.

Look pointedly at open packs of cigarettes until the owner offers you one. Then say haughtily, "Oh no! I've given up that nasty habit." And a superior smirk can mask that look of abject longing brought on by a sudden waft from a nearby newly lit fag.

Sordid Little Sex Ring Turning Into Full-Fledged Crime Scandal

By ARTHUR EVERETT

Mineola, N.Y. (AP)— At the outset a week ago, it looked like little more than a sordid ring of suburban housewives banded together in a loose $200,000 a year sex-for-sale arrangement.

Wednesday, however, the death of a salesman for the ring has threatened to tear the lid off a full-fledged prostitution scandal in Long Island's split-level society. There were hints that the national crime syndicate — the so-called Cosa Nostra — might have a hand in the operation.

The salesman was Edmund (Teddy) Nugent, 49, a bartender with mob links in his past. Authorities said as many as 200 Long Island businessmen and politicians were beguiled by discreet over-the-bar hints from Nugent and others of forbidden pleasures available at $25 to $100 a date.

Found Dead

Nugent was found dead Tuesday in a flaming car parked outside the lounge he managed in a Jericho motel.

"It was definitely not suicide," said Nassau County Dist. Atty. William Cahn. "We do not know whether it was accidental or homicide, but we do know he was alive and breathing when the fire broke out.

"There were no signs of physical violence, but it looks suspicious and that is how I'm carrying it right now pending the results of a toxicological examination."

Steered Males

Cahn said Nugent admitted he steered male clients to the ring of call girls, some of whose husbands baby-sat at home while they moonlighted in sinful rendezvous with the other men, known to the trade as Johns.

Describing Nugent as a willing source of information, Cahn added:

"He was definitely an integral part of the investigation — a very important figure. He supplied some of the names of 200 businessmen known to have been customers of the women who acted as call girls."

Existence of the ring came to light last week when 14 women were picked up, including Mrs. Concetta McAllister, 35, a thrice-divorced Long Island mother of three. Most were held as material witnesses, but she was charged with inducing women into prostitution as madame of the ring.

No Anonymity

The usual practice in such an investigation is to guarantee male customers anonymity in return for their cooperation. However, Mrs. McAllister's lawyer, John J. Sutter, declared:

"I intend to rip the shroud of anonymity from these people. Any man who pays a girl for her services is just as guilty as she is, as far as I'm concerned. And, politicians or not, I intend to expose these Johns to the public eye."

Long Island to many nonresidents is a fabulous cluster of vast estates, a verdant playground for the nation's wealthiest families. It is that in part. But it is also the domain of the modest split-level or ranch type home, row upon duplicate row of which are inhabited by middle-income families. The husbands either work on the island or commute to New York.

From this strata of island society, the call girl ring drew housewives and mothers away from their built-in wall ovens and outdoor barbecue pits to neon-lit lounges and restaurants in the area of Roosevelt Raceway, citadel of harness racing.

The call girls questioned thus far all had been married, although only five still live with their husbands. In at least three cases, Cahn said, the husbands knowingly and placidly stayed home while the wives made their after-dark rounds.

Some of the women were quoted as admitting their role in the vice ring, with the explanation that they were trying to help out financially at home. Mrs. McAllister was drawing relief checks during a period when, Cahn said, she made $30,000 from the ring's operations.

Bartender

Nugent, according to the district attorney, was a bartender at New York's Copacabana night club until about 10 years ago, and hobnobbed with known mobsters. About a year ago, he took over the Jericho Lounge, an adjunct to the motel, with his wife and another partner.

About 5 a.m. Tuesday, Nugent closed the lounge. The last person known to have seen him alive was a red-haired call girl identified only as Thelma. She left the lounge about 3 a.m.

At 6:30 a.m., Frank J. Pulaski of Jericho, was walking his dog when he saw smoke pouring from a 1960 sedan parked beside Aberdeen Road outside the lounge. Pulaski asked the motel night clerk to call for help, then returned to the car.

Burst Into Flames

Pulaski said when he opened the car door the interior burst into flames around Nugent's body.

"I reached into the car to pull him out," Pulaski added, "but he seemed to slump away from me. Then the heat drove me away."

There was carbon monoxide in Nugent's lungs, and burns along his nasal passages.

Three States

Cahn's investigation of the suburban sex ring and Nugent's death has led him to send his investigators into three states —which he did not name — to interview persons there "and maybe bring them back."

As for the background of the split-level sex operation, Cahn declared:

"I'm not ready to say yet. That's our first goal — to find out if the vice ring was connected to the crime syndicate. It may well be that the Federal Bureau of Investigation will eventually have to be informed."

Johnson Urges Americans To Get On With Abe's Work

Washington (AP) — President Johnson observed the 155th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth Wednesday by urging "let us now get on with his work" of giving full freedom and opportunity to all Americans.

Standing near the towering statue of the great emancipator at the Lincoln Memorial, Johnson declared:

"The American promise will be unfulfilled, Lincoln's work — our work — will be unfinished so long as there is a child without a school, a school without a teacher, a man without a job, a family without a house.

"So long as there are sick Americans without medical care or aging Americans without hope.

Denied Rights

"So long as there are Americans, of any race or color, who are denied their full human rights.

"So long as there are Americans, of any place or religion, who are denied their human dignity."

Johnson spoke briefly at the memorial, where he strode up the long flight of steps between two lines of an honor guard to place a wreath at the statue. It consisted of red and white carnations.

The chief executive was accompanied by visiting British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, who laid a wreath of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

In his speech, Johnson said Lincoln promised that "in due time, the weights would be lifted from the shoulders of all men, and that all should have an equal chance." Declaring "Lincoln loved this land," the President went on:

"He heard the whole land speaking to us, calling for union, saying from its rivers and ranges, from the Alleghenies to the Rockies, that this is one nation.

House Divided

"A house divided against itself cannot stand—that was what the winds were saying.

"We stand with Lincoln for union and for the freedom of all men. But the great task remaining before us is to fulfill the promise—to turn the words into acts —acts of private citizens, acts of corporations and unions, acts of churches and voluntary groups of all kinds, acts of state and federal agencies, acts of the President, acts of the Congress."

Johnson said "we can" fulfill the American promise of an end to discrimination and opportunity for all citizens. He added:

"Lincoln's words have become the common covenant of our public life. Let us now get on with his work."

FULL NIGHT FOR MAYOR-ELECT AND WIFE

Mayor-elect Chuck Hall and his wife, Jackie, re-enact how they were forced at gunpoint by two masked bandits to lie on the floor of their apartment early Wednesday while they were robbed of an estimated $20,000 in cash and jewelry. Hall won election Tuesday night to the first mayor's post of Dade County which encompasses greater Miami and Miami Beach. They had returned to their apartment from an election celebration and were met by the masked robbers.

Extremism Advocates Lashed By Stevenson

Springfield, Ill. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson declared Wednesday night that advocates of extremism in U.S. political life do untold harm by creating a frame of mind among the ignorant and thoughtless in which extreme courses seem natural.

Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, made the statement in a speech at a Lincoln Day dinner of the Abraham Lincoln Association.

He recalled that "in the year that has passed since we last met to celebrate the memory of Abraham Lincoln, another great president has been shot down by a mad assassin, another great leader has been cut off before his work was finished."

He said the tragedy of President Kennedy's death was "compounded by an atmosphere of violence and lawlessness" and gave to the world at large "a picture of malice, passion and violence in America."

He said the manner of Kennedy's death "was more than a tragedy for the country and the world. It was a torch, a flare, lighting up a sullen, menacing landscape. Lawlessness, violence, even the verbal violence that 'seeks to wound but fears to strike' destroys more than the image of America. They undermine its political foundations as well."

Without mentioning any organization or individual by name Stevenson asserted:

"When a large organization arises to demand the impeachment of our chief justice; when influential groups call for the abolition of the income tax; when a candidate for president declares for getting out of the United Nations and forsaking the only hope for collective security and world law, we need not apprehend any imminent peril.

"Chief Justice Warren will not be impeached: the income tax will not be repealed; we will not get out of the United Nations. These steps would be condemned by the elementary common sense of our people. But the advocacy of such excited, ill-considered and foolish acts can do untold harm, for it begets a frame of mind among the ignorant and thoughtless in which extreme courses seem natural."

He declared that the United States would not solve the problems of discrimination against Negroes or poverty "by the politics of verbal violence."

He called on Americans to brace themselves "for a social effort as great, perhaps, as the waging of war itself if the promise of a free society is to be made good within the framework of unbelievable affluence and unforgivable squalor that make up America today."

Garst Tells Reds They Lag

Moscow (AP) — Iowa corn farmer Roswell Garst told the Russians Wednesday they won't catch up soon to American farmers, but advised them to keep trying anyway.

Garst, a personal friend of Premier Khrushchev, encouraged the Russians to follow the Americans' lead in farming in a 3,000-word letter to Soviet agricultural officials now meeting in the Kremlin.

Izvestia published the letter together with speeches made at the third day of the Soviet Communist Party's Central Committee meeting on farm problems. An editorial note said that although "we cannot agree with all the conclusions of Mr. Garst, especially in relation to his evaluation of some political moment," his views on farm technology "deserve great attention."

The Coon Rapids farmer said he had traveled extensively through the Soviet Union and east Europe in the last nine years.

"I saw that we are far, far ahead of the agriculture of east Europe," he wrote.

He estimated the Communist satellite nations were about 30 years behind America. Russia is about where the United States was eight years ago, he said.

"You will not overtake us in eight years, as we will continue to make great progress, but you will double your productivity and significantly decrease labor expenditures."

Vacating Of Post Office Site OKd By Planners

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission recommended Wednesday the vacating of several unopened streets and alleys on the two-block site proposed for Lincoln's new post office building at 8th and R.

The streets are T from 7th to 8th, 7th from R to T, and S from 7th to 8th, and the intervening alleys. The site extends from R to T, 7th to 8th.

Attorney Lloyd Marti said the Burlington Railroad has given the federal government an option on the land and construction could start this fall.

Face South on R

Postmaster Kenneth Lewis said the $2 million building would be constructed on a lease-back arrangement and would face south on R.

Other land would be used for the parking of 250 cars, truck docking space and a landscaped mall.

"I think this will spark other improvements in this area," said Lewis, a former councilman and Planning Commission member. "While the one-story building, with a possible second-story portion, will be a 'mail factory,' the building design will be a credit to any downtown location."

City Engineer Carl Fisher and Planning Director Douglas Brogden reported no objections to the street vacations.

Could Shift By-Pass

Brogden said the 7th St. by-pass indicated in the comprehensive plan could be shifted without difficulty.

Marti said some Burlington trackage will be re-located. He said the railroad has 250 days to move the Railway Express Agency building and freight warehouse to new locations.

A Burlington attorney said city and business officials had been most cooperative in working out problems connected with the proposed post office site.

Plans for the new post office building were announced last fall with a general indication as to the preferred site.

Planners Suggest OK To Move Radio Tower

Approval of a special permit for a 300-foot radio tower on city-owned land near the Interstate Highway at approximately 5th and Charleston was recommended Wednesday by the City-County Planning Commission.

Radio Station KLIN, owned by the Fletcher-Mitchell Corp., requested the permit in proposing to relocate its transmitting tower from a 40th and Vine location.

A station spokesman said this must be done by June 1 or the broadcasting station must go off the air under a Federal Communication Commission notice.

Attorney Ray Calkins said Mayor Dean Petersen had approved the proposed lease of the six-acre tract and planning and negotiations had been under way since last June.

'Quite a Surprise'

Thus, he continued, Planning Director Douglas Brogden's recommendation for denial "is quite a surprise."

Brogden reported the proposed radio tower site would detract from the view of the city on the Interstate 180 access route where a "most aesthetically pleasing entrance to the central business district" is being developed.

While the city is spending more than $250,000 to acquire park land for this purpose on one hand, the city should not be leasing city land for private purpose in the same general area with its other hand, Brogden said.

Park Supt. James Ager said the tract has no public or park use because of location and "maintenance has been a problem."

Calkins said the proposed 25-year lease calls for no people and no cars on the tract and its landscaping and maintenance by the radio station.

Zoning Approved

The commission approved A-2 single-family zoning for a proposed residential subdivision south of LaSalle between 50th and 52nd.

Hubert H. Hall assured the commission that homes with a minimum of 1,050 square feet would be constructed. The assurance came after several property owners objected to the proposed zoning on grounds that small, inexpensive homes would be constructed and depreciate their properties.

Other commission action:

—deferred the request of St Elizabeth Hospital for four-family zoning of a lot on 11th between South and Plum

—denied the request of Jacobs Service Inc for light industry zoning for a proposed service station on the northwest corner of 27th and Fair

—approved commercial zoning, requested by Pat Noh, for a lot near 40th and Pioneer, adjoining similarly zoned property

—approved light industry zoning for property between 56th, Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks and Dead Man's Run channel as requested by D D Wainscott

—approved vacation of a portion of 60th south from Vine to approximately 310 feet north of Gillan Road

—approved preliminary plat of Eden Park Addition near 48th and Antelope Creek Road

—approved final plats of Irondwood Replat near A and Talbott Trail and Irondwood Second Addition between A and South 70th and 84th

—deferred Battens Addition plat on Orchard between 70th and 61st to the City Council for determination whether the city wants to acquire the land for park purposes as proposed in the Comprehensive Plan

OUT IN THE COLD

As firemen poured water into the flaming ruins of her house, 76-year-old Mrs. R. L. Shepherd was led to safety. The five-room structure was occupied by Mrs. Shepherd and her husband, 79, a son, his wife and their four children. The elderly Shepherds and three grandchildren were at home when the fire started from an oil heater. All escaped unharmed.

NU 'Madame Butterfly' Treat For First Nighters

By RUTH ARDIS

"Madame Butterfly" — a complete sellout for four nights—treated the first full house to an exciting, well-paced performance.

Musically it sounded brilliant, with beautiful scenery and colorful costumes adding much to the effectiveness of staging.

The enthusiastic first night audience reaction indicated that it is one of the more exciting operas given by the University of Nebraska departments of music and of speech and dramatic arts.

Superb Portrayal

Shirley Nunns' portrayal of Madame Butterfly (Cho-Cho-San) was superb. Her fine lyric voice was remarkably powerful and accurate.

The entire cast sang with assurance and a fine quality combined with good acting.

Richard Grace was musical director; Emanuel Wishnow conducted the performance. Stage director was Frank Vybiral with Charles Howard as designer and technical director and George Moeglein as costume director.

60 Music Students

Approximately 60 students from the music department participated in the production. A second cast will perform the leads Thursday and Saturday nights, with Gwen Waldo in the title role.

The orchestra gave a full-sounding accompaniment, often at the expense of the singers.

However, a luke warm version of Puccini's sweeping melodic lines would be even more disastrous.

The answer is a good Music Hall equipped with a pit and proper facilities.

The question is when?

The great demand for tickets to the opera indicates that the cultural explosion has reached Lincoln — but Lincoln is unprepared.

Shugrue Joins Ag Dept. Staff

Richard Shugrue, a Lincoln attorney, has joined the staff of the State Agriculture Department.

Shugrue is currently treasurer of the Lancaster County Democratic Central Committee.

Prior to going to work for the Agriculture Department, he was employed in the public relations department of a Lincoln advertising agency.

Church Polled On Buying Luther Campus

Grand Island (AP) —A Nebraska church group is polling member congregations and individuals to determine about buying and operating the old Luther College campus at Wahoo as an academy.

The potential buyer is the Nebraska district of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod. The district includes Colorado, Kansas, southern South Dakota and western Iowa as well as Nebraska.

The synod itself, at its biennial convention in Milwaukee last summer, decided against buying the old college as a synod project.

The Rev. W. F. Wichmann, pastor of the Christ Lutheran Church in Grand Island, is chairman of district committee which visited the Wahoo campus and which now is seeking sentiment of member congregations and individuals.

The present survey seeks to determine how much financial backing could be expected for an academy operated by an association of congregations and individuals. He said the district has until April 15 to make up its mind. The price tag on the Wahoo campus including buildings is $466,000, he said.

The Rev. Mr. Wichmann said what the district has in mind is an accredited high school for about 100 to 130 pupils.

Vacating Of Post Office Site OKd By Planners

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission recommended Wednesday the vacating of several unopened streets and alleys on the two-block site proposed for Lincoln's new post office building at 8th and R.

The streets are T from 7th to 8th, 7th from R to T, and S from 7th to 8th, and the intervening alleys. The site extends from R to T, 7th to 8th.

Attorney Lloyd Marti said the Burlington Railroad has given the federal government an option on the land and construction could start this fall.

Face South on R

Postmaster Kenneth Lewis said the $2 million building would be constructed on a lease-back arrangement and would face south on R.

Other land would be used for the parking of 250 cars, truck docking space and a landscaped mall.

"I think this will spark other improvements in this area," said Lewis, a former councilman and Planning Commission member. "While the one-story building, with a possible second-story portion, will be a 'mail factory,' the building design will be a credit to any downtown location."

City Engineer Carl Fisher and Planning Director Douglas Brogden reported no objections to the street vacations.

Could Shift By-Pass

Brogden said the 7th St. bypass indicated in the comprehensive plan could be shifted without difficulty.

Marti said some Burlington trackage will be re-located. He said the railroad has 250 days to move the Railway Express Agency building and freight warehouse to new locations.

A Burlington attorney said city and business officials had been most cooperative in working out problems connected with the proposed post office site.

Plans for the new post office building were announced last fall with a general indication as to the preferred site.

Planners Suggest OK To Move Radio Tower

Approval of a special permit for a 300-foot radio tower on city-owned land near the Interstate Highway at approximately 5th and Charleston was recommended Wednesday by the City-County Planning Commission.

Radio Station KLIN, owned by the Fletcher - Mitchell Corp., requested the permit in proposing to relocate its transmitting tower from a 40th and Vine location.

A station spokesman said this must be done by June 1 or the broadcasting station must go off the air under a Federal Communication Commission notice.

Attorney Ray Calkins said Mayor Dean Petersen had approved the proposed lease of the six-acre tract and planning and negotiations had been under way since last June.

'Quite a Surprise'

Thus, he continued, Planning Director Douglas Brogden's recommendation for denial "is quite a surprise."

Brogden reported the proposed radio tower site would detract from the view of the city on the Interstate 180 access route where a "most aesthetically pleasing entrance to the central business district" is being developed.

While the city is spending more than $250,000 to acquire park land for this purpose on one hand, the city should not be leasing city land for private purpose in the same general area with its other hand, Brogden said.

Park Supt. James Ager said the tract has no public or park use because of location and "maintenance has been a problem."

Calkins said the proposed 25-year lease calls for no people and no cars on the tract and its landscaping and maintenance by the radio station.

Zoning Approved

The commission approved A-2 single-family zoning for a proposed residential subdivision south of LaSalle between 50th and 52nd.

Hubert H. Hall assured the commission that homes with a minimum of 1,050 square feet would be constructed. The assurance came after several property owners objected to the proposed zoning on grounds that small, inexpensive homes would be constructed and depreciate their properties.

Other commission action:

—deferred the request of St. Elizabeth Hospital for four-family zoning of a lot on 11th between South and Plum.

—denied the request of Jacobs Service Inc. for light industry zoning for a proposed service station on the northwest corner of 27th and Fair.

—approved commercial zoning, requested by Pat Ash, for a lot near 48th and Pioneer, adjoining similarly zoned property.

—approved light industry zoning for property between 66th, Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks and Dead Man's Run channel as requested by D. D. Wainscott.

—approved vacation of a portion of 60th south from Vine to approximately 110 feet north of Gillan Road.

—approved preliminary plat of Eden Park Addition near 44th and Antelope Creek Road.

—approved final plats of Trendwood Replat near A and Talbott Trail and Trendwood Second Addition between A and South, 70th and 84th.

—referred Battens Addition plat on Orchard between 59th and 61st to the City Council for determination whether the city wants to acquire the land for park purposes as proposed in the Comprehensive Plan.

Builders' Action Welcome

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

There should be a ready welcome among the people of Lincoln and a cooperative spirit on the part of city government in regard to the proposed low-income housing development of the Homebuilders Association of Lincoln. The organization plans the construction of living units, some 10 to 20 in the initial phase of things, that will rent for from $50 to $65 per month. Included will be homes up to three-bedroom brick types.

There are a number of things to be said for the project and a number of things to keep in mind in regard to it.

Merits To Be Seen

There is no doubt that the project will be of great assistance. If only 10 such homes were built and they succeeded in improving the standard of living for 10 families, it would be a substantial improvement. Nor is there any doubt that there is a substantial shortage of homes in this rental range in the city and available on an open occupancy basis. And for every family moved into one of those homes, the overcrowding in current minority group areas will be somewhat reduced.

Nothing will help more to improve conditions in existing inferior housing areas than a greater supply of available housing. Then, the deteriorated housing at the low end of the scale will find no buyers or renters and the average condition of housing will tend to improve. This isn't any automatic thing that happens overnight but it is the nature of what will eventually come to pass.

The homebuilders' plan will have another advantage in that it will allow the renters to accumulate a down-payment for the purchase of the home if they so desire. This down-payment will be in the form of a credit given to the renter for his upkeep of the home, a credit that will accumulate at the rate of $6 a month and provide sufficient down-payment for a loan and purchase within five years.

Further, the homebuilders plan is an integrated project. It should be noted, however, that this is just the plan and not yet an accomplished fact. It is one thing to plan such a project and another to accomplish it. Open occupancy includes a willingness on the part of the owner as well as a willingness on the part of the buyer or renter and any development such as this one by the homebuilders can have no advance guarantee as to the latter. It is assumed, of course, that the builders are sincere in their expressed intentions in the matter.

There are a number of other advantages to the homebuilders' program if it is compared to such approaches as public housing. First of all, it represents a solution through private enterprise which certainly is preferred even though it is not at all the essential thing that some ultra-conservatives would have us believe. As private enterprise, the project will pay taxes and will, in all respects, have a more improved motivation behind it.

To assure success, the plan must have the cooperation of city government where help is needed in the matter of management of the properties. We fail to see any reason, legal or otherwise, to stop the city from providing this assistance and giving as much help as possible to the development. It would, in fact, be a rather sad state of affairs if the situation were any other way.

The matter of location of the housing is still open, as is this question at this stage of things in any development involving the purchase of real estate and construction of buildings. It is hoped, certainly, that the project does not rise too close to an existing minority housing area, as this would be a distinct disadvantage.

On the other hand, one can hardly expect to find the homes on the finest lots in Lincoln since it is possible for a lot itself to cost more than the total cost of the home that might be planned for this development. Low-rent housing, for instance, isn't in the cards for Piedmont and it has nothing to do with discrimination.

Thus, assuming the builders group does what it says it intends to do, Lincoln can look forward to considerable housing improvement this coming summer. This does not mean the end of the housing problem in Lincoln, of course, and should not be sold as such. There are housing problems all the way down to the welfare recipient and this project will not solve them all. Nor will this development by the builders be accomplished without some problems presenting themselves. Certainly, it will take some study and care if this development is to do the best job possible and not all eventualities can be seen at this time.

Problems Are a Certainty

No one, therefore, should be looking for any kind of a miracle. Nor should we look for human miracles in the results of this housing effort. What we have basically is a constructive attitude toward meeting a problem rather than just a negative position on other proposals.

Birch Account Shocking

If accurately reported by United Press International, an assumption fair to make on the basis of the integrity of that wire service, the account of the late President John F. Kennedy by a University of Illinois professor is a shocking matter. Prof. Revilo P. Oliver presented his story in American Opinion, a monthly publication of the John Birch Society.

In the story, he linked the late President with a communist conspiracy to take over the United States and even went so far as to charge subversion on the part of Kennedy of American military forces. Because the Red takeover fell behind schedule, the President was killed, the article states.

The article is completely preposterous and without any foundation but it is an unfortunate state of affairs when the freedoms of expression that we are guaranteed in this nation can be used in such an illegitimate way as this. It seems unfortunate that the freedoms of democracy can be twisted into a means of destroying an individual.

The fact that Mr. Kennedy is now dead only makes the article in question all the more disturbing. We wonder if the day will not come when action must be taken by society as a whole to fill the void that exists when some group or individual refuses to associate a sense of personal responsibility with the freedom they are guaranteed as citizens of this nation.

If there was ever any question as to the dangers that are a part of such extremist groups as the John Birch Society, the article by the Illinois professor effectively removes that doubt. While too ridiculous to have any effect with normal people, the article will serve to inflame the insanities that lie hidden below the surface of some of the more radical members of society.

Howdy, Arizona

Tomorrow is the day every year that Nebraska and other states can say "Hi Neighbor" to Arizona. It was on Valentine's Day in 1912 that Arizona became the 48th state in the Union—the last of the mainland territories to be so included. Only two have made statehood since. One is Hawaii, the other Alaska.

New Mexico got in just shortly before Arizona made it, the result of dividing old New Mexico territory into two parts.

Arizona did not derive its name from its aridity, as many believe. It is rather an ancient Indian name meaning "little spring." But it is dry. The average annual rainfall is only 7.66 inches. The least of it falls in the vicinity of Yuma which averages 3.1 inches per year and is hardly enough to warrant setting out tubs to catch.

We think of Arizona as rather new country, but it isn't. The Pilgrims hadn't even been thought of when Senor Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca, in 1536, spread the rumor that somewhere up that-away, meaning in northern Sonora, were to be found the Seven Cities of Cibola where gold was so plentiful that it was a drug on the market. Thereupon, with a good deal of brandishing of swords a great many Spanish conquistadores made off in that direction, not many of them being heard from since.

Senor Cabeza de Vaca was prophetic enough, but his timing was off about 400 years. The leading cities of Arizona are now dripping with gold, which is brought in every winter mainly by Middle Westerners.

Arizona came into U.S. possession through an unjustifiable war with Mexico and a purchase arranged by a dignitary named Gadsden. It has an advanced motel society filled with affluent people trying to see how few clothes they can wear. It also has a native Indian civilization, largely up in the mountains, which would like to save up enough money to buy some clothes.

Aid Fight Cooling Off

It is beginning to look less and less as though the administration will suggest any marked changes in the conduct of the foreign aid program. It may finally go to congressional decision with attention centered mainly on Sen. Fulbright's suggestion that the program be split into two bills—one covering economic aid; the other military aid.

A tip-off to this is the inability of the President's special committee, headed by Undersecretary of State George Ball, to come to any agreement on what should be done, if anything. The committee has been wrestling with the question more than six weeks and is said to be about to disband.

It is perhaps just as well at this juncture. The Congress has already cut deeply into the administration's money request and vented its feelings over instances believed to represent waste and folly.

The foreign aid program has always been politically controversial and has been under unending criticism by those who never believed in it and are not going to change their mind no matter what is done to improve it. The weakness of the position of the critics is a form of negativeness. They don't like the program, but have no alternative for it. Yet without a program of some kind a critical area in western influence would be projected into a vacuum. This would only be an invitation for a forward surge on the part of communism.

The United States is in a defacto position of world leadership and cannot vacate certain responsibilities. Many positions in leadership are distasteful and unrewarding, as all leading countries have learned. Despite this it is without truth to call foreign aid a waste and a failure because some of its efforts have been disappointing. It has done fabulously well in other instances.

China Sees Africa As Migrating Place

WASHINGTON — Diplomatic reports from Africa state that the real reason for Chinese attempts to foment trouble in East Africa is the Chinese ambition to take over that vast and relatively empty continent.

Jam-packed with 700,000,000 people, the Chinese need expansion space more than anything else. They have eyed relatively empty Siberia, but this brings them into conflict with their one-time ally, Russia. They have eyed Southeast Asia, which is one reason for the drive to infiltrate South Vietnam, Laos, and Indonesia. However, these countries are relatively crowded already.

East and Central Africa, however, remains a great partial game preserve inhabited by scattered tribes which could easily be organized and exploited.

Suddenly in East Africa this winter, 300 Chinese turned up where there had been none before. Some posed as Chinese newspapermen. All were communist organizers and agitators.

Incidentally, the once great ally of the United States, Pakistan, has been partially responsible for letting these Chinese travel direct to Africa. Ever since the United States started giving military aid to India to combat the Chinese invasion of her northern border, the Pakistan government has been leaning toward the Red Chinese, giving them important landing privileges.

Chinese diplomats, agents, and agitators can now fly on a short route to Africa, thanks to the help of a country into which we have poured some three billions of dollars.

Mohole Controversy Reaches New Phase

WASHINGTON — If the space agency is having trouble reaching the moon by the deadline of 1970 it is as nothing compared to the troubles besetting the scientific project to bore a hole into the center of the earth.

Project Mohole, sometimes called ironically project no-hole, has been on the boards for nearly seven years, yet the results have been for the most part confusion and conflict.

A crude analogy is dangling a piece of macaroni from the top of the Empire State building in New York and trying to put it through the hole in a lifesaver on the sidewalk. The hole in the earth's crust must be drilled beneath an ocean depth of two to three miles, depending on the site chosen. Then through three miles of the earth's surface. This means a drill string about 35,000 feet long or almost twice as long as anything hitherto used in the deepest oil wells.

Recently the National Science Foundation, with overall responsibility, announced a new start for Mohole. Dr. Leland Haworth, head of the foundation, appointed Gordon G. Lill, noted geologist, as director of the project. Lill was chairman of the committee of members of the National Academy of Science that first conceived the project of boring through several layers of the earth's crust to the mysterious mantle known as the mohorivicic discontinuity after its Yugoslav discoverer.

The Lill appointment will hopefully put an end to the fierce bickering among scientists, politicians and engineers making Mohole. As an example of how to bungle a great scientific adventure Mohole could hardly be improved on.

At the same time Dr. Haworth approved the plans of the contractor for constructing a $47,000,000 mobile platform to carry out the ocean drilling. This apparatus, so huge that it cannot transit the Panama Canal, would be equipped to do both the intermediate and the final drilling, thereby ending a dispute with scientists who insisted that a relatively inexpensive test stage should come first.

☆ ☆ ☆

The heart of the conflict has been over the contractor and how the contract was awarded. The most persistent critic has been Sen. Gordon Allott (R., Colo.), heretofore friendly to the aims of the National Science Foundation as a member of the Senate subcommittee allocating funds to the foundation.

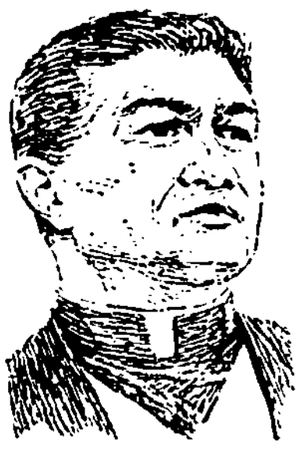

The Science Foundation called for bids for Mohole. The four bidders rated highest in ability combined the know-how of big oil companies with scientific groups. No. 1 was Socony Mobile, which has an installation in Colorado. No. 2 was an unexpected entry, the big construction firm of Brown and Root of Houston, Texas. After another go-round with the Science Foundation Brown and Root, which had only limited experience in deep drilling and only one Ph.D. on its staff, came out as No. 3.

The real surprise was when Brown and Root got the contract. Part of the surprise was that while the foundation had in the first go-round stressed the no-fee aspect of the bidding, Brown and Root had been the only one of the top five to include a fee in its cost estimates. That fee was $1,800,000 and critics say that with other provisions it will go to $3,000,000.

BIBLE WORDS THAT GUIDE ME

By REV. ABRAHAM AKAKA
Pastor, Kawaiahao Church, Honolulu

REV. AKAKA

Among the first words taught by my father, Kahikina, and my mother, Annine, to all of their seven children were these: "Aloha ke Akua" (God is love).—John 1:4—8 Bingham Version.

Over the years, from infancy to adulthood, we learned many more verses from Ka Baibala Hemolele (The Holy Bible), but none meant more than or was used as often as "God is love."

"Aloha ke Akua" is associated first of all in my mind and life with that place of quiet and peace when we gathered as a family to pray. Prayer-time is called Ohana in Hawaiian. Ohana literally means "Family—a family made up of father, mother, children, and God."

Every morning and evening of my life since earliest childhood, my father and mother called their children to Ohana. In the morning about 5:45, there was a gentle touch of Pa's hand and the softly spoken words "Ohana kakou — Family prayer." We gathered in the living room in a circle, and Pa would lead in affirming of Scripture. Each of us would then say his favorite Bible verse in turn. "Aloha ke Akua" was never left out as someone's favorite verse in Ohana. We would not want to repeat any verse given by someone else, so the first one in the circle usually said "aloha ke Akua."

Ohana added a dimension of deep understanding to the children as they grew—in terms of gratitude and love toward God and His love toward us and all people. Every evening, after dishes and homework were done, we gathered again in our circle to sing praises and thank God for the day and to pray for His keeping during the night.

Abrahum Akaka is known by the affectionate title of "kahu," or shepherd, in Honolulu. Many a visitor to Oahu's famed Waikiki Beach has been startled to discover after watching his expertise on a surfboard that "Abe," the powerfully built, brown-skinned Hawaiian, is not a beach boy, but a man who has been called the "best-loved minister in Hawaii."

Surboard riding, of course, is a hobby. His vocation is people. As minister of Honolulu's Kawaiahao Church, the first built by the Congregational missionaries who reached Hawaii in 1820, as chaplain of the State Senate, and as a virtually indispensable man in almost every civic enterprise, Dr. Akaka normally works a 17-hour day seven days a week.

The church is nearly filled for daily Ohana, or morning prayer service, which he instituted. Not only members of the congregation, but businessmen and goverment employes stop there to pray before they begin the day's work.

The Springboard

Hastings, Neb.

If any American wonders how come former Vice President Richard M. Nixon moved from California to New York, let's take a close look at the array of distinguished Americans, all of whom had a characteristic common to all—they were New Yorkers! And that may be the reason why Mr. Nixon moved to New York—to become a 1964 potential GOP presidential candidate.

The New Yorkers who became president of the U.S.A. were Chester A. Arthur, Millard Fillmore, Grover (Stephen) Cleveland, Ulysses S. Grant, Teddy Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Martin Van Buren. Several of these were governors of New York—Van Buren, the two Roosevelts — but Fillmore, candidate for governor in 1844, was defeated. Other New York governors who were presidential candidates but not elected were Charles E. ("Evasion"?) Hughes, Alfred E. Smith and Thomas E. Dewey.

Richard M. Nixon could probably look over this array and yawn and take a nap. But there is a New York governor, Nelson Rockefeller, whose potentialities as a 1964 GOP candidate are very likely to hang as a specter before Mr. Nixon's eyes and he will probably realize he would be just as close to the White House if he had remained in California where he would find more sympathetic folks. He could use for a theme song, "I'm going back to the old folks at home."

The John Birch Society's newspaper ads following President Kennedy's assassination were as significant an admission of failure by the forces of slander on the far right as is the Berlin Wall for their "opponents" in the Kremlin.

Until his murder, the Birchers tried in vain to link Kennedy with communism. After Kennedy's murder by a Red-leaning fanatic, the Birchers proclaimed him a martyr in the fight against communism. This, they advertise with a straight face, proves they were right all along!

When will they change their "infallible" minds about Presidents Eisenhower, Roosevelt and Truman?

World Problems

Comstock, Neb.

We are glad to be able to read a good Democratic paper such as The Star. We like your stand on the farm problem, and don't think the farmer and feeder aren't taking it on the chin. Even parity has been forgotten by the administration.

We should be getting out of foreign entanglements. Giving a handout is poor diplomacy when we allow big business to exploit and enforce economic slavery as in South and Central America. It is a disgrace to American prestige abroad. It seems to me the Monroe Doctrine is to keep foreign trade out of South and Central America and I am glad to see it break down.

This is one world and getting smaller all the time. Depression in one spot spreads. It is not unlikely we will some day have a world depression. At least let's admit that communism isn't the fault of all the world's trouble and the reason there is communism is because capitalism has failed. Communism is spreading at a fearful rate. Our armies all over the world will not stop it. Let's prove to the nations of the world that greed and selfishness will not destroy our own democracy. As a nation, with our national and private debt, can we keep growing and still have purchasing power, or will the coupon clippers be able to keep it down?

It would be easy if we could cut armament in half. It is not needed in this day of atomic bombs. Let's bring our troops home from abroad and use the United Nations for what it was meant—or can't we trust ourselves or others? We could wipe out poverty and slums and have a heaven on earth instead of destroying or being destroyed. A bluff in this day and age is going to be called by someone.

Time Given Freely

Lincoln, Neb.

I have noted recently that groups of busy businessmen are again coming forward and devoting their time freely, supposedly for the betterment of this city. In years gone by, the businessmen were content to sit back and let our city officials run our government business and decide on various projects needed for the city.

There can be various conclusions: that we had better qualified city people then, or that now, in some way, these various proposed projects such as the city-county building, etc., will in some way be of personal benefit to them.

Perhaps times have changed and the businessman now takes more interest in his city, but I find it hard to believe that any businessman has time to devote freely and neglect his own interests which he would have to do.

Rights Challenged

Lincoln, Neb.

The year 1962 was to Lincoln home owners and taxpayers something like the year 1776 to all American patriots. It was the year when we stood up on our two feet and asserted our "inalienable rights" to own property, to sell it only when the owner is willing, at a price agreed upon between buyer and seller.

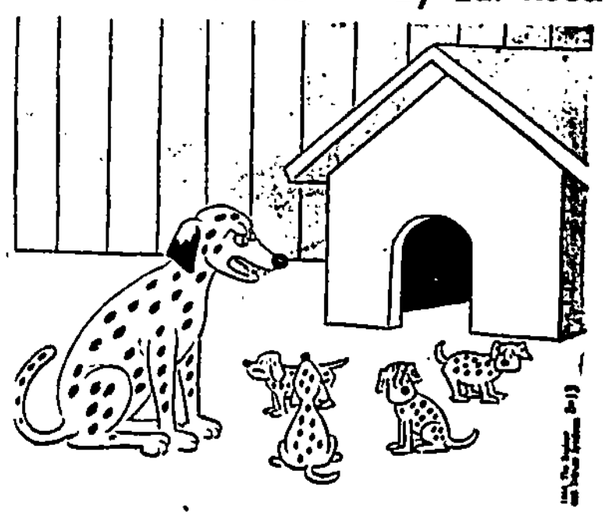

Now the United States Chamber of Commerce has discovered that urban renewal does not serve the best interests of the people where it is put into effect. The denunciation of the Chamber of Commerce is much to its credit.

Our rights of self-government are continually challenged. Our forefathers had to fight to maintain their Declaration of Independence, and we must do the same. Provo, Utah, accepted a partially consolidated government such as is presently proposed for Lincoln. And the cost of government increased by 51%, not to mention other objections. Provo finally changed back to their former government of the people, but the effort to do so was something like the Battle of Bull Run.

Our rights of self-determination, the right to own property and to vote on tax burdens are most precious to Americans. Let's not let artificial authorities and proponents of progress take them from us.

Builders' Action Welcome

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

There should be a ready welcome among the people of Lincoln and a cooperative spirit on the part of city government in regard to the proposed low-income housing development of the Homebuilders Association of Lincoln. The organization plans the construction of living units, some 10 to 20 in the initial phase of things, that will rent for from $50 to $65 per month. Included will be homes up to three-bedroom brick types.

There are a number of things to be said for the project and a number of things to keep in mind in regard to it.

Merits To Be Seen

There is no doubt that the project will be of great assistance. If only 10 such homes were built and they succeeded in improving the standard of living for 10 families, it would be a substantial improvement. Nor is there any doubt that there is a substantial shortage of homes in this rental range in the city and available on an open occupancy basis. And for every family moved into one of those homes, the overcrowding in current minority group areas will be somewhat reduced.

Nothing will help more to improve conditions in existing inferior housing areas than a greater supply of available housing. Then, the deteriorated housing at the low end of the scale will find no buyers or renters and the average condition of housing will tend to improve. This isn't any automatic thing that happens overnight but it is the nature of what will eventually come to pass.

The homebuilders' plan will have another advantage in that it will allow the renters to accumulate a down-payment for the purchase of the home if they so desire. This down-payment will be in the form of a credit given to the renter for his upkeep of the home, a credit that will accumulate at the rate of $6 a month and provide sufficient down-payment for a loan and purchase within five years.

Further, the homebuilders plan is an integrated project. It should be noted, however, that this is just the plan and not yet an accomplished fact. It is one thing to plan such a project and another to accomplish it. Open occupancy includes a willingness on the part of the owner as well as a willingness on the part of the buyer or renter and any development such as this one by the homebuilders can have no advance guarantee as to the latter. It is assumed, of course, that the builders are sincere in their expressed intentions in the matter.

There are a number of other advantages to the homebuilders' program if it is compared to such approaches as public housing. First of all, it represents a solution through private enterprise which certainly is preferred even though it is not at all the essential thing that some ultra-conservatives would have us believe. As private enterprise, the project will pay taxes and will, in all respects, have a more improved motivation behind it.

To assure success, the plan must have the cooperation of city government where help is needed in the matter of management of the properties. We fail to see any reason, legal or otherwise, to stop the city from providing this assistance and giving as much help as possible to the development. It would, in fact, be a rather sad state of affairs if the situation were any other way.

The matter of location of the housing is still open, as is this question at this stage of things in any development involving the purchase of real estate and construction of buildings. It is hoped, certainly, that the project does not rise too close to an existing minority housing area, as this would be a distinct disadvantage.

On the other hand, one can hardly expect to find the homes on the finest lots in Lincoln since it is possible for a lot itself to cost more than the total cost of the home that might be planned for this development. Low-rent housing, for instance, isn't in the cards for Piedmont and it has nothing to do with discrimination.

Thus, assuming the builders group does what it says it intends to do, Lincoln can look forward to considerable housing improvement this coming summer. This does not mean the end of the housing problem in Lincoln, of course, and should not be sold as such. There are housing problems all the way down to the welfare recipient and this project will not solve them all. Nor will this development by the builders be accomplished without some problems presenting themselves. Certainly, it will take some study and care if this development is to do the best job possible and not all eventualities can be seen at this time.

Problems Are a Certainty

No one, therefore, should be looking for any kind of a miracle. Nor should we look for human miracles in the results of this housing effort. What we have basically is a constructive attitude toward meeting a problem rather than just a negative position on other proposals.

"Just An Experiment, Senator—At This Point, Anything's Worth A Try"

Birch Account Shocking

If accurately reported by United Press International, an assumption fair to make on the basis of the integrity of that wire service, the account of the late President John F. Kennedy by a University of Illinois professor is a shocking matter. Prof. Revilo P. Oliver presented his story in American Opinion, a monthly publication of the John Birch Society.

In the story, he linked the late President with a communist conspiracy to take over the United States and even went so far as to charge subversion on the part of Kennedy of American military forces. Because the Red takeover fell behind schedule, the President was killed, the article states.

The article is completely preposterous and without any foundation but it is an unfortunate state of affairs when the freedoms of expression that we are guaranteed in this nation can be used in such an illegitimate way as this. It seems unfortunate that the freedoms of democracy can be twisted into a means of destroying an individual.

The fact that Mr. Kennedy is now dead only makes the article in question all the more disturbing. We wonder if the day will not come when action must be taken by society as a whole to fill the void that exists when some group or individual refuses to associate a sense of personal responsibility with the freedom they are guaranteed as citizens of this nation.

If there was ever any question as to the dangers that are a part of such extremist groups as the John Birch Society, the article by the Illinois professor effectively removes that doubt. While too ridiculous to have any effect with normal people, the article will serve to inflame the insanities that lie hidden below the surface of some of the more radical members of society.

Howdy, Arizona

Tomorrow is the day every year that Nebraska and other states can say "Hi Neighbor" to Arizona. It was on Valentine's Day in 1912 that Arizona became the 48th state in the Union—the last of the mainland territories to be so included. Only two have made statehood since. One is Hawaii, the other Alaska.

New Mexico got in just shortly before Arizona made it, the result of dividing old New Mexico territory into two parts.

Arizona did not derive its name from its aridity, as many believe. It is rather an ancient Indian name meaning "little spring." But it is dry. The average annual rainfall is only 7.66 inches. The least of it falls in the vicinity of Yuma which averages 3.1 inches per year and is hardly enough to warrant setting out tubs to catch.

We think of Arizona as rather new country, but it isn't. The Pilgrims hadn't even been thought of when Senor Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca, in 1536, spread the rumor that somewhere up that-away, meaning in northern Sonora, were to be found the Seven Cities of Cibola where gold was so plentiful that it was a drug on the market. Thereupon, with a good deal of brandishing of swords a great many Spanish conquistadores made off in that direction, not many of them being heard from since.

Senor Cabeza de Vaca was prophetic enough, but his timing was off about 400 years. The leading cities of Arizona are now dripping with gold, which is brought in every winter mainly by Middle Westerners.

Arizona came into U.S. possession through an unjustifiable war with Mexico and a purchase arranged by a dignitary named Gadsden. It has an advanced motel society filled with affluent people trying to see how few clothes they can wear. It also has a native Indian civilization, largely up in the mountains, which would like to save up enough money to buy some clothes.

Aid Fight Cooling Off

It is beginning to look less and less as though the administration will suggest any marked changes in the conduct of the foreign aid program. It may finally go to congressional decision with attention centered mainly on Sen. Fulbright's suggestion that the program be split into two bills—one covering economic aid; the other military aid.

BIBLE WORDS THAT GUIDE ME

By REV. ABRAHAM AKAKA
Pastor, Kawaiahao Church, Honolulu

REV. AKAKA

Among the first words taught by my father, Kahikina, and my mother, Annine, to all of their seven children were these: "Aloha ke Akua" (God is love).—John 1:4—8 Bingham Version.

Over the years, from infancy to adulthood, we learned many more verses from Ka Baibala Hemolele (The Holy Bible), but none meant more than or was used as often as "God is love."

"Aloha ke Akua" is associated first of all in my mind and life with that place of quiet and peace when we gathered as a family to pray. Prayer-time is called Ohana in Hawaiian. Ohana literally means "Family—a family made up of father, mother, children, and God."

Every morning and evening of my life since earliest childhood, my father and mother called their children to Ohana. In the morning about 5:45, there was a gentle touch of Pa's hand and the softly spoken words "Ohana kakou — Family prayer." We gathered in the living room in a circle, and Pa would lead in affirming of Scripture. Each of us would then say his favorite Bible verse in turn. "Aloha ke Akua" was never left out as someone's favorite verse in Ohana. We would not want to repeat any verse given by someone else, so the first one in the circle usually said "aloha ke Akua."

Ohana added a dimension of deep understanding to the children as they grew—in terms of gratitude and love toward God and His love toward us and all people. Every evening, after dishes and homework were done, we gathered again in our circle to sing praises and thank God for the day and to pray for His keeping during the night.

Abraham Akaka is known by the affectionate title of "kahu," or shepherd, in Honolulu. Many a visitor to Oahu's famed Waikiki Beach has been startled to discover after watching his expertise on a surfboard that "Abe," the powerfully built, brown-skinned Hawaiian, is not a beach boy, but a man who has been called the "best-loved minister in Hawaii."

Surboard riding, of course, is a hobby. His vocation is people. As minister of Honolulu's Kawaiahao Church, the first built by the Congregational missionaries who reached Hawaii in 1820, as chaplain of the State Senate, and as a virtually indispensable man in almost every civic enterprise, Dr. Akaka normally works a 17-hour day seven days a week.

The church is nearly filled for daily Ohana, or morning prayer service, which he instituted. Not only members of the congregation, but businessmen and goverment employes stop there to pray before they begin the day's work.

The Springboard

Hastings, Neb.

If any American wonders how come former Vice President Richard M. Nixon moved from California to New York, let's take a close look at the array of distinguished Americans, all of whom had a characteristic common to all—they were New Yorkers! And that may be the reason why Mr. Nixon moved to New York—to become a 1964 potential GOP presidential candidate.

The New Yorkers who became president of the U.S.A. were Chester A. Arthur, Millard Fillmore, Grover (Stephen) Cleveland, Ulysses S. Grant, Teddy Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Martin Van Buren. Several of these were governors of New York—Van Buren, the two Roosevelts — but Fillmore, candidate for governor in 1844, was defeated. Other New York governors who were presidential candidates but not elected were Charles E. ("Evasion"?) Hughes, Alfred E. Smith and Thomas E. Dewey.

Richard M. Nixon could probably look over this array and yawn and take a nap. But there is a New York governor, Nelson Rockefeller, whose potentialities as a 1964 GOP candidate are very likely to hang as a specter before Mr. Nixon's eyes and he will probably realize he would be just as close to the White House if he had remained in California where he would find more sympathetic folks. He could use for a theme song, "I'm going back to the old folks at home."

About-Face

Millard, Neb.

The John Birch Society's newspaper ads following President Kennedy's assassination were as significant an admission of failure by the forces of slander on the far right as is the Berlin Wall for their "opponents" in the Kremlin.

Until his murder, the Birchers tried in vain to link Kennedy with communism. After Kennedy's murder by a Red-leaning fanatic, the Birchers proclaimed him a martyr in the fight against communism. This, they advertise with a straight face, proves they were right all along!

When will they change their "infallible" minds about Presidents Eisenhower, Roosevelt and Truman?

World Problems

Comstock, Neb.

We are glad to be able to read a good Democratic paper such as The Star. We like your stand on the farm problem, and don't think the farmer and feeder aren't taking it on the chin. Even parity has been forgotten by the administration.

We should be getting out of foreign entanglements. Giving a handout is poor diplomacy when we allow big business to exploit and enforce economic slavery as in South and Central America. It is a disgrace to American prestige abroad. It seems to me the Monroe Doctrine is to keep foreign trade out of South and Central America and I am glad to see it break down.

This is one world and getting smaller all the time. Depression in one spot spreads. It is not unlikely we will some day have a world depression. At least let's admit that communism isn't the fault of all the world's trouble and the reason there is communism is because capitalism has failed. Communism is spreading at a fearful rate. Our armies all over the world will not stop it. Let's prove to the nations of the world that greed and selfishness will not destroy our own democracy. As a nation, with our national and private debt, can we keep growing and still have purchasing power, or will the coupon clippers be able to keep it down?

It would be easy if we could cut armament in half. It is not needed in this day of atomic bombs. Let's bring our troops home from abroad and use the United Nations for what it was meant—or can't we trust ourselves or others? We could wipe out poverty and slums and have a heaven on earth instead of destroying or being destroyed. A bluff in this day and age is going to be called by someone.

Time Given Freely

Lincoln, Neb.

I have noted recently that groups of busy businessmen are again coming forward and devoting their time freely, supposedly for the betterment of this city. In years gone by, the businessmen were content to sit back and let our city officials run our government business and decide on various projects needed for the city.

There can be various conclusions: that we had better qualified city people then, or that now, in some way, these various proposed projects such as the city-county building, etc., will in some way be of personal benefit to them.

Perhaps times have changed and the businessman now takes more interest in his city, but I find it hard to believe that any businessman has time to devote freely and neglect his own interests which he would have to do.

Rights Challenged

Lincoln, Neb.

The year 1962 was to Lincoln home owners and taxpayers something like the year 1776 to all American patriots. It was the year when we stood up on our two feet and asserted our "inalienable rights" to own property, to sell it only when the owner is willing, at a price agreed upon between buyer and seller.

Now the United States Chamber of Commerce has discovered that urban renewal does not serve the best interests of the people where it is put into effect. The denunciation of the Chamber of Commerce is much to its credit.

Our rights of self-government are continually challenged. Our forefathers had to fight to maintain their Declaration of Independence, and we must do the same. Provo, Utah, accepted a partially consolidated government such as is presently proposed for Lincoln. And the cost of government increased by 51%, not to mention other objections. Provo finally changed back to their former government of the people, but the effort to do so was something like the Battle of Bull Run.

Our rights of self-determination, the right to own property and to vote on tax burdens are most precious to Americans. Let's not let artificial authorities and proponents of progress take them from us.

Lucrative Export Career Awaits Qualified Retirees

By ROBERT PETERSON

Most folks contemplating careers in the import-export field dream of finding an unusual foreign product which they can import profitably into the States. But there may be even more opportunities the other way around.

World-traveler R. J. Clark of Caldwell, Idaho, writes, "There are countless export opportunities, and it's a wide open field because most small U.S. manufacturers do not have distribution abroad and, in fact, have never thought of it.

"Most would jump at the chance of having representation that cost them nothing unless sales were made. Many retired people have wonderful sales and business backgrounds and could handle this sort of thing with distinction.

"It's in the field of small, inexpensive items that the greatest possibilities lie. Such things as advertising book matches, which are unknown in most foreign countries, florists supplies, books from small publishers, and unusual American toys and games. Naturally, our big American companies have representation abroad, but you'd be astonished how many hundreds of small ones don't."

He's right. There's a great potential market overseas for many American items not currently being exported. An ideal way to evaluate possibilities is to spend a vacation abroad and divide your time between seeing the sights and sleuthing sales possibilities.

How can you finance a "free" trip to Europe? If you're in the market for a new car, you can do what some 25,000 Americans did last year: order an European car for overseas delivery, and use the savings to pay for the trip.

Here's how it works: one English automobile company, for example, sells a four-door sedan at a list price in the U.S. of $2,694. But the same car costs just $1,996 if you pick it up at the factory a few miles outside London.

All you do is contact the firm's U.S. agent and pay him the $1,996. He processes the papers and arranges for your car to be ready when you arrive at the factory.

Then you take the $698 you saved on the transaction and buy an economy 21-day round trip air ticket to London for $390. This leaves $308, which will just about cover customs and shipping costs to send the car to the States via freighter.

But that's not the only saving. After picking up the car over there you can use it traveling around the British Isles or in Europe for three weeks—thus avoiding the $60 a week tab it would cost if you had to rent a car of the same type. So this means another theoretical saving of $180—which you can apply against traveling costs while abroad.

If you're careful and watch expenses it's possible that all or most of the basic costs of your adventure abroad will be offset by the savings.

If you would like a booklet "Tips on Stretching Retirement Income" write to this column c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10c to cover handling costs.

Workers Achieve Safety Record

Lincoln District employes of Consumers Public Power District have achieved and surpassed a feat never before reached by another of CPPD's districts.

They have worked more than one million hours without a disabling injury, and have surpassed four successive years in doing so.

Lincoln employes were honored at a safety award meeting.

During 1963, the employes worked a total of 250,195 hours, bringing the four-year total to 1,078,144 hours.

Barrett Hoping Pension Carrier Can Be Chosen

State Insurance Director Frank Barrett said he hopes the State Employes Retirement Board will be able to choose a carrier, or at least narrow down the number of proposals, when it meets Friday.

Barrett, chairman of the board, said he believes a carrier should be chosen as soon as possible even though the new state retirement act is being contested.

Selection of a carrier at an early date would enable the state to work out a number of problems relating to records and accounting matters and a variety of other details prior to the courts' determining the case, he said.

Cypriot Rejects New Anglo-U.S. Plan

Nicosia, Cyprus (AP)—President Archbishop Makarios has turned down a new British-American plan for stationing an international peacekeeping force on Cyprus, an authoritative Greek Cypriot source said Wednesday night.

Fighting raged in the island's second largest city, the south coast port of Limassol, while U.S. Undersecretary of State George Ball talked with leaders of the feuding Greek and Turkish-speaking factions.

Four persons were reported killed and nine wounded on both sides before the British truce force arranged a ceasefire.

Makarios made clear his opposition to the plan after two meetings with Ball, the Greek Cypriot source said.

To Meet Again

American sources said Ball would meet Makarios again Thursday. They added it was hoped that Makarios could be persuaded to accept the plan.

One U.S. source said the U.S. government wants to help but at the same time "it does not want to shoehorn itself into Cyprus."

The Limassol fighting was for control of medieval Berengaria Castle which commands the approaches to port installations. The castle is on the borderline of the Greek and Turkish sectors of the city.

Nicosia was tense but quiet for Ball's visit.

Arriving from Ankara, Turkey, Ball met immediately with Makarios. Then he crossed a No Man's Land to confer with the island's vice president, Dr. Fazul Kutchuk, leader of Turkish Cypriots.

Ball carried to both sides the latest US.-British proposals for an international force to keep peace on this eastern Mediterranean island.

Ball's travels inside Nicosia itself pointed up the bitter division of Greek and Turkish-speaking Cypriots.

Britain Someday May Ban Private Cars Downtown

London (AP)— Transport Minister Ernest Marples said Wednesday private cars may have to be banned from the center of Britain's congested cities. But the time has not yet arrived, he added.

Marples told the House of Commons he accepts conclusions of recent government-sponsored reports that "in the future some limitation on traffic in larger cities will be unavoidable."

U.S. SOPRANO SWOONS IN MID-SONG

London (AP)—American opera star Anna Moffo swooned in mid-song Wednesday night at the royal opera house, Covent Garden, leaving her leading man to finish a duet by himself.

Cradling the tall, beautiful soprano in his arms, baritone Peter Glossop sang on to an aghast audience until the curtain fell.

It happened in the middle of Verdi's Rigoletto, in which the 27-year-old Pennsylvania-born Miss Moffo was singing the role of Gilda. Glossop was playing the title role.

The incident provided another chapter in a series of misfortunes afflicting the production since it was brought to London.

When the curtain fell an official came out to appeal for a doctor in the house. Two doctors sprang up to attend Miss Moffo. They advised her not to continue.

Miss Moffo suffered a similar collapse on stage in Venice, Italy, in mid-summer of 1961.

Opera officials sent out a call for a substitute soprano and came up with Welsh singer Elizabeth Vaughan. The audience had to wait 45 minutes while she hustled to the theater.

Ovation

They gave her a big ovation at the end of the act.

The production was originally cast with Mirella Freni as Gilda but she fell ill at the end of January and was succeeded by Miss Moffo.

Welsh baritone Geraint Evans was cast as Rigoletto and developed an inflamed windpipe during rehearsals. The opening night had to be postponed.

Man Accused Of Killing Young Stepdaughter Tried To Force His Attentions On Her

Des Moines, Iowa (UPI)—A salesman accused of killing his 16-year-old stepdaughter as she walked down a street to school had threatened her and apparently tried to force his attentions on her, police said Wednesday.

Investigators said Doyle D. Hileman, 30, object of a widening manhunt, had threatened the victim, Diane Linn McConnell, with a letter opener several weeks ago after driving her to a lonely spot on a highway.

They said they found notes in the missing man's apartment complaining that Diane had made "nasty remarks about riding in my ugly car . . . accused me of following her around . . . laughed in my face."

Hileman was charged with murder in Diane's slaying. She was shot down on an icy street Tuesday morning while an eyewitness watched helplessly. The pretty blonde girl was looking forward to her first appearance on the student council at Des Moines Technical High School.

"It was planned, it was cold murder," sobbed Hileman's estranged wife Evelyn, 32, mother of Diane.

"She didn't have a chance."

Mrs. Hileman, who separated from Hileman Jan. 12, told police tension and ill-feeling had been building up "in a strange way" between her husband and her daughter over the past several years.

She said he had been "mentally depressed," partly because Diane was not receptive to his disciplinary efforts.

Capt. E. Dale Allen, chief of detectives, said Hileman "apparently was trying to force his attentions on the girl." He disclosed that numerous notes had been found in Hileman's apartment detailing complaints Hileman had about the girl.

Included were such statements as "failed to come home from school . . . supposed to be at swim meet. There was none . . . didn't get home from school until late, 6:30 or 7 . . . mouthed off to me."

Allen said Mrs. Hileman told police that on the afternoon of Jan. 11, Hileman picked up Diane at the home of a friend and "drove her somewhere south of Des Moines on Interstate 80."

He said Mrs. Hileman said Diane told her Hileman "threatened her with a letter opener and also told her that he had the car 'fixed' so he could asphyxiate them both."

Allen gave no further details.

Allen said the Hileman's separated the next day.

The police officer said Mrs. Hileman said Hileman spent most of the day Monday — the day before the shooting — at her home. She said he "acted normally" that day.

When Diane and her brother, Danny, 13, returned home from school, she said, "Doyle had bought valentines for the children and during the evening helped them with their school work."

Archaeologists Ponder Origination Of Mummy

Rome (AP) — There once was the daughter of an Oriental ambassador and she died in ancient Rome with a gilded bronze doll in her arms . . .

Or: There once was the daughter of a powerful Roman consul to an eastern land who died and was brought home with her golden earrings and her black pearl necklace.

Italian archaeologists are working on both these theories to explain the mystery of an amazingly well-preserved mummy dug up by chance a week ago Wednesday on the outskirts of Rome. She had been embalmed 1,800 years ago by a process unknown today and was found in a rose-colored marble coffin.

Most Important

Italian archaeologists called the find one of the most important here in many years. Working with X-ray and chemical tests of skin fragments, they were trying to find the secret of the embalming process, which left a tangent smell of herbs about the time-darkened body.

Much already has been learned—and much more guessed—in the week of detailed examination before the mummy was placed on public display Wednesday, for the first time.

"The mummy is wonderfully preserved," said Dr. Catia Caprino of the government department of antiquities and fine arts.

Eyelashes

When the stone coffin first was opened, even the eyelashes showed delicately against finely chiseled cheeks The eyebrows arched high, as if plucked by an oriental beauty specialist. The black hair showed signs of having been artificially waved.

"Yet the child must have been only 7 to 9 years old," archaeologists told reporters Wednesday.

They said from the jewelry, the ornateness of her gold-embroidered burial gown, and the engraved marble coffin that she must have been patrician. But whether she was Roman or Oriental is still not known.

Similar

The embalming process, scientists said, was similar to that of ancient Egypt and not a type practiced at that time in Rome.

The mummy has been studied—without dissection or mutilation—by Italy's top experts in ancient Roman archaeology and in Egyptology. Many of these were quoted Wednesday as leaning toward the theory that the child had been embalmed in the east—or in Rome by eastern specialists.

They said some strange, dark substance had been applied to the child's skin. It was described as resinous, something like eucalyptus—and so aromatic that scientists who touched the mummy said their fingers retained the delicate odor for a full day.

Preserved

The child's teeth and fingernails were preserved. X-ray examination showed a shadow which indicated the brain still existed within the skull. The skin was so perfect that fingerprints could be taken.

What caused the little girl to die? Scientists said they could not tell, but it must have been illness. She showed no sign of injury.

Her doll was dug up too but yielded no solid clues. Its was nine inches long, of gilded bronze, and of exotic design. But scientists could not say definitely if it was of Roman or Oriental make.

Goodyear Hits Earning Mark

Akron, Ohio—The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. achieved the highest sales and earnings in its history during 1963, according to E. J. Thomas, chairman of the board, and Russell DeYoung, president.

Consolidated net sales amounted to $1,731,099,211, an increase of 8.7% over 1962. Net income for 1963 increased 14.1% to $81,128,535, or $2.32 per share of common stock.

Johnson Opposes Sir Alec On Cuba

Washington (AP) —President Johnson and British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home opened a two-day exploration of world issues Wednesday and quickly ended up in opposing camps on curtailing trade with Communist Cuba.

Diplomatic informants, reporting this, said Sir Alec made it clear Britain has no intention of joining the United States in holding down commerce in non-strategic goods with Cuba.

Johnson, the informants said, forcefully restated the U.S. position that the Western allies must find a formula harmonizing their attitudes toward the Communist world.

The differing stands on Cuba were no surprise and the two heads of government quickly agreed on the need to continue and speed up efforts to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on the central issues of Germany and Berlin, the informants said. Instructions were issued to seek a new Western approach.

Officially Johnson and Douglas-Home were reported to have dug into the problems of Cyprus, Southeast Asia, Cuba and East-West relations.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, singled out those subjects as among the ones dealt with by the two heads of government, but disclosed no details.

Archaeologists Ponder Origination Of Mummy

Rome (AP) — There once was the daughter of an Oriental ambassador and she died in ancient Rome with a gilded bronze doll in her arms . . .

Or: There once was the daughter of a powerful Roman consul to an eastern land who died and was brought home with her golden earrings and her black pearl necklace.

Italian archaeologists are working on both these theories to explain the mystery of an amazingly well-preserved mummy dug up by chance a week ago Wednesday on the outskirts of Rome. She had been embalmed 1,800 years ago by a process unknown today and was found in a rose-colored marble coffin.

Most Important

Italian archaeologists called the find one of the most important here in many years. Working with X-ray and chemical tests of skin fragments, they were trying to find the secret of the embalming process, which left a tangent smell of herbs about the time-darkened body.

Much already has been learned—and much more guessed—in the week of detailed examination before the mummy was placed on public display Wednesday, for the first time.

"The mummy is wonderfully preserved," said Dr. Catia Caprino of the government department of antiquities and fine arts.

Eyelashes

When the stone coffin first was opened, even the eyelashes showed delicately against finely chiseled cheeks The eyebrows arched high, as if plucked by an oriental beauty specialist. The black hair showed signs of having been artificially waved.

"Yet the child must have been only 7 to 9 years old," archaeologists told reporters Wednesday.

They said from the jewelry, the ornateness of her gold-embroidered burial gown, and the engraved marble coffin that she must have been patrician. But whether she was Roman or Oriental is still not known.

Similar

The embalming process, scientists said, was similar to that of ancient Egypt and not a type practiced at that time in Rome.

The mummy has been studied—without dissection or mutilation—by Italy's top experts in ancient Roman archaelogy and in Egyptology. Many of these were quoted Wednesday as leaning toward the theory that the child had been embalmed in the east—or in Rome by eastern specialists.

They said some strange, dark substance had been applied to the child's skin. It was described as resinous, something like eucalyptus—and so aromatic that scientists who touched the mummy said their fingers retained the delicate odor for a full day.

Preserved

The child's teeth and fingernails were preserved. X-ray examination showed a shadow which indicated the brain still existed within the skull. The skin was so perfect that fingerprints could be taken.

What caused the little girl to die? Scientists said they could not tell, but it must have been illness. She showed no sign of injury.

Her doll was dug up too but yielded no solid clues. Its was nine inches long, of gilded bronze, and of exotic design. But scientists could not say definitely if it was of Roman or Oriental make.

Goodyear Hits Earning Mark

Akron, Ohio—The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. achieved the highest sales and earnings in its history during 1963, according to E. J. Thomas, chairman of the board, and Russell DeYoung, president.

Consolidated net sales amounted to $1,731,099,211, an increase of 8.7% over 1962. Net income for 1963 increased 14.1% to $81,128,535, or $2.32 per share of common stock.

Johnson Opposes Sir Alec On Cuba

Washington (AP) —President Johnson and British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home opened a two-day exploration of world issues Wednesday and quickly ended up in opposing camps on curtailing trade with Communist Cuba.

Diplomatic informants, reporting this, said Sir Alec made it clear Britain has no intention of joining the United States in holding down commerce in non-strategic goods with Cuba.

Johnson, the informants said, forcefully restated the U.S. position that the Western allies must find a formula harmonizing their attitudes toward the Communist world.

The differing stands on Cuba were no surprise and the two heads of government quickly agreed on the need to continue and speed up efforts to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on the central issues of Germany and Berlin, the informants said. Instructions were issued to seek a new Western approach.

Officially Johnson and Douglas-Home were reported to have dug into the problems of Cyprus, Southeast Asia, Cuba and East-West relations.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, singled out those subjects as among the ones dealt with by the two heads of government, but disclosed no details.

10-Year-Old Chicago Girl Bears 'Perfect' Baby

Chicago (UPI)—A 10-year-old girl who spent her days in the hospital cutting out paper dolls gave birth to a 5-pound, 12-ounce girl Wednesday.

The mother was believed to be the youngest in Chicago medical records. Medical sources said a 9-year-old Arkansas girl was believed to be the youngest mother on record in the United States.

The birth was by Caesarean section and Dr. Carlo Fioretti, who performed the operation at St. Bernard's Hospital, said both mother and daughter were "doing fine."

The identity of the mother, a fourth grade pupil, was not disclosed.

"The baby is in perfect condition," Dr. Fioretti said. "You might say, though, that she's of unusually large size considering the circumstances."

The hospital administrator said the decision to resort to Caesarean section was made because of the child mother's small size.

The 10-year-4-month-old girl, suffering from anemia, iron deficiency and an infection, was admitted to the hospital Jan. 18 and underwent a series of blood transfusions to strengthen her for childbirth.

Doctors said she spent her time in her hospital room alternately playing with cut-out dolls and crying with worry about what would happen to the baby.

Teacher Saw

Authorities said the girl named a 16-year-old boy as the father. The youth is the son of a foster family with whom the girl had been residing. A teacher at a parochial school first noticed the girl was pregnant.

"When I told her she was going to have a baby," a doctor said, "she asked, 'A real one?' "

The hospital said the child would be sent to St. Vincent's Orphange as soon as possible. The hospital administrator said whether the mother would see her daughter was up to family court and social agencies.

Report

The youth named as the father is undergoing psychiatric tests. A report on him is to be given juvenile court March 10.

The Hospital said Wednesday's birth was "rare." It said 18 births to mothers of 10 years or younger have been reported in the United States.

The 9-year-old Arkansas girl gave birth to a 2½-pound boy in 1957. A 5-year-old girl was delivered of a son by Caesarean section in Peru in 1939.

African Military Force Might Replace Britons

Dar es Salaam, Tanganyika (AP)—Delegates to the organization of African Unity conference agreed in principle Wednesday to form an African force to replace British troops called into Tanganyika to put down an army mutiny.

The delegates said a 12-nation committee had been formed to consider how the force is to be set up. The committee included Tanganyika, Kenya and Uganda, each of which called for British help to quell a mutiny last month.

Tanganyika's President Julius Nyerere had called on the year-old organization to form an African force to prevent a recurrence of the mutinies. He told the 33 nation conference meeting here that urgent action was needed to end "the national humiliation" experienced when British troops had to be called in.

Delegates reported the commitee would seek first a solution to the Tanganyikan situation and then draw on that experience to find solutions for Kenya and Uganda.

An informed source said Somalia's proposal to put its border disputes with Kenya and Ethiopia on the conference agenda was discussed without final decision.

Nyerere said his people supported the call for British help but "the presence of troops from a country deeply involved in the world's cold war conflicts has serious implications in the context of African nationalism and our common (African) policies of nonalignment."

Nyerere said there was no evidence to suggest outside forces inspired the mutinies, either Communist or imperialist. All three mutinies were aimed ostensibly at British officers commanding native troops, but all challenged the authority of the governments involved.

Senators, Power Directors Meet Thursday

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska legislators embark on a new approach to the state's public power problems Thursday when they will meet with elected directors of power districts.

The Legislative Council power study committee, headed by Sen. Don Thompson of McCook, has scheduled two days of meetings with directors of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

In the past, legislative committees have conferred primarily with appointed managers of the districts, rather than members of their boards of directors.

Impressions

"We would like to hear from them their impressions of the duties and responsibilities of their districts," Thompson pointed out.

"We will also express our opinions.

"We want to gain an understanding of their operation, and we want them to understand what we have in mind."

Thursday's exchange will begin at 9:30 a.m.

"As far as I'm concerned, it will be a public meeting," Thompson said, noting that the decision will have to rest with a majority of the committee.

Together, the three boards count 23 members.

Loup and Platte operate the Nebraska Public Power System.

Among issues which are likely to be raised during the two days of meetings are possible merger of Loup and Platte, and spreading representation of their boards over the entire 75-county NPPS service area.

Use of the NPPS grid transmission system as a common carrier may also enter the discussion.

Discussed Previously

Members of the legislative committee have previously discussed these three matters.

In addition to Thompson, the committee is composed of Sens. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, F. O. Gottschalk of Columbus, Albert Kjar of Lexington, George Gerdes of Alliance, Jerome Warner of Waverly, Peter Claussen of Leigh, Dale Erlewine of Grant and William Skarda of Omaha.

Nebraska-Iowa Milk Co-Op's Volume Rises

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

A new high in volume and gross value was reported by the Nebraska-Iowa Milk Cooperative Association Wednesday at the 32nd annual meeting of the co-op attended by nearly 1,000 members.

W. J. Grant of Omaha, general manager of the co-op, told members that 487 million pounds of milk valued at $23 million was handled in fluid milk sales and through the co-op's new manufacturing plant at Norfolk.

In addition to supplying regular fluid milk markets, the co-op is processing more than 400,000 pounds daily in the Norfolk plant, Grant said.

Cows Decline

This record was made by dairymen even though dairy cow numbers continued to decline, Grant pointed out.

He termed the prospects for a better price and the participation of the Nebraska-Iowa co-op as a member of the newly organized central and southwest regional cooperative as highlights for the year.

Main speaker W. D. Knox of Fort Atkinson, Wis., editor of the national dairy magazine, Hoard's Dairyman, said that because Grade A producers have to market their surplus production for blended prices for manufacturing a pricing mechanism was created that forced dairymen to continue producing more for less.

He said the blending price technique provided in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1937 had forced Grade A producers to produce manufacturing milk though it was uneconomical to do so in some of the markets.

Prospects Good

He considered prospects good for securing new dairy legislation in Congress.

New board members announced are Clarence Budt of Syracuse and Lee Fairley of Fairbury. Joe Cunningham of York serves as president.

Interstate May Have Saved 30 Lives In Nebraska In 1963

On the basis of U.S. Bureau of Roads figures on the estimated number of lives saved last year by travel on the Interstate Highway throughout the nation, it could be presumed that 30 persons who might otherwise have been killed on Nebraska highways are alive today because of the Interstate.

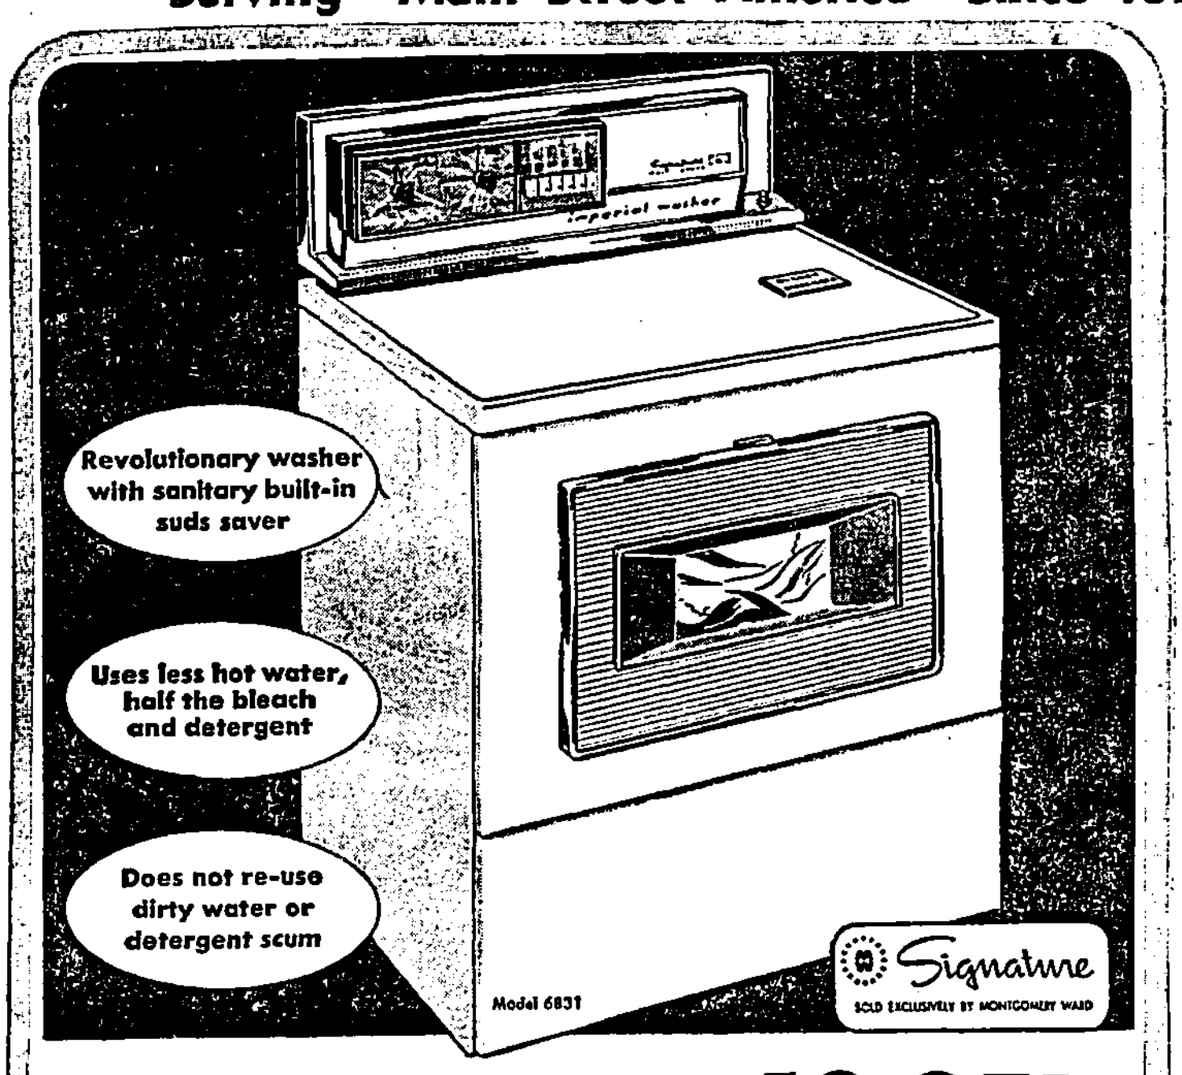

The bureau has estimated that approximately 3,000 persons who would otherwise have been killed in traffic accidents during 1963—when fatalities reached an all-time high of 43,400—are alive today because of travel on the Interstate.

Approximately 16,600 miles of the system are now open to traffic over the nation. Nebraska has 154 miles of full standard Interstate open, which represents about one per cent of nation's total Interstate mileage, so Nebraska's one per cent share of the lives saved would be 30 persons.

A recent bureau study showed the traffic accident fatality rate on completed sections of the Interstate was 2.8 fatalities per 100 million vehicle miles, compared with a 9.7 rate on the older highways in traffic corridors which formerly carried present Interstate traffic.

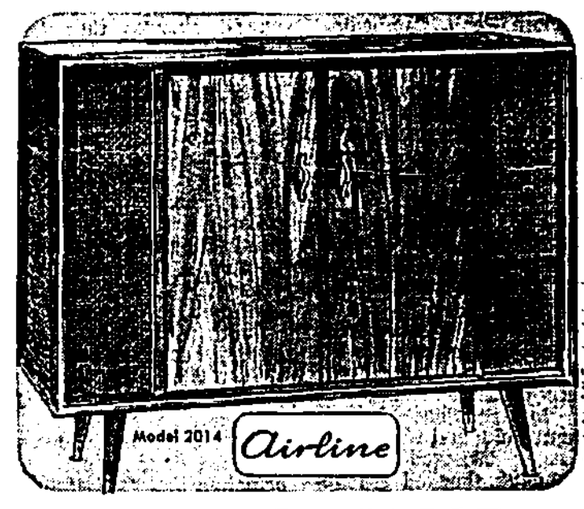

The study found control of access to be the most important single factor contributing to the Interstate's safety record, but the bureau said other design features such as wide lanes, broad medians, easy curvature and grades, and long sight distances also are important to the system's safety.

Senators, Power Directors Meet Thursday

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska legislators embark on a new approach to the state's public power problems Thursday when they will meet with elected directors of power districts.

The Legislative Council power study committee, headed by Sen. Don Thompson of McCook, has scheduled two days of meetings with directors of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

In the past, legislative committees have conferred primarily with appointed managers of the districts, rather than members of their boards of directors.

Impressions

"We would like to hear from them their impressions of the duties and responsibilities of their districts," Thompson pointed out.

"We will also express our opinions.

"We want to gain an understanding of their operation, and we want them to understand what we have in mind."

Thursday's exchange will begin at 9:30 a.m.

"As far as I'm concerned, it will be a public meeting," Thompson said, noting that the decision will have to rest with a majority of the committee.

Together, the three boards count 23 members.

Loup and Platte operate the Nebraska Public Power System.

Among issues which are likely to be raised during the two days of meetings are possible merger of Loup and Platte, and spreading representation of their boards over the entire 75-county NPPS service area.

Use of the NPPS grid transmission system as a common carrier may also enter the discussion.

Discussed Previously

Members of the legislative committee have previously discussed these three matters.

In addition to Thompson, the committee is composed of Sens. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, F. O. Gottschalk of Columbus, Albert Kjar of Lexington, George Gerdes of Alliance, Jerome Warner of Waverly, Peter Claussen of Leigh, Dale Erlewine of Grant and William Skarda of Omaha.

Nebraska-Iowa Milk Co-Op's Volume Rises

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

A new high in volume and gross value was reported by the Nebraska-Iowa Milk Cooperative Association Wednesday at the 32nd annual meeting of the co-op attended by nearly 1,000 members.

W. J. Grant of Omaha, general manager of the co-op, told members that 487 million pounds of milk valued at $23 million was handled in fluid milk sales and through the co-op's new manufacturing plant at Norfolk.

In addition to supplying regular fluid milk markets, the co-op is processing more than 400,000 pounds daily in the Norfolk plant, Grant said.

Cows Decline

This record was made by dairymen even though dairy cow numbers continued to decline, Grant pointed out.

He termed the prospects for a better price and the participation of the Nebraska-Iowa co-op as a member of the newly organized central and southwest regional cooperative as highlights for the year.

Main speaker W. D. Knox of Fort Atkinson, Wis., editor of the national dairy magazine, Hoard's Dairyman, said that because Grade A producers have to market their surplus production for blended prices for manufacturing a pricing mechanism was created that forced dairymen to continue producing more for less.

He said the blending price technique provided in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1937 had forced Grade A producers to produce manufacturing milk though it was uneconomical to do so in some of the markets.

Prospects Good

He considered prospects good for securing new dairy legislation in Congress.

New board members announced are Clarence Budt of Syracuse and Lee Fairley of Fairbury. Joe Cunningham of York serves as president.

Interstate May Have Saved 30 Lives In Nebraska In 1963

On the basis of U.S. Bureau of Roads figures on the estimated number of lives saved last year by travel on the Interstate Highway throughout the nation, it could be presumed that 30 persons who might otherwise have been killed on Nebraska highways are alive today because of the Interstate.

The bureau has estimated that approximately 3,000 persons who would otherwise have been killed in traffic accidents during 1963—when fatalities reached an all-time high of 43,400—are alive today because of travel on the Interstate.

Approximately 16,600 miles of the system are now open to traffic over the nation. Nebraska has 154 miles of full standard Interstate open, which represents about one per cent of nation's total Interstate mileage, so Nebraska's one per cent share of the lives saved would be 30 persons.

The study found control of access to be the most important single factor contributing to the Interstate's safety record, but the bureau said other design features such as wide lanes, broad medians, easy curvature and grades, and long sight distances also are important to the system's safety.

All Dependents To Leave Gitmo

Washington (AP)—The United States is going to turn the Guantanamo naval base into a strictly military garrison with no wives, children or other dependents.

The Defense Department announced Wednesday that families will be withdrawn gradually over the next two years in line with President Johnson's decision to put the Cuban base on a self-sufficient footing.

"Dependents now on station will be returned to the U.S. at the normal expiration of their sponsors' regular tours of duty," Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester said

No Extensions

"Since all military tours presently are for a period of two years, and no extensions will be granted to persons with dependents on station, there will probably be no dependents remaining on the base by early 1966."

No more families either of military personnel or of civilian employes will be sent to the base, which is now under forced water rationing as a result of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's order cutting off the normal supply.

The water allowance for the 10,500 people on the base—Navy and Marine personnel, civilian workers and their families — was reduced to one-fourth of the usual supply after last Thursday's shut-off.

About 3,000

Of the total number on the base, about 3,000 are listed as dependents.

Their gradual removal was described by Sylvester as "a further step in the process of making the Guantanamo Naval Base entirely self-sufficient, and to improve the garrison posture of the forces there."

He told a news conference that the decision to end family-type living on the base will make Guantanamo "a little more ready."

More Forward

Actually it will make it more of a forward outpost than Korea or Viet Nam. Some dependents are allowed to accompany military men to both of these places, and there are no family restrictions at all on military assignments to Communist-encircled West Berlin.

Sylvester announced that military tours at Guantanamo will be reduced to one year or less in the future, instead of the present two years. "As has been done in the past for unaccompanied military personnel at remote bases." This is intended to minimize the time of family separations

THEY'LL EXCHANGE VOWS

Actor Peter Sellers and his fiancee, Swedish starlet Britt Ekland whom he met just a few weeks ago, hold hands after she arrived in London from New York Wednesday. He's 38; she's 21. She's wearing a 100-year-old engagement ring of gold, rubies and diamonds which Sellers slipped on her finger within 10 minutes of her arrival. He said, "We are hoping to get married next Wednesday."

NSEA District 2 Sessions May Be Shifted To Lincoln

Omaha — District Two of the Nebraska State Education Assn., is considering shifting its convention from Omaha to Lincoln because the Omaha City Auditorium has been rented for next Oct. 29 and 30 by a medical group

An estimated 9,000 would be in Lincoln for the combined convention. District One, which always meets in Lincoln, will hold its main sessions at Pershing Auditorium. District Two would probably hold its main session and display its exhibit at the University of Nebraska coliseum, according to the Lincoln NSEA office.

A poll will be conducted on combining District Two with District One if no suitable Omaha convention site can be found.

A quick sampling showed a 5 to 1 margin in favor of a shift to Lincoln.

Sihanouk Thanks Filipino For His Mediation Efforts

Phnom Penh, Cambodia (AP) —Prince Norodom Sihanouk, who revived attacks on the United States only Tuesday, formally expressed thanks Wednesday for mediation efforts that President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines launched in January.

But a once-expected announcement that Cambodia was ready to accept Macapagal's peace formula failed to materialize.

A communique issued jointly by the Cambodian and Filipino chiefs of state touched briefly on the 3-month-old crisis in relations between Phnom Penh and Washington.

Thanked

Sihanouk thanked Macapagal for his good offices in helping to bring about a settlement of what the communique called certain misunderstandings between Cambodia and the United States.

Macapagal said he hopes Cambodia and the United States will continue friendly relations to "facilitate discussions and the solution of existing problems between them."

Philippine sources said these generalizations were a watered-down version of the original draft of the communique, which contained a much stronger statement on better relations and spelled out the proposed formula

Draft Revised

They said the draft was revised in the light of Sihanouk's remarks to newsmen at Siem Reap Tuesday, in which he renewed charges that Americans were supporting elements trying to overthrow him. The United States, which has cut off aid to Cambodia at Sihanouk's request, denies such charges

Among other things, the neutralist leader declared that planes of the U.S.-backed South Vietnamese government bombed a Cambodian border village Feb. 4 and killed some civilians.

South Viet Nam's Foreign Ministry denied this in Saigon. It suggested a joint investigation by Cambodians and Vietnamese on the spot

Macapagal and Sihanouk reaffirmed their support of the principle that 'all states are on an equal footing in international relations." They said Asian problems should be solved by Asian leaders.

Issuance of the communique marked the close of a summit conference at which Malaysia and the Philippines, who broke diplomatic ties when Malaysia was created from four former British colonies last September agreed to consider establishing consular relations.

B. K. Nehru Will Speak In Lincoln

Ambassador B. K. Nehru of India will keynote a model United Nations program April 24 at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Ambassador Nehru is tentatively scheduled to speak at a public convocation in Taylor gym.

The Indian ambassador to the United States has held his present appointment since September, 1961.

Previously, Ambassador Nehru had served as India's commissioner general for economic affairs in India.

He also represented India at the United Nations general assembly from 1949-52 and served on the U.N. advisory committee on administrative and budgetary questions from 1951-53.

Nehru, a distinguished member of the Indian Civil Service, is described as his country's "economic ambassador."

He began his civil service career in 1934, serving as an under secretary to the Department of Education, Health and Lands and the Department of Finance.

From 1949-54, Nehru was stationed in Washington as executive director of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Lutherans OK 1964 Budget Of $112,000

A 1964 budget calling for expenditures of $112,000 was adopted by the Lutheran Family Service, representing members of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod in Nebraska and Wyoming, at its 72nd annual meeting in Lincoln.

The agency, which has its headquarters in Omaha, had delegates representing 70,000 communicant members in attendance at the meeting.

Arthur Prouty of Omaha, social service chairman, reported that the agency assisted 261 different families in 1963. He said 29 children were placed for adoption, 67 unmarried mothers were served and 85 children were placed in 36 foster homes.

Rupert Kunklau of Fremont, chairman of the board of directors, presided over the sessions.

Elected to the board of directors were Wilbur Stigge of Scribner, Donald Michaels of Omaha, Paul Walwick of Seward, Harold Tompkin of Lincoln, Julius Peters of Norfolk, Fred Mann of Omaha, the Rev. H. Malotky of Waco and the Rev. Fred Falkenroth of Omaha.

NWU Prof Receives Ph.D.-Enabling Post

Prof. Bruce Jensen of Nebraska Wesleyan University has received a National Science Foundation appointment which will permit him to study for a doctorate degree in mathematics at the University of Nebraska.

James Wall, who did his undergraduate work at Knox College and is taking graduate work at the University of Nebraska, will serve as visiting instructor in mathematics while Jensen is on leave.

The agency, which has its headquarters in Omaha, had delegates representing 70 000 communicant members in attendance at the meeting.

Arthur Prouty of Omaha, social service chairman, reported that the agency assisted 261 different families in 1963. He said 29 children were placed for adoption, 67 unmarried mothers were served and 85 children were placed in 36 foster homes.

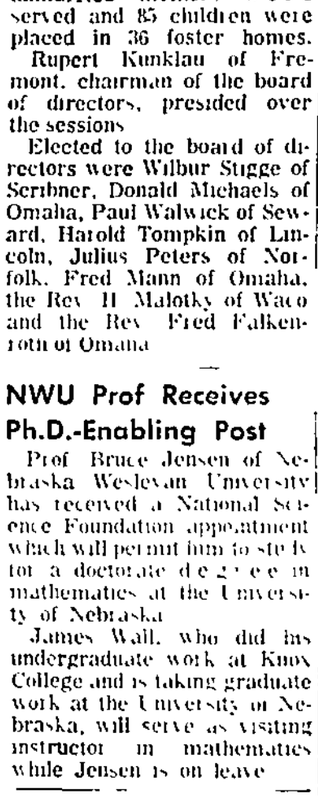

Rupert Kunklau of Fremont, chairman of the board of directors, presided over the sessions.

Elected to the board of directors were Wilbur Stigge of Scribner, Donald Michaels of Omaha, Paul Walwick of Seward, Harold Tompkin of Lincoln, Julius Peters of Norfolk, Fred Mann of Omaha, the Rev H Malotky of Waco and the Rev Fred Falkenroth of Omaha.

Morris Thinks Institutions Change 'Working Out Well'

By CHARLES E. WIESER
United Press International

For many years the three-member Board of Control which administered state institutions and the state's welfare division was frequently enmeshed in controversy.

The periodic explosion of headlines and news dispatches involving the board were sometimes accompanied by editorial and citizen comment that the state needed to reassess its methods of governing both institutions directed by the board and state welfare activities.

The 1957 Legislature took the first step when it approved a bill leading to a vote of the people on a constitutional amendment which authorized the general management and control of state institutions to be vested in something other than the Board of Control. Voters approved the change in the 1958 general election. The 1961 Unicameral abolished the board and established separate departments of institutions and welfare.

'Working Very Well'

Named first director of institutions was George Morris. Looking back on two years of experience with the new system, he said it is "working out very well and we are moving at a more rapid pace toward our desired objectivies."

There were some lifted eyebrows when Morris received the appointment since he had been embroiled in public disagreements with the Board of Control while he served as superintendent of the Men's Reformatory near Lincoln.

There were also some mutterings that it was Gov. Morrison's way of giving thanks to Morris, a Republican, for his support of Morrison, a Democrat, in the gubernatorial campaign.

During Morris's time as director, however, an atmosphere of tranquillity has prevailed in connection with his administration of the office. There has been little, if any, unfavorable comment, and from time to time there have been complimentary editorials in some of the state newspapers.

One of the requirements for the director's job is that he must have at least seven years of administrative experience in institutional work.

Morris believes this leads to a "very obvious" improvement over the old system because, "it is easier for a director experienced in institutional work to make up his mind than it is for a board of three members to do so."

The seven-year requirement contrasts sharply with the old system where no institutional experience was needed to make a person eligible for appointment to the board. Under the former set-up, the governor named the three members, subject to confirmation by the Legislature. No more than two could be from the same political party and each served a six-year term with a new appointment made every two years.

During the 1963 legislative session, Morris requested and received from the lawmakers a new law creating the Nebraska Penal Complex—an administrative merger of the Men's Reformatory and Penitentiary. The complex has been functioning for slightly more than one year and has worked out well, Morris said.

Things To Be Done

With 12 institutions in his depatment, Morris said there are and always will be things that need to be done.

At some of them, he said, "We need to create facilities to make operations better." He said much more construction is needed at the Beatrice State Home "where some buildings are unfit to live in and where construction is also needed to alleviate crowding."

Among other improvements he would like are new hospital facilities at the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Grand Island, and extensive renovation of the kitchen facilities at the Hastings and Norfolk State Hospitals.

Something else Morris would like is increased pay for institutional employes. He noted that hospital ward aides start at $190 a month, which is low for the type of work done on a comparative basis in the communities in which the employes work and live.

Asked to comment on the state retirement law enacted by the 1963 Legislature and which is under attack in Lancaster District Court, Morris said he believes the law "Would help in the long run" because it would give Nebraska an added inducement in attracting workers, "particularly at the professional level."

He said when the state recruits its professional workers "we are competing with every state in the union" and retirement benefits are an important fringe benefit.

Mom: Oswald Was Fall Guy

. . . IN U.S. INTELLIGENCE

Washington (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite Oswald said Wednesday she told the Warren Commission she believes her son was a U.S. intelligence agent who was "set up to take the blame" for President John F. Kennedy's assassination. She said she believes her son was innocent.

The 56-yer-old mother of Lee Harvey Oswald finished three days of testimony to the presidential investigating commission. Then she held an impromptu news conference in which she acknowledged—despite her belief in his innocence—that:

"I realize that as a human being he could be guilty."

But she said she possesses "pertinent evidence" leading her to believe the assassin is still at large.

No Evidence

Chief Justice Earl Warren told newsmen after the hearings, however, that the Fort Worth practical nurse offered no evidence to support her belief that the 24-year-old ex-Marine was a secret agent for the Central Intellignece Agency.

Warren said:

"She contends that her story to us and the correspondence she presented, taken together, lead her to the speculation—I use the word speculation, as she used it—that he was an agent."

Warren said Mrs. Oswald's lengthy testimony provided no facts that would "change the picture as we knew it up to the time she testified."

The bulk of evidence in the commission's hands—including a five-volume FBI report points to Oswald, who became interested in Marxism as a teen-ager, as the lone perpetrator of the assassination in Dallas Nov. 22.

Some Useful

Warren said he believed some of the mother's testimony would be useful, however, and summed up her presentation with this sentence:

"She says she believes her son is innocent, that it is possible that he committed the crime, but that it is possible that other people could have committed it."

The plump, motherly-looking woman went readily to a group of microphones when the hearing ended and immediately began to tell her story in words that gained intensity and rapidity as she went along.

SECRETARIES SHOVEL

Judge Grants Divorce To Henry Ford's Wife

Fairfield, Idaho (AP) — The glamorous, 23-year marriage of industrialist Henry Ford II and his socialite wife, Anne, ended in divorce Wednesday.

Judge Charles Scoggin, of Idaho's 4th judicial district, granted Mrs. Ford, 44, a divorce from her 45-year-old husband on the ground of mental anguish in proceedings that lasted 20 minutes.

The divorce followed by a little over six months the formal announcement of the separation of Ford and his wife, the former Anne McDonnell of Southhampton, Long Island, N.Y.

Ford, chairman of the board of Ford Motor Co., had no comment on the divorce. He was in Detroit for a routine meeting of the company board of directors. An attorney represented Ford at the divorce hearing.

Ford, grandson of the late Henry Ford, has been linked romantically with Italian-born Mrs. Maria Christina Vettore Austin, divorced wife of a British navy officer.

Mrs. Ford has been in virtual seclusion at a cottage at Sun Valley since last December when she established legal residence.

Mrs. Ford arrived at Sun Valley with two children, Charlotte, 22 and Edsel Bryant, 14. The couple's other daughter, Anne, 21, arrived later.

Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the former Mrs. Margaretta Happy) Murphy, obtained a divorce here from her former husband last April 1 before marrying the New York governor. She also stayed at Sun Valley while establishing a residence.

A court statement issued after announcement of the proceedings said:

"The sole custody of their minor child, Edsel Bryant Ford, has been awarded to Mrs. Ford with the usual rights of visitation by his father. All property rights had been settled by agreement at the time of their separation last summer."

Wanted Wrong Chan

Belin (AP) —An East German Communist court has sentenced a railroad worker to 3½ year's imprisonment because he bought devices intended to convert his television set to receive Western telecasts, a private West Berlin intelligence bureau said. Information Bureau West said Walter Trautmann, of Senzig near Berlin, was tried at the end of December. His wife, the bureau added, was sentenced to seven months as an accessory.

It Seams To Me

Questions, Answers

Patricia Scott

Q. I'm confused about French seams. One friend makes them entirely by handstitching from the right side first. Another does half of hers by hand for a finer, narrower seam. Which method is best?—MRS. F. C.

A. A French seam can be done both ways. Figure 1 illustrates the usual way, all by machine. First place the wrong sides together and stitch ⅛ inch from the edge. Turn the seam to the inside and stitch on the normal seam allowance. The second way is to make the first seam by machine and finish it by hand. This is excellent for a very narrow, fine seam and should be used on expensive sheer fabrics, (Figure 2). To do this, place the right sides of the fabric together as you usually do and make a normal seam, taking full seam allowance. Trim one seam allowance to ¼ inch. Turn under the raw edges of the other seam allowance and hem by hand along the machine stitching line.

Q. My hips are about two inches larger than a standard size 12 pattern but my bust is right for it. Should I buy a larger pattern to fit the hips properly and then take in the side seams of the bodice to fit the bust?

—MISS T. O.

A. No. The bust must be adjusted in a more complicated process than just taking in the side seams. Buy your size 12 pattern to fit your bust, and make the pattern alteration on the skirt. This is much simpler than trying to adjust the bust and the shoulder.

☆ ☆ ☆

Q. What heights are used on proportioned patterns?—MISS L. B.

A. The measurements are: short, 5'3" to 5'5"; average, 5'6" to 5'7"; tall, 5'8" to 5'10".

Q. I am allergic to wool and can't wear any of the unlined wool dresses I made before I developed the allergy. I don't want to take them apart and line them and I can't find any slips in the stores that cover the bare areas. Can you suggest any solution? By the way, I don't mind lining the sleeves because I can apply them by hand.—MRS. N. G.

A. I suggest buying a sleeveless sheath pattern, and some nylon (either tricot or taffeta). Then make this sheath, but place the zipper on the right side seam instead of the left so that it won't conflict with dresses that have size zippers.

Q. Can all commercial linings or underlinings be washed? —MISS C. E.

A. Most of them can, but be sure to check the tags or labels that come with the fabrics before purchasing.

It Seams To Me

Questions, Answers

Patricia Scott

Q. I'm confused about French seams. One friend makes them entirely by handstitching from the right side first. Another does half of hers by hand for a finer, narrower seam. Which method is best?—MRS. F. C.

A. A French seam can be done both ways. Figure 1 illustrates the usual way, all by machine. First place the wrong sides together and stitch ⅛ inch from the edge. Turn the seam to the inside and stitch on the normal seam allowance. The second way is to make the first seam by machine and finish it by hand. This is excellent for a very narrow, fine seam and should be used on expensive sheer fabrics, (Figure 2). To do this, place the right sides of the fabric together as you usually do and make a normal seam, taking full seam allowance. Trim one seam allowance to ¼ inch. Plan Glimpse Of Spring Fashions

Although pessimists may argue that fair weather and warm breezes still are for in the future, there will be a short trip Monday evening into what is definitely spring territory.

On Feb. 17 the Independent Women's Association, (IWA), of the University of Nebraska will be sponsoring a style show of spring fashions at the Student Union Ball Room on the University Campus.

Models for the evening will be representatives from independent, sorority, and resident houses, who are working in cooperation with IWA to present the show.

Miss Souders is committee chairman for the show, which will feature clothes designed to lift the February slump of spirits of co-eds.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

PARK MANOR

There seem to be so many days for which people exchange cards. There is New Year's Day, Valentine's Day, Easter, Christmas, Mother's Day, Father's Day, Thanksgiving, and birthdays, not to mention exchanging contemporary cards that need no special day.

All of which brings us around to the subject of—why not cards that suburban homemakers can give to the milkman, mailman, or even the laundry man?

For Valentine's day, the card could read, "Dear milkman, Will you be my Valentine? Two quarts of milk will be just fine."

Some mothers could leave sympathy cards for the babysitter when the children of the family appear to be especially cantankerous. At any rate, exchanging cards is a nice custom, as are the many social affairs in Park Manor.

One Park Manor resident will be absent this weekend when she travels to Manhatten, Kan. for a short visit.

Our future absentee is Mrs. Howard Wittmuss, who will be the weekend guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hoffman. Mrs. Wittmuss will leave Friday and return home Saturday evening.

A winter's vacation in Arizona will be realized Friday for Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Callaway and their children, Michael, Sharon, and Lorie.

The Callaway family will travel to Apache Junction, Ariz., where they will be guests of Mrs. Callaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Keith Hunt.

The Park Manor knitting group met Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Willis Moreland, who was the hostess for a knitting session and informal coffee.

Friday may be the day for hearts, but clubs, spades and diamonds will all vie for the bid at a neighborhood bridge game this evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Mulvaney.

Her guests for a St. Valentine's bridge party are Mrs. Herbert Henry, Mrs. Van Hunn, Mrs. Peter Nichols, Mrs. William Schmidt, Mrs. Wesley Tomhave, Mrs. Leonard Starr, and Mrs. Robe Dollar.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nash and their children, Randy, Steven, and Jeffery, were Mrs. Nash's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jensen, and her brother, Alvin Jensen, all of Platte, S.D. The Nash's guests arrived Saturday and departed for home Monday.

The second winter vacation in Park Manor is the west coast trip of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sikyta, who left Friday for a two week's sojourn.

After a week in Los Angeles, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Sikyta will travel to Las Vegas, Nev., where they will vacation until their return home on Friday, Feb. 21.

We're sure everyone remembers the Orange Bowl game, and if you were one of the lucky ones who were in Miami for the victory, the memory is even more vivid.

For Mr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Kurtz, their whole trip was reviewed Saturday evening, when they were among the group at the Legion Club where movies of the southern vacation were viewed.

Vern Walker, Robert McCracken, Howard Hansen of Lincoln and William Riley of Hickman were the men who shot the Florida footage of film, and were included, with their families, in the group with which Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz traveled to the Orange Bowl game.

Scenes included shots of the game, sightseeing, and the parade.

Wins Club Award

Mrs. Don Weller, president of the Lincoln Mrs. JayCees, was the surprise recipient of an award on Wednesday evening when the organization honored her as the Outstanding Mrs. JayCee of the Year.

Besides her presidency of the Lincoln group, Mrs. Weller has served as state chairman for the Nebraska Mrs. JayCees project of aid to foster children, in which capacity she has traveled throughout the state, and has participated extensively in the organization's many civic and welfare projects including The Cedars, the Miss Lincoln contest, and assistance to the Bretos family from Cuba.

A busy homemaker and the mother of two children, Mrs. Weller has served as chairman of the women's division of the United Fund Campaign and vice president of the Community Chest board of directors.

She has participated in the Mothers March for Crippled Children, and is active in the PTA units of two Lincoln schools. A Camp Fire Girls leader, and director of Blue Bird leader-training, Mrs. Weller also has found time for cultural interests and is a member of the Nebraska Art Association and of the board of directors of the Lincoln Symphony Guild.

Coed To Be June Bride

An announcement of more than usual interest to both Lincoln and campus circles is being made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Marion E. Ball who are revealing the betrothal of their daughter, Penny, to Robert C. Dobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Dobson.

Plans are being made for a wedding on June 14.

A junior at the University of Nebraska Teachers College, Miss Ball is a member of Alpha Phi sorority. Her fiance will be a June graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Engineering. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

News Of Prenuptial Parties

Entertaining in courtesy to a spring bride-elect on Sunday afternoon will be Miss Sonja Aerni, Miss Myra Bunger and Miss Barbara Janecek who will honor Miss Ardyce Beal at an informal party.

Miss Beal, who will become the bride of Donald H. Dillard of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, in March, will be er by the guests.

The bride-to-be, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beal of Beatrice, has chosen Tuesday, March 10, as the date for her wedding, which will take place at Centenary Methodist Church in Beatrice.

Mrs. Harold Mortensen of Raymond will attend her sister as matron of honor, and the bridesmatron will be Mrs. Louis Lostroh of Uvalde, Tex., also Miss Beal's sister. Miss Deborah Mortensen will be her aunt's flower girl, and ringbearer will be Craig Mortensen.

Lighting the candles for the 8 o'clock evening service will be Miss Myra Bunger and Miss Barbara Janecek.

Henry Burkhart will serve Mr. Dillard as best man, and seating the guests will be Curtis Smith, David Averill and Robert Montgomery.

A prenuptial honoree this week is Miss Dianne Bostic, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Bostic, whose marriage to John Gilbert Nelson of Rockford, Ill., will be an event of Saturday, Feb. 22.

Plan Coffee

The alumnae of Delta Delta sorority will meet on Saturday at the chapter house. The meeting will follow a 10 o'clock coffee.

Begin Vision Tests

Thirty alumnae of Delta Gamma sorority met Wednesday morning with Miss Elizabeth Marvin, field representative of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, to begin preparations for a unique community service project.

In cooperation of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, the group will conduct a vision testing series for pre-school and school-age children in the city.

The purpose for the tests is to check on conditions leading to amblyopia ex anopsia (double image), which develop rapidly in children of pre-school age. Children with vision problems will be referred for professional help.

Following spring registration of kindergarten pupils, vision testing will be conducted May 11 to June 3, by the alumnae group which will provide volunteers and financing for the series.

Mrs. Jonathan Waterbury will serve as chairman, and members of the advisory committee are Dr. Roy Statton, Dr. Maynard Wood, Dr. Paul Bancroft, Mrs. Helen Miller, Dr. John Thompson, Dr. Sam Fuenning and Dr. G. R. Underwood.

Her guests for a St. Valentine's bridge party are Mrs. Herbert Henry, Mrs. Van Hunn, Mrs. Peter Nichols, Mrs. William Schmidt, Mrs. Wesley Tomhave, Mrs. Leonard Starr, and Mrs. Robe Dollar.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nash and their children, Randy, Steven, and Jeffery, were Mrs. Nash's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jensen, and her brother, Alvin Jensen, all of Platte, S.D. The Nash's guests arrived Saturday and departed for home Monday.

The second winter vacation in Park Manor is the west coast trip of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sikyta, who left Friday for a two week's sojourn.

After a week in Los Angeles, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Sikyta will travel to Las Vegas, Nev., where they will vacation until their return home on Friday, Feb. 21.

We're sure everyone remembers the Orange Bowl game, and if you were one of the lucky ones who were in Miami for the victory, the memory is even more vivid.

For Mr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Kurtz, their whole trip was reviewed Saturday evening, when they were among the group at the Legion Club where movies of the southern vacation were viewed.

Vern Walker, Robert McCracken, Howard Hansen of Lincoln and William Riley of Hickman were the men who shot the Florida footage of film, and were included, with their families, in the group with which Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz traveled to the Orange Bowl game.

Scenes included shots of the game, sightseeing, and the parade.

Wins Club Award

Mrs. Don Weller, president of the Lincoln Mrs. JayCees, was the surprise recipient of an award on Wednesday evening when the organization honored her as the Outstanding Mrs. JayCee of the Year.

Besides her presidency of the Lincoln group, Mrs. Weller has served as state chairman for the Nebraska Mrs. JayCees project of aid to foster children, in which capacity she has traveled throughout the state, and has participated extensively in the organization's many civic and welfare projects including The Cedars, the Miss Lincoln contest, and assistance to the Bretos family from Cuba.

A busy homemaker and the mother of two children, Mrs. Weller has served as chairman of the women's division of the United Fund Campaign and vice president of the Community Chest board of directors.

She has participated in the Mothers March for Crippled Children, and is active in the PTA units of two Lincoln schools. A Camp Fire Girls leader, and director of Blue Bird leader-training, Mrs. Weller also has found time for cultural interests and is a member of the Nebraska Art Association and of the board of directors of the Lincoln Symphony Guild.

Coed To Be June Bride

An announcement of more than usual interest to both Lincoln and campus circles is being made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Marion E. Ball who are revealing the betrothal of their daughter, Penny, to Robert C. Dobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Dobson.

Plans are being made for a wedding on June 14.

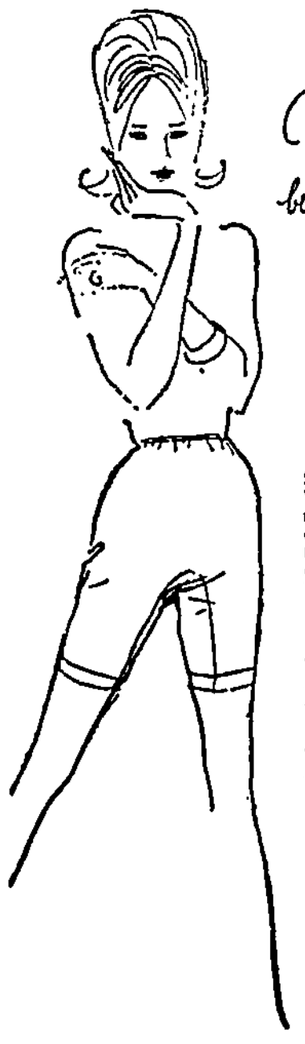

A junior at the University of Nebraska Teachers College, Miss Ball is a member of Alpha Phi sorority. Her fiance will be a June graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Engineering. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Dear Abby

Just Give Him KP Duty, Too

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've just been robbed! My husband has decided to take over the grocery shopping. We are not poor, but HE is going to show ME how to cut corners. He buys perishable food in large quantities and bargain canned goods we will never use. Marketing was my only outing and I really enjoyed being away from him and my three children for an hour or two every Saturday. He says I am welcome to come along (with three children). I say, NUTS! I have seen men marketing and they fall into one of three categories: 1. Henpecked husbands. 2. Bachelors. 3. Penny Pinchers. How can I change his mind?

ROBBED

DEAR ROBBED: He's strutting. It won't last. To bring his corner-cutting experiment to a screeching halt, tell him he who buys the food has to cook it. Hand him the whole assignment, complete with KP. And let the kids climb all over him while YOU read the sports section.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and "M" is 17. "M" is a real doll. I heard that "M" thought I was cute so I managed to be outside the door of his classes whenever I could so he would see me. Then I walked past his house about a dozen times a day, but he still didn't notice me. I did a real dumb thing and wrote him sort of a crazy love letter and stuck it in his locker, but nothing happened. Then one of my friends got the bight idea that I would call him up and tell him I got a message to call him. Well, that bombed, too. I really want this guy. What do I do to attract his attention now that I have made a perfect fool of myself?

PERFECT FOOL

DEAR FOOL: No one is perfect. Leave the poor kid alone.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Regarding that married woman who used to run home and cry on her mother's shoulder every time she and her husband had a little spat. Well, for the first couple of years of my marriage, MY wife used to run home to cry on HER mother's shoulder about once every two months. Then I found out that her mother had been dead for years and my little wife was crying on somebody else's shoulder. Better tell that husband it doesn't hurt to check once in a while.

"DUMPED HER"

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your advice that the married daughter (married to an interior decorator, yet!) should display that hideous $200 gift vase even though it ruins her decorating scheme. If they must keep the vase, they should place a beautiful lettered card beside it saying, "GIFT FROM MOTHER."

SALLY FROM ALEXANDRIA

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Our four-year-old son is not left-handed except when it comes to eating. My husband says for me to leave him alone, but I am trying to encourage him to eat with his right hand because I think it looks so clumsy for a person to eat with his left hand. What do you think?

A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Leave him alone. What's the diference? HIS MOUTH is in the middle.

2 ♦	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♣	Pass

Opening lead — Six of hearts.

A competent defender must do a lot of theorizing about the composition of the unseen hands: Fortunately, he always has clues to go on which depend on the bidding and on how far the play has advanced, and certainly his finding the best method of defense should not be considered a matter of guesswork.

Here is a hand to illustrate the point. East-West are defending against five clubs. It is not difficult for West to find the heart lead, since the reluctance of both North and South to bid no-trump indicates they are likely to have a weakness in that suit.

East wins the heart with the ace and returns the ten. He hopes that partner has the K-J, in which case, if dummy can be forced to ruff a heart, East's queen of clubs will become a trick.

Declarer covers the ten with the queen and West takes it with the king. West does not know at this point that East has the Q-x of clubs, but he can easily figure out that continuing with the jack of hearts if bound to give his side the best chance of defeating the contract.

West comes to this conclusion by assuming that South, who bid clubs three times, is sure to have at least seven of them. Since declarer has already produced two hearts, it follows that South's four unknown cards, whatever they are, are cared for by dummy's two sets of ace-kings.

From West's viewpoint, no advantage can therefore accrue from a trump play at trick three to prevent an illusory ruff. West's best chance is to play on the basis that his partner has the Q-x or J-10 of clubs, in which case the jack of hearts play at trick three is bound to defeat the contract.

If West fails to lead the jack of hearts, declarer makes the contract, but with that lead, South must go down one.

Winter Drought Covers Entire State

Nebraska's winter drought has now persisted for four months in most of the state, a Lincoln Weather Bureau report indicated Wednesday.

January marked the third consecutive month with below normal precipitation in the Panhandle, and the fourth consecutive dry month elsewhere, state climatologist R. E. Myers noted in his monthly review.

In the last four months, southeast Nebraska has received only 45% of the amount of precipitation it normally gets; south central, only 38%; southwest, 48%; east central, 34%; central, 45%; northeast, 36%; north central, 46%, and Panhandle, 73%.

During January, a number of Nebraska points—among them Ogallala, Minden, Paxton and Wauneta—failed to record even a trace of moisture.

The greatest amount received was .72 of an inch at Walthill.

Temperatures during January ranged from a low of 33 degrees below zero at Walthill to highs of 72 at Beaver City and Franklin.

It was the driest January in four years in the Panhandle; in five years in the northeast; in 10 years in the north central, east central and southeast; in 29 years in the south central, and in more than 30 years in central and south central Nebraska.

Lacys New Ministers For Ashland Church

Ashland—The Rev. Howard E. Lacy and his wife, the Rev. Inez Lacy, are the new pastors of the First Congregational church here.

The Lacys are former Nebraska residents, moving from Hyannis to Belen, N.M., five years ago.

Doane Seniors Score High In Graduate Exams

Crete — Some seniors at Doane College who are applying for graduate scholarships to the graduate record exams recently made excellent scores.

John Perry, Lincoln, scored at the 99th percentile in philosophy, and Steve Clark, Sabetha, Kan., scored at the 95th percentile.

Shout Saves Pet Coyote

Falls City (AP)—The "fox" Deputy Sheriff Junior Hollens set out to shoot was in reality a bottle-fed pet coyote, and when the officer raised his rifle to fire it set up a stir at the Paul Olberding household.

"Hey, don't shoot that coyote!" an anguished boy shouted.

Hollens put down his weapon.

The Police Department received a call that a fox was loose in town and Hollens was sent to bag the animal.

With the aid of a predator call, he enticed the animal into range and was ready to shoot when 12-year-old Jim Olberding shouted his lesson in animal identification.

The boy's father found the coyote while hunting last spring. The family raised the animal, starting it on a bottle.

Mrs. Olberding said the coyote, now full grown, romps and plays with the children in the family just like a dog.

The coyote got loose from its chain and collar and was sitting in back of the Olberding home when neighbors spotted it and called police.

Burney Will Speak

O'Neill (AP) — Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney will speak Sunday at the dedication of the Senior Citizens Center here.

Crete — Some seniors at Doane College who are applying for graduate scholarships to the graduate record exams recently made excellent scores.

John Perry, Lincoln, scored at the 99th percentile in philosophy, and Steve Clark, Sabetha, Kan., scored at the 95th percentile.

Shout Saves Pet Coyote

Falls City (AP)—The "fox" Deputy Sheriff Junior Hollens set out to shoot was in reality a bottle-fed pet coyote, and when the officer raised his rifle to fire it set up a stir at the Paul Olberding household.

"Hey, don't shoot that coyote!" an anguished boy shouted.

Hollens put down his weapon.

The Police Department received a call that a fox was loose in town and Hollens was sent to bag the animal.

With the aid of a predator call, he enticed the animal into range and was ready to shoot when 12-year-old Jim Olberding shouted his lesson in animal identification.

The boy's father found the coyote while hunting last spring. The family raised the animal, starting it on a bottle.

Mrs. Olberding said the coyote, now full grown, romps and plays with the children in the family just like a dog.

The coyote got loose from its chain and collar and was sitting in back of the Olberding home when neighbors spotted it and called police.

Burney Will Speak

Of 428,000 annual visitors to Hawaii's five islands a good number are boys and girls—both anxious to meet. For these are the Islands of romance. Home of the hula and the lovely land of love. Oh me, oh my, dear.

"The girls who come out here for vacations," a Waikiki hotel social director told me, "do not come out to learn the hula or the ukulele or to tour Pearl Harbor.

"They come out here to get a man."

This makes the life of the social director interesting. And all hotel social directors spend most of their time planning how to direct people to be social.

"At least 90% of the people meet on the beach," said the social director. "And believe me, I feel sorry for the social directors in those outer islands' hotels.

"Here on Waikiki, a girl has a selection. But if a visiting girl gets stuck at one of those self-contained hotels on the Big Island or on Maui or Kauai, it's just a matter of luck.

"If she's lucky, the hotel is full of unattached men. If she's the unlucky type, the junior executives' convention moves in the day her vacation ends.

"All that tan and the new $22.50 bathing suit gone for nothing.

The first tourists to discover the ever-loving islands were the sturdy British tars with Captain James Cook on the good ship "Discovery."

The word soon spread to whalers and sailors—New England missionaries did their best to discourage things but it was an uphill fight.

Under King Liholiho, ships in Honolulu harbor were put off limits to island girls.

This unlikely legislation happened just as the U.S. Navy ship "Dolphin" arrived in the harbor.

The disappointment of the jolly Jack tars can be imagined.

☆ ☆ ☆

Lieutenant Percival USN, commanding, had no standing orders for this sort of seafaring problem. He did not know what John Paul Jones would have done in such a case.

However, he uncorked the "Dolphin's" cannon and pointed them right at the royal palace.

He offered to toss a few shells into the compound to see if it would change the social direction.

The King changed the law immediately—presumably the surf off Honolulu was soon full of socially directed Hawaiian maidens.

The sailors gave three great "huzzas" for the captain — "Oh, he's a jolly good fellow!" And another glorious page was written in the history of the Navy.

According to the social director, nowhere in the world do people arrive with more expectancy of romance.

"In the first place, the idea of Hawaii as a place of romance has been built up by early travelers. Our advertising people simply took the same story and put it into four-color advertising pages in the national magazines.

"As a consequence, the single girl or boy arrives expecting more or less to be issued a romantic partner along with the welcoming flower lei."

"You do have all the proper accompaniment—I mean the sound of the surf does get you. And the warm nights and the trade wind certainly calls up some feeling that you ought to do something about it.

"But a social director, no matter how good she is, can't just invent an ideal man, one to the customer. But you'd be surprised how many of these girls think you should."

She said what a social director does is arrange the get-together type of entertainment.

"Parties and luaus where everybody eats at one long table. If you can just get everybody mixing, you've got half the battle won."

Pair Ate 'In Hurry' Prior To Abduction

Los Angeles (UPI) — Two of the three accused kidnapers of Frank Sinatra Jr. were identified by a witness Wednesday as eating "in a hurry" across the street from the young singer's Lake Tahoe motel shortly before the abduction last December.

Vera Lou Petrinovich, 20-year-old hostess at Harvey's Wagon Wheel Coffee Shop, said Joseph Clyde Amsler and Barry Worthington Keenan, both 23, spent a half-hour in the restaurant the night the movie star's son was spirited away from the California-Nevada resort of Stateline.

The prosecution contends that young Sinatra was kidnaped by two men the night of Dec. 8—about 9 p.m.—and driven to the Los Angeles area where he was freed unharmed 54 hours later for $240,000 ransom paid by his famous father.

Prosecutor Thomas Sheridan said the crooner's son probably would be lead-off witness Thursday.

Witness No. 15

Miss Petrinovich was government witness No. 15 in the prosecution's effort to refute defense charges that young Sinatra agreed to the abduction as a "publicity scheme" to win fame and money matching his noted father.

The coffee shop hostess said she saw Amsler and Keenan at the Wagon Wheel Hotel on three occasions while she was on duty during the weekend beginning Dec. 6 and said it was her belief that they were staying at the hotel.

She said also that after the kidnaping, two FBI agents had shown her pictures of Amsler and Keenan, and that she had identified them as having been in the coffee shop the weekend of the kidnaping.

Never Saw Third

Under cross-examination by the defense, Miss Petrinovich said she had never seen the third accused kidnaper, John William Irwin, 42.

The prosecution contends that Irwin joined with the two other defendants after the kidnap victim was brought from the Lake Tahoe area to a hideout house in the San Fernando Valley of Los Angeles.

In spite of Miss Petrinovich's testimony, Wes Barkley, assistant hotel manager at the Wagon Wheel, said he could not identify Amsler and Keenans as the two men who registered under the names of "Allen" and "Gardner" at the hotel on Dec. 5.

Doesn't Remember

"One of the men registered for two," Barkley said, "and I don't remember what he looked like."

A federal court order barring news and television photographers from the corridors outside the courtroom was invoked for the first time Wednesday when a deputy U.S. marshal ordered cameramen out.

The order was issued by Chief Federal Judge Peirson Hall prior to the Sinatra trial. Under the ruling photographers are barred from the second floor of the federal building where the courtroom is located.

$1,000 Award To Sidney Library

The Dorothy Canfield Fisher Award of $1,000 will be given to the Sidney library, according to Mrs. Lois W. Collings executive director of the State Commission for National Library Week.

The award given by the Book of the Month Club will be presented to the library on April 9, the beginning of National Library Week, Mrs. Collings said at a commission meeting Wednesday in Lincoln.

The Fisher award is presented to libraries in the United States that extend their services outside their communities, improve their services and have potential for growth and improvement, Mrs. Collings said.

The state commission met at Bennett Martin Library to set plans for the national week and "to get word to the state libraries on what they can do for that week," Mrs. Collings said.

2 Professors To Attend NU

Two more professors from Nebraska colleges will attend the University of Nebraska for one year starting this semester under the Nebraska Cooperative College Teacher Program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

They are Bruce Jensen of the department of mathematics at Nebraska Wesleyan University, and A. R. Longwell, of the department of geography at Kearney State College.

Under the plan, successful applicants from among Nebraska college teachers in the natural or biological sciences, are given the opportunity of attending the University of Nebraska for a year of graduate study. Their institutions continue to pay the professors salaries, and are reimbursed by the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Benjamin W. McCashland, director of the program at the University of Nebraska, said several institutions in the state have replaced their professors with university graduate students for the year the professor spends away from his institution.

Dr. McCashland said Jensen expects to complete his requirements for the Ph. D. degree, and Longwell, to continue work toward his doctorate.

This brings to eight the number of state college professors who are now enrolled in the program, now in the third year of NSF support. The institutions with teachers at the university under the plan include Hasings Colege, Chadron State College, the College of St. Mary (Omaha), Nebraska Wesleyan University and Wayne State College.

Second Semester NWU Enrollment Hits Record High

Second semester enrollment at Nebraska Wesleyan University hit a record 1,202, President Vance Rogers reported Wednesday.

Dr. Rogers said this is 10% over the previous second semester record of 1,096 set last year.

"Much of this increase is due to our improved admissions policy," Rogers said. "We're getting a better quality student in the Fall and have a smaller percentage of dropouts after the first semester."

Enrollment figures include 205 seniors, 212 juniors, 286 sophomores, 396 freshmen and 103 unclassified.

Men number 577, women 625.

Veterans Phillips, Moon Carry Chief Lincoln Hopes

. . . MIDWEST GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNEY OPENS TONIGHT

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Omaha—Lincoln's two most experienced fighters carry the Capital City's chief hopes for championship honors in the Midwest Golden Gloves Tournament here tonight and Friday.

Bantamweigt Eddie Phillips and welterweight Colin Moon are Lincoln's top threats in a tournament likely to be dominated by top-flight Omahans.

Fighters will weigh in at noon today with the first bout scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Civic Auditorium.

Phillips is a three-time Southeast District winner, but has never won a Midwest crown. His toughest competition here is expected to come from Grand Island veteran Leon Roby and Omaha Ringside Boxing Club's Stan Novak Jr.

Nottingham Transfer

Moon has been in the United States only since last fall but already the native of Nottingham, England, has built a boxing reputation in Nebraska rings.

The bearded Midland student owns 28 wins in 33 bouts and has yet to lose since crossing the Atlantic Ocean. He has been knocked down only once, that coming in an exhibition against Omaha's Paul Fisher.

Fisher caught the Englishman with a right hook and dropped him to the canvas, but Moon bounced up before referee Gene Buzzello had a chance to start counting.

An anticipated rematch between Fisher and Moon here may fail to come off. Fisher, who won the welterweight title here two years ago but lost last year to Keith Steffen, is expected to enter the ring as a middleweight when tonight's action starts.

Fisher's decision to go with the 160-pounders may be prompted by the withdrawal of Swanee Lee, one of Omaha's top fighters.

The success of Lincoln's other fighters is expected to be governed by the pairings made at today's weigh-in ceremonies.

Kress In Way

Lonnie Crosby, a 16-year-old who never laced on a pair of boxing gloves until this year, must be rated a contender at 112 pounds. But his fate could depend on how soon he must meet Omaha's Lance Kress.

Jim Blake is another Capital City entry who could go all the way were it not for the presence of Harley Cooper. And you will have trouble convincing the battling Blake that Cooper is invincible.

This season when the reigning national heavyweight champion announced he was fighting at the lighter weight, one fight observer cracker, "Omaha is likely to have the fattest middleweights and skinniest heavyweights in boxing."

Blake Not Swayed

But Blake was one of the few who was not scared out of the 175-pound division by Cooper's decision.

Lincoln will be without an entry in the heavyweight division. Vic Burrell, who won a decision over Stan Grell in the Southeast District finals, has decided not to compete in the Midwest meet.

Omaha will not be competing with out-state teams for the team title. One point will be awarded for each win in the bid for the team championship.

—MAY HIT POCKETBOOKS—

K-State Asks Student Help

Wichita, Kan. (AP)—Efforts to improve Kansas State University's lot in the football wars may hit students in the pocketbook.

President James A. McCain gave his blessing Wednesday night to a proposal to increase student fees $9.50 per year to finance a crash program to beef up K-State's football power.

"Due to our team's own uncompetitiveness, we cannot fill our stadium for a football game and cannot fill other school's stadiums either," he said. "It's going to take money to make us competitive . . .

"My greatest alarm is that, in effect, we are not carrying our share of the financial load in the Big Eight Conference."

The university has 9,100 students this year and a normal enrollment increase is expected to produce $87,000 for the athletic budget through the higher student fees.

The proposal was worked out by a faculty council and had its formal origin in the student-faculty-alumni athletic council. Required action by the student senate is expected within two weeks. The proposal then goes to the State Board of Regents.

McCain emphasized the higher student fees would be temporary. Normal expansion of enrollment and better gate receipts for improved football performances should begin picking up the tab within five years.

School officials see the university's immediate need as 30 more football scholarships to augment 80 available, and one more assistant to bring coach Doug Weaver's staff to seven.

In St. Louis, Weaver described the school's new approach to athletics as "exciting. After 50 years, we're finally going to have the tools for a football program."

Weaver, on a recruiting visit to East Missouri, added: "We're planning on increased budget provisions for recruiting and scholarships as well as for improved facilities."

Anticipated expense above the present year's budget include $20,000 more for recruiting and $41,250 for scholarships and $31,436 more for coaches' salaries.

K-State's athletic program was in the red by $77,000 at the end of last football season. McCain said $110,000 is needed to bring the football program up to the level of other schools in the Big Eight.

The proposed athletic budget for 1964-65 calls for an increase of $148,000.

"We are not going to break rules and we are not going to infringe on unethical practices," McCain said. "We're not out to win championships year after year, breaking even would be enough.

"We want to draw crowds. "I am against excesses in athletics, but unfortunately, athletics affect the whole program of a university."

—Finley, City Officials Still At Odds—

NO DECISION IN K.C.

Kansas City (AP) — A negotiation session between the City Council and President Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics broke up late Wednesday with the two sides still far apart over a lease on Municipal Stadium.

"It ain't gonna be anything but a two-year lease, you can sit here until midnight," Finley said.

His attorneys claimed that the city was taking advantage of him by refusing to budge from at least a four-year lease.

The American League has ordered Finley to sign a lease for his Kansas City Athletics by midnight Friday, or face expulsion from the league.

Mayor Ilus Davis asked Finley, "Would you like to tell us what concessions you've made since Jan. 16?"

"I haven't made any and I'm not going to make any," Finley retorted. With that, the meeting broke up.

A 35-minute closed session involving Finley's two attorneys, the mayor and city attorney produced no new proposals. Adjournment came 15 minutes after that session was finished.

An initial 90-minute meeting brought no progress.

At the outset, Finley proposed a two-year lease, same offer he has been making in recent meetings. The city held out for four years.

After a short recess Mayor Ilus W. Davis and Herbert C. Hoffman, city attorney, held a closed conference with Finley's New York lawyers, Gerald Phillips and George Berger.

The A's owner did not participate in this 35-minute session.

When it broke up, the two sides went into separate conferences.

"Two years or nothing," Finley insisted throughout the preliminary session. He has contended a lease for longer than two years might force him into bankruptcy.

Councilman Sal Capra proposed a four-year lease with a bankruptcy escape clause after the first two years.

"Forget about bankruptcy," Finley said. "It's going to be two years or nothing."

Councilman Victor F. Swyden recalled an attendance clause was the stumbling block when the stadium negotiations began in December.

"Can't we talk about that?" he asked.

"It ain't going to be anything but a two-year lease," Finley responded. "You can sit here until midnight. This is America. I own the club 100%. There is nothing in the American League rules that says I have to sign for any length of time."

Finley is under a directive from the other American League owners to sign a lease with Kansas City by midnight Friday or face expulsion from the league.

Finley's lawyers offered to let Mayor Davis look at the club's books if it would have any bearing on whether the city might come down on its four-year demand.

"If we can prove to you what the losses have been, will you come down?" Berger asked.

"Will you modify your two years and come up?" the Mayor asked.

"It's going to be two years or nothing," Finley said.

The mayor said he doesn't see that the past losses have much to do with the future.

Phillips said the future looks mad for Finley and that's why he can't sign a lease for more than two years.

Pat Friday, A's general manager, went back to the original dispute over basing the stadium rent on attendance figures. Finley originally asked to be excused from paying rent if attendance fell below 950,000, later came down to 900,000. The city wanted to peg it at 750,000.

Friday said the A's are at a disadvantage in competing with other clubs because they get a smaller part of the revenue from concessions and because they can sell television rights for only $345,000 a year — less than a third of what the Yankees get, for example.

He said the only way the club can make up the deficiency is through attendance and he estimated the A's need $1.2 million a year to compete for players.

Mayor Davis said this was ridiculous. He said only four baseball clubs drew that many paying spectators last year. He also said it appears the A's are going to get a break in a new television package which will split the revenue equally among the teams in the league.

The mayor said every time Finley has resumed negotiations his demands have risen.

Omaha's Courcy Leading Knights

Omaha (UPI) — Bob Courcy, Omaha's right wing, continues to lead the Knights in scoring after 52 games.

Courcy, who missed two games because of injuries, has 28 goals and 35 assists for 63 points.

Centerman Doug Senior has taken over the number two spot with 25 goals and 34 assists, good for 59 points. Len Ronson, who missed seven games because of pulled tendons in his knee, dropped to third with 21 goals and 37 assists for 58 points. He is tied with rookie centerman Gary Peters, who has 20 goals and 38 assists.

Omaha To Face Cincy Tonight

Omaha (UPI) — Omaha's Knights return home Thursday for a game against the cellar - dwelling Cincinnati Wings.

The Wings have been the surprise of the week, knocking off the St. Louis Braves and the Knights.

"The Wings were a greatly improved club Monday night in Cincinnati," player-coach Bill McCreary said Wednesday. "They hustled, checked and scored all night long. They have picked up two players from St. Paul and are really looking good."

The Wings tripped the Knights 6-2 Monday night.

Huskers' Matmen Facing Two Foes

Coach Bob Mancuso's Nebraska wrestling team will be without the services of three point winners when the Huskers travel to Colorado and Wyoming for duals — today at Boulder and Friday at Laramie.

Phil McCaffrey, sophomore with a 4-1 record, is sidelined with a broken foot. Steve Wallenz and sophomore Art Raschke were mid-year scholastic casualties.

Nebraska hopes will rest with a pair of sophomore standouts — 123-pound Rick Allgood (4-0), and 157-pound Dennis Kendall (4-0-1).

Cincinnati (AP)—The case of former University of Cincinnati basketball player John Serbin, who was expelled after he was charged with striking a coed, was continued in police court Wednesday until Feb. 20.

The continuance was sought by police, who said color pictures of the bruised face of Carol Ann Schleinitz, 19, would be ready by that date. Serbin was arrested Feb. 3 and charged with assault and battery on Miss Schleinitz during an argument the previous evening.

—SUMMER RACERS CONCEIVED IN JANUARY BLIZZARDS—

More To Stock Cars Than Speeding Around Track

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Have you ever stopped to consider just how much time and money is spent to build the cars you see speeding around Lincoln's race tracks each summer?

The average car costs $3,000 to build and a similar amount to repair and race during the season, according to Jerry Gerdes, safety official and part owner of Midwest Speedways.

And the cars must be rebuilt each year. A new design of car must be styled to keep up with the newest trends of speed and racing.

Cars Smaller

This year most cars will be smaller and lighter to permit better handling and to increase the speed. Owners are striving to lighten their cars to 1,600 pounds or less, almost 600 pounds lighter than last year's average.

Owners start building their cars as soon as the new Nebraska Modified Racing Association rule book comes out the first part of January.

The cars are merely frames weighing 147 pounds, at present and many give the impression that dogs could be harnessed to them for a trip through the Alaskan snow fields

Dogs No Match

But when the Model A bodies and the fuel-injected engines are added, they'll be burning up the track at speeds greater than 90 miles per hour. No dog could do that.

"These cars are built by professionals," stressed Gerdes, "And all possible safety precautions are taken."

The safety features installed in each car are "the best that money can buy." Drivers must wear good helmets and the car must be equipped with safety belts and a shoulder harness to prevent whiplash and back injuries. In addition, a rugged safety seat, heavily padded, is required in each car.

You won't see any of these cars painting the asphalt black while winging their way through traffic on the city streets. Minor necessities such as clutch and starter were left on the work bench making street driving impossible.

Many owners don't think their cars will be ready when the green flag falls May 3, but even if they have to hitch up the dogs, they'll be there.

Veterans Phillips, Moon Carry Chief Lincoln Hopes

. . . MIDWEST GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNEY OPENS TONIGHT

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Omaha—Lincoln's two most experienced fighters carry the Capital City's chief hopes for championship honors in the Midwest Golden Gloves Tournament here tonight and Friday.

Bantamweigt Eddie Phillips and welterweight Colin Moon are Lincoln's top threats in a tournament likely to be dominated by top-flight Omahans.

Fighters will weigh in at noon today with the first bout scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Civic Auditorium.

Phillips is a three-time Southeast District winner, but has never won a Midwest crown. His toughest competition here is expected to come from Grand Island veteran Leon Roby and Omaha Ringside Boxing Club's Stan Novak Jr.

Nottingham Transfer

Moon has been in the United States only since last fall but already the native of Nottingham, England, has built a boxing reputation in Nebraska rings.

The bearded Midland student owns 28 wins in 33 bouts and has yet to lose since crossing the Atlantic Ocean. He has been knocked down only once, that coming in an exhibition against Omaha's Paul Fisher.

Fisher caught the Englishman with a right hook and dropped him to the canvas, but Moon bounced up before referee Gene Buzzello had a chance to start counting.

An anticipated rematch between Fisher and Moon here may fail to come off. Fisher, who won the welterweight title here two years ago but lost last year to Keith Steffen, is expected to enter the ring as a middleweight when tonight's action starts.

Fisher's decision to go with the 160-pounders may be prompted by the withdrawal of Swanee Lee, one of Omaha's top fighters.

The success of Lincoln's other fighters is expected to be governed by the pairings made at today's weigh-in ceremonies.

Kress In Way

Lonnie Crosby, a 16-year-old who never laced on a pair of boxing gloves until this year, must be rated a contender at 112 pounds. But his fate could depend on how soon he must meet Omaha's Lance Kress.

Jim Blake is another Capital City entry who could go all the way were it not for the presence of Harley Cooper. And you will have trouble convincing the battling Blake that Cooper is invincible.

This season when the reigning national heavyweight champion announced he was fighting at the lighter weight, one fight observer cracker, "Omaha is likely to have the fattest middleweights and skinniest heavyweights in boxing."

Blake Not Swayed

But Blake was one of the few who was not scared out of the 175-pound division by Cooper's decision.

Lincoln will be without an entry in the heavyweight division. Vic Burrell, who won a decision over Stan Grell in the Southeast District finals, has decided not to compete in the Midwest meet.

Omaha will not be competing with out-state teams for the team title. One point will be awarded for each win in the bid for the team championship.

January Opens Tucson Defense

. . . TOURNEY BEGINS TODAY

Tucson, Ariz. (AP) — Lanky Don January, who just missed winning top money at San Francisco, opens defense of his Tucson Open golf championship Thursday over a course he burned up a year ago.

The 34-year-old from Dallas won the 1963 title by 11 strokes at 266 for the 72 holes at the 49ers Country Club.

At the Lucky International in San Francisco, a bogey on the 72nd hole kept him from winning and forced the playoff which he lost to Chi Chi Rodriguez.

No champions of 1964 are on hand, a fact which does not make sponsors happy.

Champagne Tony Lema, the Crosby king, withdrew because of illness. Jack Nicklaus left for the east after winning the Phoenix Open championship last Sunday.

Also bypassing the Tucson event are U.S. Open champion Julius Boros and British Open champion Bob Chales.

With Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer among the missing, Gary Player of South Africa remains the only one of the "Big Three" competing at Tucson and even he has problems. Gary had to have his right ear lanced Tuesday to relieve a stopped passage.

Prep Grid Stars Sign NU Letters

Three Nebraska high school linemen are among the prep stars who have signed letters of intent to enroll at the University of Nebraska next fall, the Athletic Department reported Wednesday.

The period for signing intent letters began Tuesday.

The early signers included Tom Kretz of Columbus St. Bonaventure; Leonard Kanarsky of Oakland, Neb., and Jim McCord of Fairbury.

Nebraska Student Fulfills Canadian Dream

. . . ATCHESON GAVE UP FRESHMAN FOOTBALL FOR PRO CAREER

Many students are working their way through the University of Nebraska but Jeff Atcheson is the only one doing it with earnings from two jobs with the Toronto Argonauts—left halfback on offense and corner linebacker on defense.

The switch of being a student and professional football player after not making the grade on the Cornhusker freshman team in 1962 is something Jeff explains with ease:

"The trouble was that I wanted to play with the Argonauts so badly that I couldn't keep my mind on my freshman football work."

Jeff enrolled as an English major at the University this week to resume studies he interrupted last spring. During the interim he signed with the Argonauts and played in 21 games.

"I came out pretty well physically," he reports, happily. "I just lost two front teeth and broke my nose and one little finger."

Originally Jeff came to Nebraska at the suggestion of Argonaut coaches in his native Toronto.

"If I wanted to learn more football, they told me I should go to college in the States—just like if somebody in the States wants to learn hockey, they should come to Canada," he recalls.

He chose Nebraska because of the Devaney football reputation and because Nebraska is very good scholastically, Jeff says.

The way to the professional ranks in Canada's tough, speedy football is different from the usual route in the U.S., Jeff explains.

"School football in Canada doesn't get the attention it gets here, so if you really want to play, you try out for any of a number of amateur teams associated with the professional clubs. While in high school I played with the Sarborough Rams, a suburban amateur team. My big dream has always been to play with the Argonauts."

He had a chance for an Argonaut contract when he graduated from high school but there were complications.

"I would have had to prove myself in four exhibition games and that would have made me a professional, ineligible to play collegiate ball in the States even if I failed to get an Argonaut contract," Jeff declares.

Rather than risk his avenue to college, Jeff stayed out of the exhibition games and enrolled at the University of Nebraska and then reported back to the Argonauts last summer and won his contract. Now he thinks he has a good chance of making it all the way through the University.

"And I want to get a college degree," he says, convincingly. "After all you can't play pro ball forever. The day comes when you get hurt or get too old and when that day comes for me I want to be able to do something else like teach, or maybe advertising."

He has already had a taste of the latter with a Canadian agency.

"What do I do for the agency? Well, I haven't told any of the guys down here but, well, I model — you know, clothes and cars—stuff like that. It pays real well."

NU Baseball Prospects Hold First '64 Workout

Coach Tony Sharpe this week assembled Nebraska baseballers for their first full scale 1964 workout.

"We could be a better team this year, even though our pitching may not be as experienced as it was in 1963," Sharpe said. "It also looks like we may have a little better hitting."

Physician Says Clay Has Edge After Physical

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Beach Boxing Commission doctor who examined Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston said Wednesday both men are in excellent physical condition. But he said he would give Clay the edge "because of his youth, seriousness and character."

"Liston showed signs of nervous tension," the doctor, Alexander Robbins, said. "Liston sort of pushed everyone around a little. Reporters waiting for interviews were given no cooperation."

"Clay has a powerful body," Robbins said, "an unusually muscular body for a man his age. He also has a lot of courage. I would have to give him the edge because of his youth, seriousness and character."

3 Big 8 Cagers Near Point Goal

. . . 1,000 POINTS IN SIGHT

By Associated Press

Ray Carey of Missouri, Jim Davis of Colorado and Willie Murrell of Kansas State all can join the select circle of 1,000-point career scorers in Big Eight basketball by the end of this season.

The 6-foot-8 Davis also is on the verge of making the more exclusive group of players with 800 career rebounds. Davis has 786 with seven games left. He seems certain to surpass the 813 total by Clyde Lovellette, Kansas '52 and has a chance to edge past Wilt Chamberlain, Kansas '58, who grabbed 877.

Bill Bridges, Kansas '61 is the Big Eight career leader with 1,081 rebounds. He is the only man out of reach for Davis.

Davis is the league's No. 3 scorer with a 17.7 average for 18 games and appears certain to reach the 1,000-point career mark. He needs only 35 more points.

Carey has 876 career points and the 6-foot-7 Missouri senior needs a 17.7 average through his last seven games. He is currently the No. 2 scorer with an 18.5 average and should make it.

Murrell is the league's top scorer with a 21.3 average this season but he'll need a 21.7 pace through the final games to make it. Murrell is a junior college transfer and is playing just two seasons.

The Big Eight's circle of 1,000-point scorers has 22 members. The first member was Charlie Black, Kansas '47. Lovellette's 1,979 total heads the list, but Chamberlain's 29.8 average for two seasons betters Lovellette's 24.7. Bob Boozer, Kansas State '59, is next with 21.9 for three seasons, followed by Wayne Hightower, Kansas '61, 21.3 for two years.

Should Murrell reach 1,000 points by the end of regular season play, he'll be only the fifth man with a 20-point career average.

Missouri's Bob Price is fourth in all-games scoring with 17.1, George Unself of Kansas fifth at 16.7 and Larry Hawk of Oklahoma State sixth with 16.5. Price will fall short of the 1,000 mark because of a nine-game sophomore season, but Unseld and Hawk appear certain to join the list next season. Unseld already has 750 and Hawk 626.

Jim Gatewood of Oklahoma and Jim King of OSU have a chance and King has a good chance to make 800 rebounds.

Davis is high among the leaders in career rebounding average with his 11.2 mark. Chamberlain's average of 18.3 a game is best. Bridges averaged 13.9 for his career, Hightower 10.8 and Lovellette 10.2.

New Yorker Asks Count Reduction For Knockouts

Albany, N.Y. (AP) — "Four, five, six, you're out!" the boxing referee would say if Assemblyman Michael J. Capanegro, a New York Democrat, has his way.

"There is no reason or logic for the 10-second rule," said Capanegro. "If a boxer is knocked down for a count of six, or six seconds, his opponent has already bested him."

Capanegro said the bill he introduced in the New York State Legislature Wednesday also provides that if a boxer rises before the count of six, the referee must not permit the fight to continue until the count of eight.

The assemblyman, who was a school athlete, said most serious injuries result from their foggy condition after a knockdown.

New Yorker Asks Count Reduction For Knockouts

Albany, N.Y. (AP) — "Four, five, six, you're out!" the boxing referee would say if Assemblyman Michael J. Capanegro, a New York Democrat, has his way.

"There is no reason or logic for the 10-second rule," said Capanegro. "If a boxer is knocked down for a count of six, or six seconds, his opponent has already bested him."

Capanegro said the bill he introduced in the New York State Legislature Wednesday also provides that if a boxer rises before the count of six, the referee must not permit the fight to continue until the count of eight.

The assemblyman, who was a school athlete, said most serious injuries result from their foggy condition after a knockdown.

Palmer Says Golf Needs Boss

. . . CALLS CURRENT SQUABBLE 'RIDICULOUS'

New York (AP) — What pro golf needs, says Arnold Palmer, are fewer tournaments and a "big man" to run them.

Also, the fairway Croesus from Latrobe, Pa., added Wednesday, the current television squabble between the sponsors and players is ridiculous and could not occur if the game were placed in the hands of a single, strong executive.

"We need a man such as Joe Dey, executive director of the U.S. Golf Association to administer our affairs," Palmer said, in reviewing the broad and turbulent picture of his chosen profession. "He should be an executive, with power to make decisions, such as on this television question.

"It is ridiculous to put such important decisions in the hands of a players' committee. Jay Hebert chairman of the players' committee shouldn't be making decisions and announcements on long range policy. Our players' committees change from one year to the next."

Palmer said the tour needed a director with broader powers than those now vested in Jim Gaquin, the present nominal head of the tour.

"Don't misunderstand me, Jim is a very fine guy and quite capable in his field," he added. "But he is a newspaperman. His field is public relations. He knows little about the actual operations of the tour."

"With 30 tournaments, I think all the top players would play in all of them, or virtually all of them. I know I would. With more than that, it is necessary to lay out at times for rest and practice, and this agitates sponsors.

"I don't mean there couldn't be more than 30, but there should only be 30 approved events. Others could be held on a non-sanctioned basis, a sort of secondary tour, if the players wanted it."

Palmer was the leading money winner last year with a record $128,230 although he didn't win any of the big four championships — the Masters, British and U.S. Opens and PGA. But he picked his spots, skipping some of the minor events. Sponsors complain that when they don't have players of the stature of Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player their tournaments suffer.

Palmer, in town to add a laundry and dry cleaning business to his mushrooming enterprises, frankly discussed the ticklish issue threatening to drive a wedge between the tournament player and the men who put up the money.

The players are demanding rights to the television money. The sponsors contend this should be part of their revenue.

Palmer hasn't chosen sides in the dispute, but currently he seems more in the corner of the sponsors.

Gable Appointed To Game Position

Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday announced the appointment of Martin Gable of Scottsbluff to the State Game Commission to succeed Wade Ellis of Alliance whose term expires this year.

Gable's appointment will become effective March 15, Morrison said. Commission members' terms are five years, and they cannot be reappointed.

Gable, a Democrat, is a farmer at Scottsbluff. Ellis, also a Democrat, is an attorney.

Pickett's 14th Season

Bob Pickett, former Eastern Intercollegiate 175-pound wrestling champion, is in his 14th season coaching Harvard's matmen.

NU Cagers Show Improvement

The surprising Nebraska basketball team has shown steady improvement since finishing last in the preseason tournament in Kansas City.

Going into the league race the Huskers stood 1-9 but have since improved the mark to 6-12 over-all and 4-3 in conference play.

Nebraska is in fourth place behind Oklahoma State, Kansas State and Colorado with 5-2 records.

In explaining the Huskers' recent successes, coach Joe Cipriano said, "We feel that our players are getting more confidence in the type of game we use. Our offense and defense are now becoming second nature to them."

He added: "I think this is a problem of all coaches in their first year" when explaining the change of philosophy from last year.

Nebraska, which upset Oklahoma State, 54-53, Monday, will tackle Colorado here Saturday. A Nebraska victory would give both clubs 5-3 conference marks.

Cipriano has indicated he will probably start the same five who opened against Oklahoma State. That would be Charlie Jones and Grant Simmons at guards; Jim Yates at center and Jerry Spears and Daryl Petsch at forwards. The coach said, however, he might start 6-6 Coley Webb at one of the forward spots and 6-7 Bob Antulov at center.

Naviaux Gets Job As Boston Coach

Boston (UPI)—Larry Naviaux, former University of Nebraska football star, was named offensive backfield coach at Boston University.

The 27-year-old native Nebraskan served as an assistant to Nebraska freshman coach Warren Schmakel when Schmakel was on the Husker staff. Naviaux earned Big Eight recognition as a halfback for Nebraska.

For the past three seasons, Naviaux has been offensive backfield coach and baseball coach at Southwestern Louisiana University.

Nebraskan Snyder Inks Pact With Baltimore

Baltimore (AP) — Russ Snyder, Baltimore outfielder and a native of Oak, Neb., signed his 1964 baseball contract with the Orioles Wednesday.

Snyder, 29, batted .256 last season, his fifth in the major leagues. The Nebraskan hit .432 against the pennant-winning New York Yankees.

Ghana Boots Yank Law Faculty Dean

Accra, Ghana (UPI)—Dr. William B. Harvey, American Dean of the Ghana University law faculty, was expelled from Ghana Wednesday on charges of subversive activities against the government of President Kwame Nkrumah.

He was the most prominent of six university staff members, including three other Americans, ordered expelled last week by the government. The others also were accused of "subversive activities prejudicial to the security of the state." They departed Saturday.

Harvey was permitted to remain past the Saturday deadline because of illness. He left by plane for London.

The 41-year-old Harvey came to Accra in September 1962 on leave from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor at the request of the Nkrumah government.

His departure left 23 Americans on the university staff.

Harvey emphatically denied the charges.

"My exclusive interest in Ghana has been the university and the welfare of the university will continue to be my interest," he said before leaving.

U.S. Ambassador William P. Mahoney was summoned back to Washington last week for consultations on the anti-American campaign incited by Nkrumah's Convention People's Party.

Informed travelers arriving in London from Accra said Ghana University officials are fighting desperately behind the scenes to maintain traditional academic freedoms.

In Vain

. . "They fought vainly to prevent the government's expulsion of the six lecturers," the travelers said.

The sources said the Ghana government is considering new legislation which is likely to determine whether the university will continue to enjoy academic freelom.

On the basis of articles in the government - controlled press, they said there would appear to be intentions to remodel the university of Marxist lines. But the decision will be up to Nkrumah, who holds the post of chancellor and thus is titular head of the university.

Would-Be Killer Of French Chief Gets More Years

Paris (AP) —A man serving a life sentence for the 1962 assassination attempt against President Charles de Gaulle Wednesday was given an additional four-year prison term.

Alain Bougrenet de la Tocnaye was convicted of plotting against the security of the state and of possessing arms. The charge was filed against him prior to the unsuccessful machine-gun ambush of De Gaulle in August 1962.

Sunday Hours At Downtown Library Eyed

Lincoln Library Board Director Charles Dalrymple will seek authorization from the City Council to have Bennett Martin Library open from 2 to 6 p.m. Sundays.

The City Council will also be asked if the cost of keeping the library open on Sunday will be budgeted in future appropriations, the Library Board reported at its meeting Wednesday.

Dalrymple and board members feel the Sunday openings are possible on the present budget because funds from the vacant administrative assistant's post are available.

But the board added that if the Sunday openings would appear to put the board over its 1963-64 appropriated budget, the openings would be discontinued.

To accompany the action, the board voted to close all branch libraries at 6 p.m. Fridays to aid the Sunday opening.

THREE CRAWL TO FREEDOM

Bad Hersfeld, Germany (AP) —A 15-year-old girl, an 18 year-old man and a man of 22 crawled unharmed across the Iron Curtain border from East Germany.

The two younger ones, who came together, told West German police they did not know the Communists had mined the frontier.

POPE CALLS FOR PRIESTS TO FIGHT LEWDNESS, CONFUSION

Vatican City (AP)—Pope Paul VI called on priests of the Roman Catholic Church Ash Wednesday to fight lewdness and spiritual confusion in today's world.

His forehead marked with the gray ash cross for the start of Lent, the pontiff said that if anti-religious ideas should prevail "it would be the ruin of freedom and perhaps of prosperity."

The Pope spoke to 300 preachers of Roman churches assembled in the Sistine Chapel. He told them that modern life has become characterized by doubts, scandals and spiritual confusion.

"Ideals are in crisis," he said. "Philosophy has been replaced by calculations of immediate utility. Fears that things are worsening, as if this were inevitable, overcome the spirit while spiritual and moral gains no longer are in fashion.

"The sword of the spirit seems to have been left in the scabbard of doubt and spiritual confusion. Exactly for this reason, the message of the religious truth must be made to resound with the greatest strength."

Pope Paul went to the Sistine Chapel after marking the start of the 40-day Lenten period in a ceremony in his private chapel. There his forehead was daubed with the sign of the cross in the ash burnt olive branch, symbolizing that earthly life is fleeting. He celebrated mass attended by close aides. In his speech, the Pope said:

"Public morality (is) every day doubly offended by miserable scandals of bad customs and by publicity which spreads them (scandals) and makes pasture of those openly moral spectacles which dishonor art, corrupt people, ignore the secret character of life and what is worse, offend the law of God."

Pope Paul told the priests they had an urgent and grave task to stimulate better ideals and better goals.

He told them that he warned about these aspects of modern life so that responsibility for "such poisonous and increasing lewdness" should not fall on the church.

Must Not

"We must not allow that our people, still so rich in goodness and religion and still so full of fear from the tremendous and tragic experiences of the past wars, cede by weakness of spirit and by false materialistic calculations to anti-religious ideologies."

Later, at an audience for several hundred Italians and foreign tourists, the Pope mentioned critics of Christianity and then declared:

"Christianity is a school of moral energies and self-control. It is an initiation toward courage and heroism."

Chinese Students Plan To Celebrate New Year Friday

The Chinese New Year will be celebrated in Lincoln Friday night at a "Year of the Dragon" Show—open to the public— at the University of Nebraska Union Ballroom.

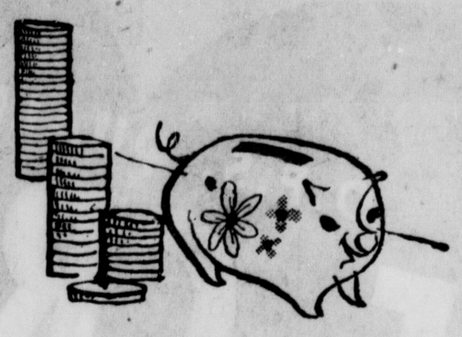

Sponsored by the Chinese Students Association, the program will begin at 7:30 p.m., run for 70 minutes, and will feature Oriental dances, folk songs, some Chinese boxing and a colorful film, according to Paul Nuo-pao Chow, president of the association.

Speakers will be Dr. Orvin C. Burnside, advisor to the Chinese Student Association, and Leslie F. Sheffield, foreign student advisor.

Among Chinese throughout the world, the advent of the lunar New Year, which comes with the first new moon after the sun enters the sign of Aquarius, is the signal for a three day celebration.

POPE CALLS FOR PRIESTS TO FIGHT LEWDNESS, CONFUSION

Vatican City (AP)—Pope Paul VI called on priests of the Roman Catholic Church Ash Wednesday to fight lewdness and spiritual confusion in today's world.

His forehead marked with the gray ash cross for the start of Lent, the pontiff said that if anti-religious ideas should prevail "it would be the ruin of freedom and perhaps of prosperity."

The Pope spoke to 300 preachers of Roman churches assembled in the Sistine Chapel. He told them that modern life has become characterized by doubts, scandals and spiritual confusion.

"Ideals are in crisis," he said. "Philosophy has been replaced by calculations of immediate utility. Fears that things are worsening, as if this were inevitable, overcome the spirit while spiritual and moral gains no longer are in fashion.

"The sword of the spirit seems to have been left in the scabbard of doubt and spiritual confusion. Exactly for this reason, the message of the religious truth must be made to resound with the greatest strength."

Pope Paul went to the Sistine Chapel after marking the start of the 40-day Lenten period in a ceremony in his private chapel. There his forehead was daubed with the sign of the cross in the ash burnt olive branch, symbolizing that earthly life is fleeting. He celebrated mass attended by close aides. In his speech, the Pope said:

"Public morality (is) every day doubly offended by miserable scandals of bad customs and by publicity which spreads them (scandals) and makes pasture of those openly moral spectacles which dishonor art, corrupt people, ignore the secret character of life and what is worse, offend the law of God."

Pope Paul told the priests they had an urgent and grave task to stimulate better ideals and better goals.

He told them that he warned about these aspects of modern life so that responsibility for "such poisonous and increasing lewdness" should not fall on the church.

Must Not

"We must not allow that our people, still so rich in goodness and religion and still so full of fear from the tremendous and tragic experiences of the past wars, cede by weakness of spirit and by false materialistic calculations to anti-religious ideologies."

Later, at an audience for several hundred Italians and foreign tourists, the Pope mentioned critics of Christianity and then declared:

"Christianity is a school of moral energies and self-control. It is an initiation toward courage and heroism."

Chinese Students Plan To Celebrate New Year Friday

The Chinese New Year will be celebrated in Lincoln Friday night at a "Year of the Dragon" Show—open to the public— at the University of Nebraska Union Ballroom.

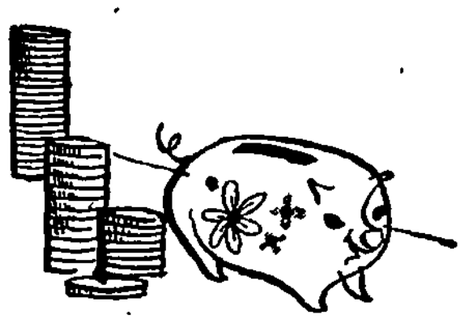

Sponsored by the Chinese Students Association, the program will begin at 7:30 p.m., run for 70 minutes, and will feature Oriental dances, folk songs, some Chinese boxing and a colorful film, according to Paul Nuo-pao Chow, president of the association.

Speakers will be Dr. Orvin C. Burnside, advisor to the Chinese Student Association, and Leslie F. Sheffield, foreign student advisor.

Among Chinese throughout the world, the advent of the lunar New Year, which comes with the first new moon after the sun enters the sign of Aquarius, is the signal for a three day celebration.

Baker's Best For Dandruff–Itchy Scalp

DuBOIS, Nebr. — Mrs. Arthur L. Lang says: "I am glad I tried Baker's Hair Tonic. Before, I had tried so many different shampoos and tonics I was about to give up. Now, I won't be bothered with dandruff and itchy scalp anymore." It's easy and pleasant to use, not messy or greasy. For years it has been tops for dandruff and itchy scalp. Now, it's better than ever. A new ingredient makes it even more effective. You'll like Baker's, or money back.

Aten Of Holdrege Sued For $50,000

A $50,000 personal injury suit against Leslie C. Aten of Holdrege was filed in U.S. District Court by an Iowan.

Vestine Pollard alleges she was injured in a July 26, 1962, automobile accident on U.S. 6 near Minden when a car, driven by her husband Richard collided with one driven by Aten.

Beermann 'No' Vote 'Typical'

Democratic State Chairman Russell Hanson said Republican Rep. Ralph Beermann's vote against the civil rights bill was "a typical 'Mr. No-Man' vote."

The First District congressman "has once again definitely shown his negative attitude toward progress," Hanson declared.

Beermann was the only member of Nebraska's three-man House delegation to oppose passage of the civil rights measure.

"He has voted once again to stop progress," Hanson said.

The Newcastle businessman said he has not yet decided whether to seek another term as state chairman, and will not decide "until after we have filled the Democratic primary ticket with candidates."

Link Between Strangling Of Monterey Motel Maid, 3 Bay Area Murders Sought

. Monterey, Calif. (AP) —Investigators sought a possible link Wednesday between the strangulation of an 18-year-old motel maid and three recent killings which terrified the San Francisco Bay area, 125 miles away.

Officers in all three areas involved doubted there was a connection. But they planned to remove all doubt, or find a possible link if it exists, just as the previous killings had been checked for a connection with Boston's series of strangulations.

Sees No Link

Capt. Darol Smith of the Monterey County sheriff's office said he saw no connection between her death and those in the Oakland area.

The method of attack appears to be considerably different, he said, from the slaying of an Oakland Mother-of-the-Year and the suffocation of the wife of a San Pablo police sergeant.

Oakland Homicide Capt. Alvin King saw no obvious connection with the strangulation Jan. 22 of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Martin, 43, Oakland Mother of the Year, and her attractive daughter, Carolyn, 18. They were killed in their home and hogtied. Carolyn was stripped of her undergarments and sexually molested but not raped.

Nevertheless Capt. King arranged to "check it out to see if there is anything similar."

Fifteen miles from Oakland in San Pablo, Police Chief Walter Pedretti said there is no indication now of a link with the Jan. 27 suffocation of Mrs. Amanda Jane Stapleton, 42, wife of a police sergeant who was on duty at the time. She was killed at home and was not assaulted.

'Certain Data'

But Pedretti said he would seek "certain information and if there is any indication of a tie-in at all we will send someone down."

The Oakland and San Pablo killings terrified women. Pounds were swamped with requests for watchdogs. Hardware stores had a run on chain locks and slide bolts.

Police departments of both cities were without live clues. They continued a methodical check of acquaintances of the slain women and the areas in which they lived.

Police departments of cities on and around the Monterey Peninsula joined in questioning anyone who might be linked with strangulation of Miss Morritz.

CHOKING INTERESTS BOSTONIANS

Boston (AP)— Reports of a fourth unsolved strangling in California stirred more than casual interest in Boston Wednesday, in spite of geographical separation of nearly 3,000 miles.

Especially interested was a group of men in the office of Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke. They are charged with coordinating the efforts of eastern Massachusetts police trying to solve the strangulations of 11 women in the past 20 months.

Jerry Sadow, an aide in Brooke's office, said: "We'd like to hear from the police of the San Francisco Bay area. How are they coming along in their investigations? Is there any assistance we can give them?"

Sadow said a professional kinship exists between the police of the East and West Coasts because of the stranglings —"although any connection between the two sets of slayings is highly unlikely."

Although no arrests have been made in any of the 11 Massachusetts stranglings, police have accumulated four large file cabinets of investigative reports.

Eight of the slayings were in Boston and one each was in the cities of Lynn, Salem and Lawrence, all just north of Boston.

Until three weeks ago, each police department worked independently of any of the others in the slayings.

Last month, in the face of public criticism over lack of arrests, Brooke formed a coordinating commission of high police officials and put one of his assistants, John S. Bottomly, in charge.

A computer is being used, Brooke said.

Bottomly explained that use of the computer would enable investigators to create a psychological profile of the killer or killers as an investigative aid.

The attorney gneeral's office — using private funds— even went so far as to engage the services of Peter Hurkos, 52, who claims extrasensory perception, in their efforts to nab the killer or killers.

A few days after leaving Boston, Hurkos was arrested in New York on charges of impersonating an FBI agent in Wisconsin. He said it was all a misunderstanding.

Most of the women victims in Massachusetts were strangled with items of their own clothing — nylon stockings, a brassiere, an underslip.

Nearly all had been sexually molested. All but two lived alone. The other two had roommates who were not at home at the time. In no case was there any evidence of forced entry.

An aide in the attorney general's office said, "The slayings on the West Coast seem to show many similarities to ours, but they could be as wide apart in any connection as the mileage between the two coasts."

Head Of Hair Fated To Go

Memphis (AP) — It may take a century or more, but both man and woman eventually will go through life bald, a dermatology specialist said Wednesday.

Dr. James W. Burks, professor of clinical medicine at Tulane University, told the Mid-South Postgraduate Medical Assembly that the tendency to baldness is inherited and triggered by the male sex hormone androgen.

"Eventually, all women will be bald, too," he said. "Hair on the head is no longer useful but purely ornamental. It may take 100 years or so, but it's destined to go."

Beermann 'No' Vote 'Typical'

Democratic State Chairman Russell Hanson said Republican Rep. Ralph Beermann's vote against the civil rights bill was "a typical 'Mr. No-Man' vote."

The First District congressman "has once again definitely shown his negative attitude toward progress," Hanson declared.

Beermann was the only member of Nebraska's three-man House delegation to oppose passage of the civil rights measure.

"He has voted once again to stop progress," Hanson said.

The Newcastle businessman said he has not yet decided whether to seek another term as state chairman, and will not decide "until after we have filled the Democratic primary ticket with candidates."

Link Between Strangling Of Monterey Motel Maid, 3 Bay Area Murders Sought

. Monterey, Calif. (AP) —Investigators sought a possible link Wednesday between the strangulation of an 18-year-old motel maid and three recent killings which terrified the San Francisco Bay area, 125 miles away.

Officers in all three areas involved doubted there was a connection. But they planned to remove all doubt, or find a possible link if it exists, just as the previous killings had been checked for a connection with Boston's series of strangulations.

Latest victim was Barbara Jane Morritz, strangled by her own brassiere. Officers said she apparently was raped.

Her half-nude body was found Tuesday on a lonely road between Monterey and Salinas.

Sees No Link

Capt. Darol Smith of the Monterey County sheriff's office said he saw no connection between her death and those in the Oakland area.

The method of attack appears to be considerably different, he said, from the slaying of an Oakland Mother-of-the-Year and the suffocation of the wife of a San Pablo police sergeant.

Oakland Homicide Capt. Alvin King saw no obvious connection with the strangulation Jan. 22 of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Martin, 43, Oakland Mother of the Year, and her attractive daughter, Carolyn, 18. They were killed in their home and bogtied. Carolyn was stripped of her undergarments and sexually molested but not raped.

Nevertheless Capt. King arranged to "check it out to see if there is anything similar."

Fifteen miles from Oakland in San Pablo, Police Chief Walter Pedretti said there is no indication now of a link with the Jan. 27 suffocation of Mrs. Amanda Jane Stapleton, 42, wife of a police sergeant who was on duty at the time. She was killed at home and was not assaulted.

'Certain Data'

But Pedretti said he would seek "certain information and if there is any indication of a tie-in at all we will send someone down."

The Oakland and San Pablo killings terrified women. Pounds were swamped with requests for watchdogs. Hardware stores had a run on chain locks and slide bolts.

Police departments of both cities were without live clues. They continued a methodical check of acquaintances of the slain women and the areas in which they lived.

Police departments of cities on and around the Monterey Peninsula joined in questioning anyone who might be linked with strangulation of Miss Morritz.

She disappeared Sunday night after leaving two girl friends at a Salinas bus station. She was killed Sunday night or early Monday.

CHOKING INTERESTS BOSTONIANS

Boston (AP)— Reports of a fourth unsolved strangling in California stirred more than casual interest in Boston Wednesday, in spite of geographical separation of nearly 3,000 miles.

Especially interested was a group of men in the office of Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke. They are charged with coordinating the efforts of eastern Massachusetts police trying to solve the strangulations of 11 women in the past 20 months.

Jerry Sadow, an aide in Brooke's office, said: "We'd like to hear from the police of the San Francisco Bay area. How are they coming along in their investigations? Is there any assistance we can give them?"

Sadow said a professional kinship exists between the police of the East and West Coasts because of the stranglings —"although any connection between the two sets of slayings is highly unlikely."

Although no arrests have been made in any of the 11 Massachusetts stranglings, police have accumulated four large file cabinets of investigative reports.

Eight of the slayings were in Boston and one each was in the cities of Lynn, Salem and Lawrence, all just north of Boston.

Until three weeks ago, each police department worked independently of any of the others in the slayings.

Last month, in the face of public criticism over lack of arrests, Brooke formed a coordinating commission of high police officials and put one of his assistants, John S. Bottomly, in charge.

A computer is being used, Brooke said.

Bottomly explained that use of the computer would enable investigators to create a psychological profile of the killer or killers as an investigative aid.

The attorney general's office — using private funds— even went so far as to engage the services of Peter Hurkos, 52, who claims extrasensory perception, in their efforts to nab the killer or killers.

A few days after leaving Boston, Hurkos was arrested in New York on charges of impersonating an FBI agent in Wisconsin. He said it was all a misunderstanding.

Most of the women victims in Massachusetts were strangled with items of their own clothing — nylon stockings, a brassiere, an underslip.

Nearly all had been sexually molested. All but two lived alone. The other two had roommates who were not at home at the time. In no case was there any evidence of forced entry.

An aide in the attorney general's office said, "The slayings on the West Coast seem to show many similarities to ours, but they could be as wide apart in any connection as the mileage between the two coasts."

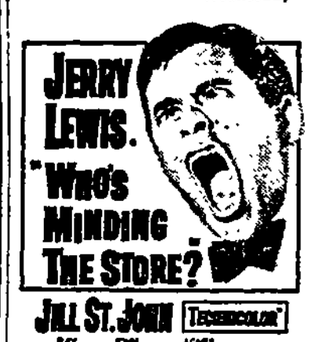

Head Of Hair Fated To Go

Memphis (AP) — It may take a century or more, but both man and woman eventually will go through life bald, a dermatology specialist said Wednesday.

Dr. James W. Burks, professor of clinical medicine at Tulane University, told the Mid-South Postgraduate Medical Assembly that the tendency to baldness is inherited and triggered by the male sex hormone androgen.

"Eventually, all women will be bald, too," he said. "Hair on the head is no longer useful but purely ornamental. It may take 100 years or 60, but it's destined to go."

AT&T Gift To Shareowners Boosts Mart

New York (AP) —A windfall gift to American Telephone's 2¼ million shareowners accompanied a renewed stock market advance Wednesday. The popular averages made historic highs once again.

The gift to AT&T's stock-owning family—the world's greatest—came in the form of rights to buy one share of AT&T common for each 20 held. The price for the new share is $100. Since "Telephone" common closed Wednesday at 148½, an historic high, the rights were valuable.

By the close of the New York Stock Exchange, the rights were quoted at 2⅜ and the trading in them totaled a mighty 3,375,900.

AT&T common was the most-active stock, an unusual distinction for this high-priced issue. It rose 2½ on turnover of 130,200 shares.

Volume rose to 4.64 million shares from Tuesday's 4.05 million.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.66 to its newest peak of 794.82.

Strong groups included airlines, cigar manufacturers, savings-and-loan holding companies and office equipments.

Big Three motors were all higher. Rails, with some big gainers, ended mixed. Steels, oils and cigarette stocks were generally lower. Drugs advanced.

The Associatetd Press average also went to another new peak, rising .6 to 294.7 with industrials up .6 to a record high, rails off .1 and utilities up .7.

Of 1,314 issues traded, 582 rose and 452 fell. Highs for the year totaled 46 and lows 6.

Chrysler was up 1¼ to 42 on 100,400 shares.

New York Central made a high for the year and advanced 1 to 32½. Chicago & North Western was up 1¼.

San Diego Imperial, up ⅛ at 11⅞, was the most-active of the savings-and-loans. United Financial of California rose 1½, Financial Federation and Great Western Financial 1⅛ each.

Cigarette stocks were soft amid reports of declining tax receipts for cigarettes.

Xerox slipped 1⅛ in active dealers. Among other high-priced issues, IBM gained 4, Polaroid 3¾ and Control Data 2½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange moved generally higher.

Corporate bonds were irregular. Dealers in U.S. government bonds were closed for Lincoln's Birthday.

Grain Prices Finish Lower

Chicago (AP) — Prices finished lower in the grain futures market Wednesday for the third successive day of moderate liquidation with all oats contracts and September and December rye at season lows.

Losses ranged to a cent or more in corn, oats and soybeans and to major fractions in wheat. March wheat closed with a small advance and rye about steady.

Pressure in the feed grains was the heaviest in several days. Brokers ascribed it in part to forecasts of continued mild weather over much of the Midwest through the weekend.

Reports of additional moisture in parts of the Great Plains contributed to weakness in new crop wheat.

The market closed with wheat ½ cent a bushel higher to ⅝ lower, March $2.20⅜-¾; soybeans ¼-1⅛ lower, March $2.67¼; corn ⅜-1 cent lower, March $1.17⅜-¾; oats ½-1¼ lower, March 66⅛ cents; rye ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, March $1.43.

Bankers Life Reports Largest Asset Increase In Its History

Bankers Life Nebraska had the largest increase of assets in its 77-year history in 1963, policyholders were told at the insurance company's annual meeting Wednesday.

President George B. Cook said figures indicated an increase of $17 million for the year, bringing total assets to more than $182 million. Assets have increased 50% in the last five years.

Insurance in force has reached a new high for the company of $1,126,000,000, reflecting more than a $103-million increase in 1963. The company's investments and commitments in the state total more than $30 million.

Commenting on the 50% increase in premium tax levied on insurance companies by the Legislature in 1963, Cook said:

"Although the life insurance business is the second most important industry in the state, and employs 20,000 Nebraskans, the increased burden of taxation is bound to be detrimental to our industry, and furthermore only increases the cost of insurance to the public.

"Wouldn't it be refreshing if our governmental leadership in Nebraska were to take a positive approach to make our state a more attractive place to do business?

"If Nebraska is going to be the kind of state we want it to be, our Legislature and elected officers must all have the attitude of 'let's make it attractive for businesses to stay and grow in Nebraska and for other businesses to move into the state."

"Bankers Life Nebraska, as a mutual company with no stockholders, does not pay the 50% increase in premium tax. The policy owners pay. Every tax paid by a mutual company increases the cost of insurance to its policyowners."

Five members of the Board of Trustees were re-elected for three-year terms. They are James N. Ackerman, vice president and general counsel, George F. Getz Jr., Wilis A. Strauss, James Stuart, Willard D. Voit.

Other members of the Board of Trustees are George B. Cook, president and chairman; John H. Ames, vice president and actuary; James H. Clark Sr., Roy M. Green, Dr. Clifford M. Hardin, H. D. Kosman, James W. Lantz Jr., W. B. Millard Jr., John P. Morrow, C. Petrus Peterson and H. P. Stebbins.

O'Shea-RogersCo Bids Low On Car, 2 Station Wagons

O'Shea-Rogers Motor Co. was apparent low bidder at $4,641.57 for two compact station wagons and a compact four-door car for the City Water and Light Department, city officials said Wednesday.

Four other comparable bids ranged upward to $5,306, including trade-in allowances.

On a fourth car—a medium-size station wagon — Misle Chevrolet Co. submitted the apparent low bid of $1,863.12. Four other bids ranged upward to $2,019.55.

City Purchasing Agent Wayne Harvey said the bids would be analyzed and a purchase recommendation made later this week.

Administrator's Authority Nipped

Fremont (AP)—The Fremont City Council passed an ordinance to reduce the authority and responsibility of the city administrator's office.

Among the changes are removal of the authority of the administrator to appoint and dismiss civil service employes and the authority to give "any offical direction to municipal officers."

A VALENTINE FOR CAROLINE

In Dallas, first grade pupils at St. Thomas Aquinas School hold the giant Valentine they made for Caroline Kennedy. The four-foot-tall card is too big to go in the mail, so a picture of it plus a letter from each pupil will be mailed to the late President Kennedy's daughter. The teacher, Sister Rosaline, said the children wanted to do something at Christmas time to tell Caroline their feelings. They thought it best, however, to wait awhile. They came up with the idea for the giant greeting.

Iowan Suggests Nebraska Offer To Buy Carter Lake

Des Moines, Iowa (AP) —An Iowa legislator who served on a 1963 legislative subcommittee on the Iowa-Nebraska boundary dispute, has suggested that Nebraska offer to buy Carter Lake from Iowa.

"Why is Nebraska and particularly Omaha, insisting on obtaining Carter Lake in settling the boundary lines," state Rep. Chester O. Hougen, R-Cedar Falls, said in a statement.

"With the development of the (river) channel and barge traffic on the Missouri River, Carter Lake possesses what undoubtedly is the most strategically located property for profitable development and future growth along the entire river.

"If Nebraska wants this valuable Iowa property, why doesn't it make a bona-fide offer to purchase it?"

The governors of Iowa and Nebraska have agreed that in order to settle the boundary dispute, the main channel of the Missouri should be considered as the boundary line. This puts Carter Lake on the Nebraska side.

Trout Sentenced To 5 Years In Station Holdup

Ogallala (AP)— Glen Trout of Windsor, Colo., pleaded guilty in District Court and was sentenced to 5 years in the Nebraska Penal Complex on a charge of robbery. He was charged in a filling station holdup west of Ogallala.

Officials said Trout had made an admission to Nebraska Safety Patrol investigator Merle Divis that he took part in a $1,200 holdup and stole a .22 calibre pistol in Colorado.

He also has been charged by Fort Morgan, Colo., authorities with a $400 robbery in that city.

Held in Keith County jail are Bob Elder, 27; Elizabeth Quick, 29, and Norman Dale, 28, all of Greeley, Colo. They are charged with aiding and abetting Trout in the Nebraska holdup and with armed robbery in connection with the Greeley holdup.

SUPREME COURT

Marcilino Brito, a Texas resident, notified the court he intends to appeal its decision in a support case to the United States Supreme Court. The Nebraska Supreme Court held that the Scotts Bluff County District Court had jurisdiction to require Brito to pay support to his wife for their children under a Texas divorce settlement. Brito's wife moved to Scottsbluff after the divorce. He contends only the Texas courts are empowered to enforce the divorce decree and that the Nebraska ruling violates the due process clause of the 14th amendment to the U.S. constitution.

National Forest Fires Increase

According to the National Forest Service, fires, and acreage burned over, increased during 1963 in national forests in Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota and Kansas. Costs of controlling the fires dipped slightly.

The 712 fires in 1963 destroyed 13,779 acres of timber and grassland, costing $1,027,017 to control. This compares with 5,828 acres burned in 625 fires with a control cost of $1,092,590 in 1962.

Of the states mentioned, only the Nebraska National Forest escaped the season without a man-caused fire. But, the 28 fires in the Nebraska forest burned over 2,367 acres.

AT&T Gift To Shareowners Boosts Mart

New York (AP) —A windfall gift to American Telephone's 2¼ million shareowners accompanied a renewed stock market advance Wednesday. The popular averages made historic highs once again.

The gift to AT&T's stock-owning family—the world's greatest—came in the form of rights to buy one share of AT&T common for each 20 held. The price for the new share is $100. Since "Telephone" common closed Wednesday at 148½, an historic high, the rights were valuable.

By the close of the New York Stock Exchange, the rights were quoted at 2¾ and the trading in them totaled a mighty 3,175,900.

AT&T common was the most-active stock, an unusual distinction for this high-priced issue. It rose 2¾ on turnover of 1,130,200 shares.

Volume rose to 4.68 million shares from Tuesday's 4.05 million.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.29 to its newest peak of 791.82.

Strong groups included airlines, cigar manufacturers, savings and loan holding companies and office equipments.

Big Three motors were ill-basher Rails, with some big gainers, ended mixed. Steels, oils and cigarette stocks were generally later. Drugs advanced.

The Associated Press average also went to another new peak, rising .9 to 294.7 with industrials up .6 to a record high, rails off .1 and utilities up .7.

Of 1,314 issues traded, 562 rose and 455 fell. Highs for the year totaled 46 and lows 6.

Chrysler was up 2¼ to 42 on 100,400 shares.

New York Central made a high for the year and advanced 1 to 32¾. Chicago & North Western was up 1¼.

San Diego Imperial, up ¾ at 11¾, was the most active of the savings and loans. United Financial of California rose 1¾, Financial Federation and Great Western Financial 1¼ each.

Cigarette stocks were soft amid reports of declining tax receipts for cigarettes.

Xerox slipped 1¾ in active dealers. Among other high-priced issues, IBM gained 4, Polaroid 2¾ and Control Data 2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange moved generally higher.

Corporate bonds were irregular. Dealers in U.S. government bonds were closed for Lincoln's Birthday.

Grain Prices Finish Lower

Chicago (AP) —Prices finished lower in the grain futures market Wednesday for the third successive day of moderate liquidation with all oats contracts and September and December rye at season lows.

Losses ranged to a cent or more in corn, oats and soybeans and to major fractions in wheat. March wheat closed with a small advance and rye about steady.

Pressure in the feed grains was the heaviest in several days. Brokers ascribed it in part to forecasts of continued mild weather over much of the Midwest through the weekend.

Reports of additional moisture in parts of the Great Plains contributed to weakness in new crop wheat.

The market closed with wheat 1 cent a bushel higher to ¼ lower, March $2.20¾-¾; soybeans 1¼-1¾ lower, March $2.67¼; corn ¼-1 cent lower, March $1.17¼-¾; oats 1¼-1¾ lower, March 66¼ cents; rye ¼ lower to ¼ higher, March $1.43.

New Twist To School Group's Broadened Tax Base Opposition

Grand Island (AP) — The Nebraska School Improvement Association wound up its annual convention Wednesday after adopting a series of resolutions highlighted by a new expression of opposition to the broadened tax base.

The association is "unalterably opposed to broadening of the tax base for the purpose of increasing state aid to education and its subsequent state control of schools," the resolution said.

Another resolution urged the chairman of the Legislature's Budget Committee "to continue investigation of the State Educational Department budget to assure that no monies be allowed to further undermine the rural schools of Nebraska."

Other resolutions:

—Called for emphasis on patriotism and the teaching of American history in schools.

—Supported the 60-hour teacher certificate for use in elementary schools and recommended that teachers be encouraged to acquire more hours of subject matter rather than what they called unnecessary credit.

— Recommended competency tests of teachers to restore pride and prestige in the teaching profession.

Bob Long of North Platte was elected president succeeding Victor Mares of Schuyler, who became office manager.

Richards Selected

Marvin Richards of Albion was named vice president and S. H. Brauer Jr., Stuart, continues as executive secretary.

Earlier in the convention the group launched a drive to call for a vote on a constitutional amendment making the commissioner of education in Nebraska an elective officer and changing the make-up of the State Board of Education.

The NSIA seeks to abolish the six-member state board of education in favor of an eight-member board, including a member from each of the state's six classes of schools plus a member from the parochial and private schools and a member-at-large.

The convention passed a resolution condemning the series of Governor's Conferences on Education.

The resolution said "we condemn the current conferences on education as being unworthy of the governor of the great state of Nebraska, lacking in value as to the true representation and exchange of ideas and morally irresponsible in the collection of statistics that are misleading and inaccurate."

Brauer had contended earlier that the conferences were "loaded" for broadening the tax base as an additional tax for school purposes.

NSEA To Fight Petition Drive

. . . NSIA PLAN OPPOSED

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska State Education Association served notice Wednesday that it will vigorously oppose a proposed petition campaign aimed at changing the structure of the State Department of Education.

At issue is the petition campaign unveiled Tuesday by the Nebraska School Improvement Association to place on the November ballot a proposed constitutional amendment which would make the state education commissioner's post an elective office, and change the elected state board of education to an appointive body.

The NSIA, which largely represents small rural schools, must obtain approximately 47,000 valid signatures on petitions by July 2 in order to place the issue on the general election ballot.

John Lynch, executive secretary of the NSEA, declared Wednesday that "an elected state commissioner of education and a politically appointed state board of education would actually benefit urban areas more than rural areas.

No 'Merry-Go-Round'

"The present administration of schools by an elected state board of education and an appointed commissioner directly responsible to that board is exactly the same system as is found in every Nebraska school district and is not a 'merry-go-round' as claimed by the NSIA," Lynch continued.

He noted that the NSEA helped develop the present state board of education system adopted by the people in 1952 by a majority of nearly 100,000 votes, and added, "Naturally, the NSEA will oppose any change in the system.

"We feel that the State Board of Education has developed policies and plans for the future development of education in Nebraska and that Commissioner (Floyd) Miller has, in the opinion of the people in the school business, given exceptional leadership in implementing the policies of the board and in moving education forward in Nebraska."

Lynch said the NSIA has tried twice before (in 1958 and 1960) to return to an elected superintendent "and each time they failed badly."

The NSEA officer termed NSIA's current proposal "even worse than the two previous ones" because it would see an elected commissioner and a board politically appointed by the governor "neither of which would be responsible to the other.

"One would think the NSIA, composed mostly of rural people, would be the very first to be opposed to their own proposal," Lynch said, explaining that Nebraska voters are centered in urban areas and that an elected commissioner "would reflect the viewpoint of the towns and cities."

He also stated that the NSIA's proposed eight-member board (one representing each of the state's six classes of school districts, one for private and parochial schools and one at-large) would have a majority from urban areas.

24 Home Ec Seniors Train 'On The Spot'

Twenty-four seniors in home economics education at the University of Nebraska are receiving "on the spot" training in 11 vocational homemaking departments of high schools over the state.

For seven weeks, Feb. 10 to March 27, two girls are living in each of 11 towns and entering into the teacher-life of the community under the supervision of qualified vocational homemaking teachers.

The towns in which the students are teaching, and names of the students, with name of supervising instructor in parenthesis, include:

Allen—Mrs. Betty Anderson of Dakota City and Patsy Siemers of Wisner (Mrs. Faye Mitchell).

Atkinson—Mardelle Duval of Bladen and Roberta Peterson of Neligh (Mrs. Sharen Anderson).

Columbus—Joyce Baumann of Hastings and Julie Smith of Pender (Elvira Benne).

Curtis—Rose Holmberg of Spencer and Anita Mueller of Columbus (Mrs. Virginia Tompkinson).

Pawnee City—Mary Donlin of Bancroft and Nancy Kozak of Beatrice (Mrs. Daisymae Eckman).

Stanton—Evelyn Gillaspie of Allen and Mary Kirkpatrick of Wymore (Mrs. Dorothy Matthies).

Lincoln University High—Mrs. Carol Brown and Mrs. Carrie Meston of Lincoln during first half of the period, and Rosalie Hoffman of Lincoln and Bonnie Wahl of Bradshaw during the second half of the period, under direction of Mrs. Melinda Holcombe.

Utica—Janice Binegar of Sutherland and Carolyn Ksiasek of Belgrade (Mrs. Jo Ann Kottmeyer).

Wilber—Susan Linn of Madison and Charlene Koelling of Grand Island (Mrs. Ivy Stacy).

Waverly—Mrs. Jeniene Peters and Mrs. Janet Wilson of Lincoln (Mrs. Laura Bridgman).

Wisner—Susan Hyland and Senel Tuzun of Lincoln (Mrs. Beverly Soden).

Mrs. S. S. Haight Is Elected President Of Humane Society

Mrs. Stanley S. Haight was elected president of the Humane Society at the annual meeting of the board of directors Wednesday.

Mrs. Haight

Other officers elected are Asa Waters, vice president, Richard L. Spangler Jr., second vice president; Mrs. Carl Dvoracek, secretary, and Mrs. Neil W. Hall, treasurer.

Bernard Patton was renamed superintendent of the Humane Society shelter, and Richard Spangler and Kenneth Mullowney were appointed legal counsel and auditor, respectively.

Board Chairman

Mrs. Theodore Andros was elected chairman of the board of trustees for 1964. New trustees are Dr. Robert W. White and Edward Schwartzkopf.

Trustees re-elected are James Ager, Mrs. F. C. Bookstrom, Mrs. Drew De Vriendt, William O. Dobler, Arnold Folsom, Mrs. Haight, James C. Lewis, Wayne Packard, and George Preece.

Packard was elected an honorary life member.

New directors are Mrs. Jack R. Beard and Harold Evans.

Directors re-elected: Ager, Mrs. Carl Dvoracek, Ray Frohn, Mrs. Haight, Mrs. Neil W. Hall, Lewis, Packard, Spangler, John Van Bloom and Waters.

A total of 9,509 animals were processed through the shelter in 1963 compared to 8,739 in 1962. During 1963, the shelter received 13,390 calls, compared to 11,080 in 1962.

More Complaints

Of the total calls received, 8,058 were complaints, an increase of 1,122 over 1962.

Domestic and wild animals bites reported totaled 802 during 1963, compared with 762 for 1962.

The shelter filed 54 cases with the city attorney, 18 more than in 1962.

Omahan Shot By Prowlers 'Poor'

Omaha (AP)— Francis T. Truman, 19, was reported in poor condition in a hospital Wednesday after being shot by prowlers.

Police speculated a holdup four hours before and Truman's shooting might be related.

Young Truman's father, Alvin E. Truman, told detectives that as he came home from work about 12:50 a.m. his headlights revealed two men near his garage.

Truman said he and his son afterward got in their car and drove around the area, trying to learn what the pair was up to. They stopped when they saw two men lying in the gutter.

As they got out of the car Francis was shot and the two men fled, he recounted.

Two Boys Hurt In 3-Car Crash At 56th And O

A three-car collision at 56th and O late Wednesday afternoon sent two teen-age Lincoln boys to Bryan Memorial Hospital where they were treated for minor injuries and released.

Injured were Leon R. Vermillion, 16, of 1016 K, driver of one of the cars, and a passenger in his car, Lon G. Neiderhouse, 15, of 3930 X. Police said the Vermillion car was northbound on 56th at the time of the accident.

The Vermillion car was in collision with one driven by Ronald B. Roberts, 22, of 215 Witherbee, and then was spun into a car stopped at a stop sign driven by Marguerite Van Horn, 33, of 3268 So. 31st.

Third Scottsbluff Worker Charged In Embezzlement

Scottsbluff (AP) —A third Scottsbluff city employe has been charged with embezzlement of merchandise belonging to the city.

Frances E. Schaffer, 45, was arrested by city police Wednesday and is scheduled to be arraigned in Scotts Bluff County Court in Gering Thursday.

Ruben Bernhardt, 41, street superintendent, and Frank Martischwsky, 50, city electrician, were arraigned on similar charges Monday. They have posted $2,000 bond each pending a District Court trial on embezzlement charges.

Schaffer had been employed by the city as an electrician for about three months.

Dworak Fires His Assistant

Omaha (AP)—Mayor James Dworak fired his administrative assistant. The mayor had a lock placed on the door to Hanson's office to "insure that he does not occupy this room without authorization."

The City Council had cut from the city budget a $10,000 item for Hanson's salary. The cut was effective Jan. 1 and on Feb. 3 Mayor Dworak had said Hanson would resign by Feb. 15. Dworak fired Hanson after Hanson said he would not resign and expected to be kept on the payroll.

Field Mice Hold Up 14 Japanese Trains

Osaka, Japan (AP)—Fourteen passenger trains on Japan's busy Tokaido railroad were delayed from 5 to 40 minutes Wednesday by a malfunction in a railway signal.

Officials found that field mice had gnawed a cable, which got soaked by rain and short-circuited.

Bankers Life Reports Largest Asset Increase In Its History

Bankers Life Nebraska had the largest increase of assets in its 77-year history in 1963, policyholders were told at the insurance company's annual meeting Wednesday.

President George B. Cook said figures indicated an increase of $17 million for the year, bringing total assets to more than $182 million. Assets have increased 50% in the last five years.

Insurance in force has reached a new high for the company of $1,126,000,000, reflecting more than a $103-million increase in 1963. The company's investments and commitments in the state total more than $30 million.

Commenting on the 50% increase in premium tax levied on insurance companies by the Legislature in 1963, Cook said:

"Although the life insurance business is the second most important industry in the state, and employs 20,000 Nebraskans, the increased burden of taxation is bound to be detrimental to our industry, and furthermore only increases the cost of insurance to the public.

"Wouldn't it be refreshing if our governmental leadership in Nebraska were to take a positive approach to make our state a more attractive place to do business?

"If Nebraska is going to be the kind of state we want it to be, our Legislature and elected officers must all have the attitude of 'let's make it attractive for businesses to stay and grow in Nebraska and for other businesses to move into the state."

"Bankers Life Nebraska, as a mutual company with no stockholders, does not pay the 50% increase in premium tax. The policy owners pay. Every tax paid by a mutual company increases the cost of insurance to the public."

O'Shea-RogersCo Bids Low On Car, 2 Station Wagons

O'Shea-Rogers Motor Co. was apparent low bidder at $4,641.57 for two compact station wagons and a compact four-door car for the City Water and Light Department, city officials said Wednesday.

Four other comparable bids ranged upward to $5,306, including trade-in allowances.

On a fourth car—a medium-size station wagon — Misle Chevrolet Co. submitted the apparent low bid of $1,863.12. Four other bids ranged upward to $2,019.55.

City Purchasing Agent Wayne Harvey said the bids would be analyzed and a purchase recommendation made later this week.

Administrator's Authority Nipped

Fremont (AP)—The Fremont City Council passed an ordinance to reduce the authority and responsibility of the city administrator's office.

Among the changes are removal of the authority of the administrator to appoint and dismiss civil service employes and the authority to give "any offical direction to municipal officers."

A VALENTINE FOR CAROLINE

In Dallas, first grade pupils at St. Thomas Aquinas School hold the giant Valentine they made for Caroline Kennedy. The four-foot-tall card is too big to go in the mail, so a picture of it plus a letter from each pupil will be mailed to the late President Kennedy's daughter. The teacher, Sister Rosaline, said the children wanted to do something at Christmas time to tell Caroline their feelings. They thought it best, however, to wait awhile. They came up with the idea for the giant greeting.

10 NU Home Ec Girls Honored As Top Students

Zeta alumnae and active chapters of Omicron Nu, home economics scholastic honor society, honored 10 sophomores at the home of Mrs. W. B. Allington.

These students achieved the highest scholastic averages as freshmen in the School of Home Economics at the University of Nebraska.

Helen A. Snyder, associate dean of student affairs at the University of Nebraska was the guest speaker.

Students honored were: Judy Bucklin, Lincoln; Carolyn Bond, Talmage; Vicki Cline, Gothenburg; Sandra Crispin, Lincoln; Jeanette Coufal, Seward; Myrna Tegtmeier, Burchard; Susan Wiles, Bennet; Janell Quaring, St. Paul; Judy Jacobson, Seward; and Janice Luebbe, Beaver Crossing.

Trout Sentenced To 5 Years In Station Holdup

Ogallala (AP)— Glen Trout of Windsor, Colo., pleaded guilty in District Court and was sentenced to 5 years in the Nebraska Penal Complex on a charge of robbery. He was charged in a filling station holdup west of Ogallala.

Officials said Trout had made an admission to Nebraska Safety Patrol investigator Merle Divis that he took part in a $1,200 holdup and stole a 22 calibre pistol in Colorado.

He also has been charged by Fort Morgan, Colo., authorities with a $400 robbery in that city.

Held in Keith County jail are Bob Elder, 27; Elizabeth Quick, 29, and Norman Dale, 28, all of Greeley, Colo. They are charged with aiding and abetting Trout in the Nebraska holdup and with armed robbery in connection with the Greeley holdup.

SUPREME COURT

Marcilino Brito, a Texas resident, notified the court he intends to appeal its decision in a support case to the United States Supreme Court. The Nebraska Supreme Court held that the Scotts Bluff County District Court had jurisdiction to require Brito to pay support to his wife for their children under a Texas divorce settlement. Brito's wife moved to Scottsbluff after the divorce. He contends only the Texas courts are empowered to enforce the divorce decree and that the Nebraska ruling violates the due process clause of the 14th amendment to the U.S. constitution.

Iowan Suggests Nebraska Offer To Buy Carter Lake

Des Moines, Iowa (AP) —An Iowa legislator who served on a 1963 legislative subcommittee on the Iowa-Nebraska boundary dispute, has suggested that Nebraska offer to buy Carter Lake from Iowa.

"Why is Nebraska and particularly Omaha, insisting on obtaining Carter Lake in settling the boundary lines," state Rep. Chester O. Hougen, R-Cedar Falls, said in a statement.

"With the development of the (river) channel and barge traffic on the Missouri River, Carter Lake possesses what undoubtedly is the most strategically located property for profitable development and future growth along the entire river.

"If Nebraska wants this valuable Iowa property, why doesn't it make a bona-fide offer to purchase it?"

The governors of Iowa and Nebraska have agreed that in order to settle the boundary dispute, the main channel of the Missouri should be considered as the boundary line. This puts Carter Lake on the Nebraska side.

National Forest Fires Increase

According to the National Forest Service, fires, and acreage burned over, increased during 1963 in national forests in Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota and Kansas. Costs of controlling the fires dipped slightly.

The 712 fires in 1963 destroyed 13,779 acres of timber and grassland, costing $1,027,017 to control. This compares with 5,028 acres burned in 625 fires with a control cost of $1,092,590 in 1962.

Of the states mentioned, only the Nebraska National Forest escaped the season without a man-caused fire. But, the 28 fires in the Nebraska forest burned over 2,367 acres.

New Twist To School Group's Broadened Tax Base Opposition

Grand Island (AP) — The Nebraska School Improvement Association wound up its annual convention Wednesday after adopting a series of resolutions highlighted by a new expression of opposition to the broadened tax base.

The association is "unalterably opposed to broadening of the tax base for the purpose of increasing state aid to education and its subsequent state control of schools," the resolution said.

Another resolution urged the chairman of the Legislature's Budget Committee "to continue investigation of the State Educational Department budget to assure that no monies be allowed to further undermine the rural schools of Nebraska."

Other resolutions:

—Called for emphasis on patriotism and the teaching of American history in schools.

—Supported the 60-hour teacher certificate for use in elementary schools and recommended that teachers be encouraged to acquire more hours of subject matter rather than what they called unnecessary credit.

— Recommended competency tests of teachers to restore pride and prestige in the teaching profession.

Bob Long of North Platte was elected president succeeding Victor Mares of Schuyler, who became office manager.

Richards Selected

Marvin Richards of Albion was named vice president and S. H. Brauer Jr., Stuart, continues as executive secretary.

Earlier in the convention the group launched a drive to call for a vote on a constitutional amendment making the commissioner of education in Nebraska an elective officer and changing the make-up of the State Board of Education.

The NSIA seeks to abolish the six-member state board of education in favor of an eight-member board, including a member from each of the state's six classes of schools plus a member from the parochial and private schools and a member-at-large.

The convention passed a resolution condemning the series of Governor's Conferences on Education.

The resolution said "we condemn the current conferences on education as being unworthy of the governor of the great state of Nebraska, lacking in value as to the true representation and exchange of ideas and morally irresponsible in the collection of statistics that are misleading and inaccurate."

Brauer had contended earlier that the conferences were "loaded" for broadening the tax base as an additional tax for school purposes.

NSEA To Fight Petition Drive

. . . NSIA PLAN OPPOSED

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska State Education Association served notice Wednesday that it will vigorously oppose a proposed petition campaign aimed at changing the structure of the State Department of Education.

At issue is the petition campaign unveiled Tuesday by the Nebraska School Improvement Association to place on the November ballot a proposed constitutional amendment which would make the state education commissioner's post an elective office, and change the elected state board of education to an appointive body.

The NSIA, which largely represents small rural schools, must obtain approximately 47,000 valid signatures on petitions by July 2 in order to place the issue on the general election ballot.

John Lynch, executive secretary of the NSEA, declared Wednesday that "an elected state commissioner of education and a politically appointed state board of education would actually benefit urban areas more than rural areas.

No 'Merry-Go-Round'

"The present administration of schools by an elected state board of education and an appointed commissioner directly responsible to that board is exactly the same system as is found in every Nebraska school district and is not a 'merry-go-round' as claimed by the NSIA," Lynch continued.

He noted that the NSEA helped develop the present state board of education system adopted by the people in 1952 by a majority of nearly 100,000 votes, and added, "Naturally, the NSEA will oppose any change in the system.

"We feel that the State Board of Education has developed policies and plans for the future development of education in Nebraska and that Commissioner (Floyd) Miller has, in the opinion of the people in the school business, given exceptional leadership in implementing the policies of the board and in moving education forward in Nebraska."

Lynch said the NSIA has tried twice before (in 1958 and 1960) to return to an elected superintendent "and each time they failed badly."

The NSEA officer termed NSIA's current proposal "even worse than the two previous ones" because it would see an elected commissioner and a board politically appointed by the governor "neither of which would be responsible to the other.

"One would think the NSIA, composed mostly of rural people, would be the very first to be opposed to their own proposal," Lynch said, explaining that Nebraska voters are centered in urban areas and that an elected commissioner "would reflect the viewpoint of the towns and cities."

He also stated that the NSIA's proposed eight-member board (one representing each of the state's six classes of school districts, one for private and parochial schools and one at-large) would have a majority from urban areas.

24 Home Ec Seniors Train 'On The Spot'

Twenty-four seniors in home economics education at the University of Nebraska are receiving "on the spot" training in 11 vocational homemaking departments of high schools over the state.

For seven weeks, Feb. 10 to March 27, two girls are living in each of 11 towns and entering into the teacher-life of the community under the supervision of qualified vocational homemaking teachers.

The towns in which the students are teaching, and names of the students, with name of supervising instructor in parenthesis, include:

Allen—Mrs. Betty Anderson of Dakota City and Patsy Siemers of Wisner (Mrs. Faye Mitchell).

Atkinson—Mardelle Duval of Bladen and Roberta Peterson of Neligh (Mrs. Sharen Anderson).

Columbus—Joyce Baumann of Hastings and Julie Smith of Pender (Elvira Benne).

Curtis—Rose Holmberg of Spencer and Anita Mueller of Columbus (Mrs. Virginia Tompkinson).

Pawnee City—Mary Donlin of Bancroft and Nancy Kozak of Beatrice (Mrs. Daissmae Eckman).

Stanton—Evelyn Gillaspie of Allen and Mary Kirkpatrick of Wymore (Mrs. Dorothy Matthies).

Lincoln University High—Mrs. Carol Brown and Mrs. Carrie Meston of Lincoln during first half of the period, and Rosalie Hoffman of Lincoln and Bonnie Wahl of Bradshaw during the second half of the period, under direction of Mrs. Melinda Holcombe.

Utica—Janice Binegar of Sutherland and Carolyn Kulasek of Belgrade (Mrs. Jo Ann Kottmeyer).

Wilber—Susan Linn of Madison and Charlene Koelling of Grand Island (Mrs. Ivy Stacy).

Waverly—Mrs. Jeniene Peters and Mrs. Janet Wilson of Lincoln (Mrs. Laura Bridgman).

Wisner—Susan Hyland and Senel Tuzun of Lincoln (Mrs. Beverly Soden).

A total of 9,509 animals were processed through the shelter in 1963 compared to 8,739 in 1962. During 1963, the shelter received 13,390 calls, compared to 11,080 in 1962.

More Complaints

Of the total calls received, 8,058 were complaints, an increase of 1,122 over 1962.

Domestic and wild animals bites reported totaled 802 during 1963, compared with 762 for 1962.

The shelter filed 54 cases with the city attorney, 18 more than in 1962.

Omahan Shot By Prowlers 'Poor'

Omaha (AP)— Francis T. Truman, 19, was reported in poor condition in a hospital Wednesday after being shot by prowlers.

Police speculated a holdup four hours before and Truman's shooting might be related.

Young Truman's father, Alvin E. Truman, told detectives that as he came home from work about 12:50 a.m. his headlights revealed two men near his garage.

Truman said he and his son afterward got in their car and drove around the area, trying to learn what the pair was up to. They stopped when they saw two men lying in the gutter.

As they got out of the car Francis was shot and the two men fled, he recounted.

Two Boys Hurt In 3-Car Crash At 56th And O

A three-car collision at 56th and O late Wednesday afternoon sent two teen-age Lincoln boys to Bryan Memorial Hospital where they were treated for minor injuries and released.

Injured were Leon R. Vermillion, 16, of 1016 K, driver of one of the cars, and a passenger in his car, Lon G. Neiderhouse, 15, of 3930 X. Police said the Vermillion car was northbound on 56th at the time of the accident.

The Vermillion car was in collision with one driven by Ronald B. Roberts, 22, of 215 Witherbee, and then was spun into a car stopped at a stop sign driven by Marguerite Van Horn, 33, of 3268 So. 31st.

Third Scottsbluff Worker Charged In Embezzlement

Scottsbluff (AP) —A third Scottsbluff city employe has been charged with embezzlement of merchandise belonging to the city.

Frances E. Schaffer, 45, was arrested by city police Wednesday and is scheduled to be arraigned in Scotts Bluff County Court in Gering Thursday.

Ruben Bernhardt, 41, street superintendent, and Frank Martischwsky, 50, city electrician, were arraigned on similar charges Monday. They have posted $2,000 bond each pending a District Court trial on embezzlement charges.

Schaffer had been employed by the city as an electrician for about three months.

Dworak Fires His Assistant

Omaha (AP)—Mayor James Dworak fired his administrative assistant. The mayor had a lock placed on the door to Hanson's office to "insure that he does not occupy this room without authorization."

The City Council had cut from the city budget a $10,000 item for Hanson's salary. The cut was effective Jan. 1 and on Feb. 3 Mayor Dworak had said Hanson would resign by Feb. 15. Dworak fired Hanson after Hanson said he would not resign and expected to be kept on the payroll.

Field Mice Hold Up 14 Japanese Trains

Osaka, Japan (AP)—Fourteen passenger trains on Japan's busy Tokaido railroad were delayed from 5 to 40 minutes Wednesday by a malfunction in a railway signal.

Officials found that field mice had gnawed a cable, which got soaked by rain and short-circuited.

SHOP FOR THE OTHER HALF OF YOUR HOME!

From the time you buy a home until it's paid for, over half of your cost will be in the mortgage! You don't buy the first house you see... so why buy the first mortgage someone offers? State Federal invites you to compare. We have this area's most complete, most sensible loan plan. Pre-payment privileges, and lower closing costs are just two advantages. You can re-borrow later with no additional recording costs or legal fees. There are no late payment penalties as with many plans. There are no hidden charges at State Federal Savings. The loan you get today will be yours for years to come. So get a loan you can live with . . . at State Federal.

SHOP FOR THE OTHER HALF OF YOUR HOME!

From the time you buy a home until it's paid for, over half of your cost will be in the mortgage! You don't buy the first house you see . . . so why buy the first mortgage someone offers? State Federal invites you to compare. We have this area's most complete, most sensible loan plan. Pre-payment privileges, and lower closing costs are just two advantages. You can re-borrow later with no additional recording costs or legal fees. There are no late payment penalties as with many plans. There are no hidden charges at State Federal Savings. The loan you get today will be yours for years to come. So get a loan you can live with . . . at State Federal.

Unmistakably Continental

. . . and yet, Continental for 1964 incorporates a substantial number of refinements. One example: slide inside and stretch out; you'll find considerably more spaciousness, made possible by an increase in overall length. The trim, tailored look, however, remains the same. We'll be more than pleased to point out still other changes that have been made for your comfort and satisfaction. NEVER BEFORE have we been able to offer such a fine selection of '60 thru '63 Continentals which are new Continental trade-ins. See these today, they can be purchased at tremendous savings.
